I. SUMMARY

The information set out below is a summary only and should be read in conjunction with the rest of this document. This summary is intended to convey the essential characteristics and risks associated with the Issuer, and in relation to the Securities and does not purport to be complete. It is taken from, and is qualified in its entirety by, the remainder of this document, including the Conditions, which constitute the legally binding conditions of the Securities as attached to the global security¹. Accordingly, this summary should be read as an introduction to the document, and any decision to invest in the Securities should be based on consideration of the document as a whole by the investor.

Prospective investors should be aware that where a claim relating to the information contained in this document is brought before a court, the investor making the claim might, under the national legislation of the respective EU member state, have to bear the costs of translating the prospectus before the legal proceedings are initiated.

Civil liability attaches to the Issuer who has tabled the summary including the translation thereof and applied for its notification, but only if the summary is misleading, inaccurate or inconsistent when read together with the other parts of the document.

A. SUMMARY OF RISK FACTORS

1. Risks relating to the Securities

An investment in the Securities involves risks. These risks may include, among others, equity market, bond market, foreign exchange, interest rate, market volatility and economic, political and regulatory risks and any combination of these and other risks. Prospective purchasers should be experienced with respect to transactions in instruments such as the Securities and in the underlying asset or other basis of reference for the Securities (the “Underlying”). Prospective purchasers should understand the risks associated with an investment in the Securities and should only reach an investment decision after careful consideration, with their legal, tax, accounting and other advisers, of (a) the suitability of an investment in the Securities in the light of their own particular financial, tax and other circumstances, (b) the information set out in this document and (c) the Underlying.

[The Securities may decline in value and investors should be prepared to sustain a loss of their investment in the Securities.]

An investment in the Securities should only be made after assessing the direction, timing and magnitude of potential future changes in the value of the Underlying, and/or in the composition or method of calculation of the Underlying, as the return of any such investment will be dependent, inter alia, upon such changes. More than one risk factor may have simultaneous effect with regard to the Securities such that the effect of a particular risk factor may not be predictable. In addition, more than one risk factor may have a compounding effect which may not be predictable. No assurance can be given as to the effect that any combination of risk factors may have on the value of the Securities.

[Add additional product specific risk factors, if necessary: [●]]

2. Issuer Risk Factors

Prospective investors should consider all information provided in the Registration Document and consult with their own professional advisers if they consider it necessary. The following describes risk factors relating to the issuer’s ability to meet its obligations under the securities.

¹ In case of admission of the Securities to the SeDex market of the Italian Stock Exchange, Securities will be dematerialised and centralised with Monte Titoli S.p.A., pursuant to legislative decree no. 213/1998 as subsequently amended.

3. Ratings

Ratings assigned to the Issuer by certain independent rating agencies are an indicator of the Issuer's ability to meet its obligations in a timely manner². The lower the assigned rating is on the respective scale the higher the respective rating agency assesses the risk that obligations will not be met at all or not be met in a timely manner. As of the publication date of this summary, the following ratings were assigned to Deutsche Bank:

Rating Agency	Long-term	Short-term
Standard & Poor's (S&P)	A+	A-1
Fitch	AA-	F1+

Rating agencies may change their ratings at short notice. A rating's change may affect the price of securities outstanding.

² A rating is not a recommendation to buy, sell, or hold certificates, and may be subject to suspension, downgrading, or withdrawal by the rating agency. Any such suspension, downgrading, or withdrawal may have a negative effect on the market price of the certificates.

[Residual Cash Amount:] Means an amount in the Settlement Currency equal to the Cash Portfolio on the Termination Date, as determined by the Calculation Agent

Where:

$D_{i,t}$ is the Net Cash Dividend received on day “t” for Underlying_i; n is the number of days from, and including, the immediately preceding Dividend Reinvestment Date (or if there is no preceding Dividend Reinvestment Date, the final Initial Valuation Date) to, but excluding, such Business Day;

n_i is the number of days from, and including, the day of actual receipt of $D_{i,t}$ to, but excluding, such Business Day; and

$$\sum_{i=1}^{[n]} (\text{FRL}_i \times \text{abs}(\text{Ratio}_i) \times \text{Transfer Duty Out}_i)$$

Where:

FRL_i means Final Reference Level for Underlying_i; and abs(Ratio_i) means the absolute value of Ratio_i

[Stub Differential Factor:] In respect of each Valid Date, the percentage price difference between the Reference Level of the Holding Company on such day and the sum of the Reference Levels of the Holdings, expressed as a formula:

[Insert relevant section, based on type of Certificates]

a) The Securities represent an investment similar to a direct investment in the Underlying, in that they reflect the performance of the Underlying between the Initial Reference Valuation Date and one or more Valuation Date(s).

[If capable of Cash Settlement and a Maximum Amount or a Minimum Amount is specified, insert: However, in contrast to a direct investment,] [If a Maximum Amount is specified, insert: the Cash Settlement Amount payable at settlement will be capped at the Maximum Amount] [If both a Minimum Amount and a Maximum Amount are specified, insert: , and it] [If only a Minimum Amount is specified, insert: the Cash Settlement Amount payable at settlement] will not be less than the Minimum Amount.]

5 The Issuer pays placement and trailer fees as sales-related commissions to the relevant distributor. The distributors act independently and not as agent for the Issuer. Placement fees are one-off payments from the proceeds of the issue; alternatively, the Issuer can grant the relevant distributor an appropriate discount on the issue price (without subscription surcharge). Payment of trailer fees are recurring and conditional upon the volume of securities issued. If Deutsche Bank AG is both the issuer and the distributor with respect to the sale of the Securities, Deutsche Bank's distributing division will be credited with the relevant amounts internally. – Further information on prices and price components are included in the section "Conflicts of interest" under nos. 5 and 6.

7 The amounts mentioned above are as of the date of the preparation of this document and subject to potential changes during the offering period and/or the term of the Securities; further information may be obtained from the distributor.

[If a Maximum Amount is specified, insert: Therefore, investors will forego the opportunity to participate in increases in the value or average value of the Underlying to the extent such increases would result in a Cash Settlement Amount which is above the Maximum Amount.

A difference to a direct investment in the Underlying is that investors will forego the right to receive any dividends, interest or similar amounts paid in respect of the Underlying.

[If the Securities are perpetual, insert: The Securities do not provide for a predetermined maturity date. Accordingly, investors will only have the rights set out above, and further described in paragraph [b] below, following exercise of the Securities, which is only possible at one of the specified Exercise Dates.

[If the Securities provide for a redemption right of the Issuer, insert: The Issuer has the right to redeem the Securities during the Redemption Period in which case, in the case of cash settlement, the Cash Settlement Amount will be determined, as set out in paragraph [b] below, on the basis of the value of the Underlying on the relevant redemption date. Accordingly, investors should not rely on a certain Valuation Date or Dates relating to an exercise of the Securities as the basis for the calculation of their return under the Securities.

b) [If Cash Settlement only insert:

The Securities represent the right to receive payment of the Cash Settlement Amount at settlement, which will reflect the product of (i) the Final Reference Level, which is the value or average value of the Underlying on one or more Valuation Date(s), and (ii) the Multiplier [Delete as appropriate: [, subject to the Maximum Amount][, subject to the Minimum Amount][, subject to the Maximum Amount and the Minimum Amount]].

[If Physical Settlement only insert:

The Securities represent the right to receive delivery of the Physical Settlement Amount, being a number of specified assets, at settlement. The number of specified assets comprising the Physical Settlement Amount will reflect the product of (i) a specified number of units of the Underlying and (ii) the Multiplier.

[If the Multiplier is determined by reference to the Initial Reference Level of the Underlying and/or if the Securities include an Annual Fee or Management Fee, insert: The Multiplier will reflect [If the Multiplier is determined by reference to the Initial Reference Level of the Underlying, insert: the Initial Reference Level, which is the value or average value of the Underlying on the Initial Valuation Date(s) [If the Securities include an Annual Fee or Management Fee, insert: [, as well as] the

The delivery of the Physical Settlement Amount is subject to the payment of certain taxes, duties and/or expenses.]

[If Cash Settlement or Physical Settlement may apply at the election of the Issuer or the Securityholder, insert:

The Securities represent the right to receive either payment of the Cash Settlement Amount or delivery of the Physical Settlement Amount, being a number of specified assets, at settlement. If the [Delete as appropriate: [Issuer][Securityholder]] elects for physical settlement, the Physical Settlement Amount will reflect the product of (i) a specified number of units of the Underlying and (ii) the Multiplier.

[If the Settlement Currency is not the same as the Reference Currency insert: The Cash Settlement Amount will be converted into the Settlement Currency at the prevailing exchange rate.]

The payment of the Cash Settlement Amount and the delivery of Physical Settlement Amount is subject to deduction or payment (as the case may be) of certain taxes, duties and/or expenses.]

[If Physical Settlement may apply and if the Underlying is an index or commodity insert: Where the Securities are to be settled by delivery of the Physical Settlement Amount, the specified asset(s) will be [the Underlying] [certificates relating to the underlying index] [●].]

Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment in the Securities will depend upon the performance of the Underlying. Investors that buy the Securities at the Issue Date and hold the Securities for the entire term achieve a positive return on their initial investment when [Insert if Cash Settlement applies: the Final Reference Level exceeds the value of the Underlying at or around issuance of the Securities] [Insert if the Securities provide for a Maximum Amount: subject to the Maximum Amount]. [Insert if Physical Settlement applies: the value which the investor is able to realise in relation to the Physical Settlement Amount delivered at settlement is greater than the value of the Underlying at or around issuance of the Securities] [Insert if Cash Settlement applies: If the Final Reference Level is less than the value of the Underlying at or around issuance of the Securities] [Insert if the Securities provide for a Minimum Amount: and the Minimum Amount is less than the amount of the investor's initial investment] [Insert if Physical Settlement applies: If the value which the investor is able to realise in relation to the Physical Settlement Amount delivered at settlement is less than the amount of the investor's initial investment], investors that buy the Securities at the Issue Date and hold them for their entire term will suffer a loss [Insert if no Minimum Amount applies: and such loss can extend to their whole initial investment where [Insert if Cash Settlement applies: the value or average value of the Underlying on the Valuation Date(s)] [Insert if Physical Settlement applies: the value of the specified assets which comprise the Physical Settlement Amount] is zero. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

c) The Securities do not provide a guarantee of the right to receive [Delete as appropriate: [payment of a set amount][or][delivery of a set number of specified asset(s)] or for the right to receive repayment of the Issue Price. There is no return on the Securities other than [Delete as appropriate: [the potential payment of the Cash Settlement Amount][or][the delivery of the Physical Settlement Amount] at settlement. Accordingly, investors may only receive a positive return on their initial investment if the [Delete as appropriate: [Cash Settlement Amount][or][the value of the Physical Settlement Amount]] received at settlement or the amount received after a sale of the Securities in the secondary market during their term exceeds the price originally paid for the Securities. Investors will not receive any periodic payments in respect of the Securities and will not receive any amounts paid from time to time by way of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends) by or in respect of the Underlying and will not have any rights against the issuer of the Underlying, any constituents of the Underlying or the issuer of any such constituents.

[If Physical Settlement may apply insert: If the Securities are settled by physical settlement and the [Underlying] [If the Underlying is an index or commodity insert: certificate relating to the underlying asset] [●] is delivered upon settlement of the Securities, investors will be exposed to the benefits and risks associated with the holding of that asset, and benefit from increases, or suffer losses from decreases, in the value of such asset.]

d) The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value and volatility of the Underlying during the life of the Securities. In general, if the value of the Underlying falls and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to fall during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will be expected to fall. On the same basis, if the value of the Underlying rises and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to rise during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will be expected to rise [Delete as appropriate:, subject to the Maximum Amount].

Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments in respect of the Underlying, changes in the method of calculating the value of the Underlying from time to time and market expectations regarding the future performance of the Underlying, its composition and the Securities.

[If the Underlying is an index or otherwise calculated by reference to constituents, insert:

The value of the Underlying on any day will reflect the value of its constituents on such day. Changes in the composition of the Underlying and factors (including those described above) which either affect or may affect the value of the constituents, will affect the value of the Underlying and therefore may affect the return on an investment in the Securities.]

[If the Settlement Currency is not the same as the Reference Currency and the Securities are capable of Cash Settlement and are quanto securities, insert:

In addition, each value of the Underlying relevant for the determination of the Cash Settlement Amount is deemed to be in the Settlement Currency, without reference to any exchange rate between the Reference Currency and the Settlement Currency (so-called "quanto securities"). As a result, an investment in the Securities will not involve exchange rate risks. However, the relative interest rate difference between the current interest rate relating to the Reference Currency and the current interest rate relating to the Settlement Currency may influence the price of the Securities.]

[If the Settlement Currency is not the same as the Reference Currency and the Securities are capable of Cash Settlement and are NOT quanto securities, insert:

The Reference Currency for the determination of the Cash Settlement Amount is not the same as the Settlement Currency. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities will involve exchange rate risks.]

In addition, investors will be exposed to exchange rate risk where the Settlement Currency is different from the currency of the investor's home jurisdiction or the currency in which an investor wishes to receive funds.

Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment in the Securities will depend upon the Final Reference Level. Investors that buy the Securities at the Issue Date and hold the Securities for the entire term therefore achieve the maximum return on their investment in the Securities when the Final Reference level is equal to or greater than the Maximum Amount. In this case, investors will receive payment of the Cash Settlement Amount reflecting the sum of the Maximum Amount and the Differential Amount. Investors will not benefit from any increase in the Final Reference Level above the Maximum Amount. If the Final Reference Level is less than the Maximum Amount but above the Determination Level, then the Cash Settlement Amount will reflect the sum of the Final Reference Level and the Differential Amount.

If the Final Reference Level is less than the value of the Underlying at or about the time of issuance of the Securities, investors that have bought the Securities at the Issue Date and hold the Securities for the entire term will receive a limited return or no return on their investment. Investors will lose their investment altogether if the Final Reference Level is zero. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

One element will be equal to the Final Reference Level or, if lower, the Maximum Amount. The other element will be equal to the Differential Amount which is a multiple of the extent (if any) that the Final Reference Level exceeds the Determination Level subject to a maximum of [the difference] [\bullet] times the difference] between the Maximum Amount and the Determination Level.

[If the Settlement Currency is not the same as the Reference Currency, insert. The Cash Settlement Amount will be converted into the Settlement Currency at the prevailing exchange rate.]

[If Cash Settlement only, insert:

Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment in the Securities will depend upon the Final Reference Level. Investors that buy the Securities at the Issue Date and hold the Securities for the entire term therefore achieve the maximum return on their investment in the Securities when the Final Reference level is equal to or greater than the Maximum Amount. In this case, investors will receive payment of the Cash Settlement Amount reflecting the sum of the Maximum Amount and the Differential Amount. Investors will not benefit from any increase in the Final Reference Level above the Maximum Amount. If the Final Reference Level is less than the Maximum Amount but above the Determination Level, then the Cash Settlement Amount will reflect the sum of the Final Reference Level and the Differential Amount.

If the Final Reference Level is less than the value of the Underlying at or about the time of issuance of the Securities, investors that have bought the Securities at the Issue Date and hold the Securities for the entire term will receive a limited return or no return on their investment. Investors will lose their investment altogether if the Final Reference Level is zero. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment in the Securities will depend upon the Final Reference Level. Investors that buy the Securities at the Issue Date and hold the Securities for the entire term therefore achieve the maximum return on their initial investment when the Final Reference Level is equal to or greater than the Maximum Amount. In this case, investors will receive payment of the Cash Settlement Amount reflecting the sum of the Maximum Amount and the Differential Amount. Investors will not benefit from any increase in the Final Reference Level above the Maximum Amount. If the Final Reference Level is less than the Maximum Amount but above the Determination Level, then the Cash Settlement Amount will be payable and reflect the sum of the Final Reference Level and the Differential Amount.

If the Final Reference Level is equal to or less than the Determination Level at settlement a holder of a Security will, subject as provided below, receive delivery of the Physical Settlement Amount and from such time the holder will be exposed to the risk of losses associated with holding the Physical Settlement Amount. In such case, if the Final Reference Level is below the value of the Underlying at or about the time of issuance of the Securities, investors that have bought the Securities at the Issue Date and hold them for the entire term will receive a limited return or no return on their investment. Investors will lose their investment altogether if the Final Reference Level is zero. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

c) The Securities do not provide a guarantee of payment of a set amount [If Physical Settlement may apply, insert: or delivery of a set number of specified asset(s)] or for the right to receive repayment of the Issue Price. There is no return on the Securities other than the potential payment of the Cash Settlement Amount [If Physical Settlement may apply, insert: or delivery of the Physical Settlement Amount] at settlement. Accordingly, investors may only receive a positive return on their initial investment if the Cash Settlement Amount [If Physical Settlement may apply, insert: or the value of the Physical Settlement Amount] received on settlement or the amount received after a sale of the Securities in the secondary market during their term exceeds the price originally paid for the Securities. Investors will not receive any periodic payments in respect of the Securities and will not receive any amounts paid from time to time by way of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends) by or in respect of the Underlying and will not have any rights against the issuer of the Underlying, any constituents of the Underlying or the issuer of such constituents.

d) The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value and volatility of the Underlying during the life of the Securities. In general, if the value of the Underlying falls and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to fall during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will be expected to fall. On the same basis, if the value of the Underlying rises and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to rise during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will be expected to rise.

Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments, as applicable, in respect of the Underlying, changes in the method of calculating the value of the Underlying from time to time and market expectations regarding the future performance of the Underlying, its composition and the Securities.

In contrast to such a direct investment, however, the Securities enable investors to participate in any appreciation in the value or average value of the Underlying on one or more valuation date(s) (the Final Reference Level) above the [lower/lowest] of several values of the Underlying as determined at certain times [during a specified period/on specified days] (the Best Chance Reference Level). A [further] difference from a direct investment in the Underlying is that investors will forego the right to receive any dividends, interest or similar amounts paid in respect of the Underlying.

b) The Securities represent the right to receive payment of the Cash Settlement Amount at settlement. The Cash Settlement Amount depends upon the performance of the Underlying and is an amount equal to the product of (i) the Final Reference Level divided by the Best Chance Reference Level and (ii) the Initial Amount.

In these circumstances investors will not benefit from any increase in the Final Reference Level to the extent that this would result in the Cash Settlement Amount exceeding the Maximum Amount.] If the ratio in paragraph (b) above is higher than that in paragraph (a) above, investors will suffer a loss. Such loss will be greater if the Final Reference Level is less than the Best Chance Reference Level and can extend to the whole of their initial investment where the Final Reference Level is zero. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

[If the Initial Amount is less than the Issue Price of the Securities and, if the difference between the Best Chance Reference Level and the Initial Amount is relatively small, investors may not fully participate in rises in the value or average value of the Underlying, and may suffer a loss even if the value or average value of the Underlying rises.

In case of admission of the Securities to the SeDex market of the Italian Stock Exchange, not applicable.

The payment of the Cash Settlement Amount and any Early Cash Settlement Amount is subject to deduction of certain taxes, duties and/or expenses.

Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment in the Securities will depend upon the performance of the Underlying. Investors that buy the Securities at the Issue Date and hold the Securities for the entire term achieve a positive return on their initial investment when the Final Reference Level exceeds the Initial Reference Level. [Insert if the Cash Settlement Amount is subject to the Maximum Amount] Investors will receive the greatest return when the Final Reference Level exceeds the Initial Reference Level to an extent which gives rise to a Cash Settlement Amount which is equal to the Maximum Amount. In these circumstances investors will not benefit from any increase in the Final Reference Level to the extent that this would result in the Cash Settlement Amount exceeding the Maximum Amount.] They will receive no positive return, but will receive their invested capital (less any subscription fees) back, where the Final Reference Level is less than the Initial Reference Level, but equal to or greater than the Parachute Threshold. Investors that buy the Securities at the Issue Date and hold the Securities for the entire term will suffer a loss where the Final Reference Level is less than the Parachute Threshold. If the Final Reference Level is zero, the Cash Settlement Amount would be zero and an investor would lose all of his investment in the Securities. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

c) The Securities do not provide a guarantee of payment of a set amount or for the right to receive repayment of the Issue Price. There is no return on the Securities other than the potential Cash Settlement Amount payable at settlement [If the Issuer has the right to redeem the Securities early, insert] or the relevant Early Cash Settlement Amount payable on any early redemption if the Issuer elects to redeem the Securities early]. Accordingly, investors may only receive a positive return on their initial investment if the Cash Settlement Amount received at settlement [If the Issuer has the right to redeem the Securities early, insert] or the relevant Early Cash Settlement Amount paid on any early redemption if the Issuer elects to redeem the Securities early] or the amount received after a sale of the Securities in the secondary market during their term exceeds the price originally paid for the Securities. Investors will not receive any periodic payments in respect of the Securities and will not receive any amounts paid from time to time by way of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends) by or in respect of the Underlying and will not have any rights against the issuer of the Underlying, any constituents of the Underlying or the issuer of any such constituents.

d) The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value and the volatility of the Underlying during the life of the Securities. If the value of the Underlying falls and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to fall during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will be expected to fall. If the value of the Underlying rises and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to rise during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will be expected to rise [If the Cash Settlement Amount is subject to the Maximum Amount insert: subject to [If the Cash Settlement Amount is subject to the Maximum Amount insert: the Maximum Amount]. [If the Issuer has the right to redeem the Securities early, insert] [or] the relevant Early Cash Settlement Amount, if the Issuer elects to redeem the Securities early].]

Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments (as applicable) in respect of the Underlying, changes in the method of calculating the value of the Underlying from time to time and market expectations regarding the future performance of the Underlying, its composition and the Securities.

2.11 Single Underlying Linked Renewable Opportunity/Express Certificates

a) The Securities represent an investment similar to a direct investment in the Underlying. In contrast to a direct investment, the Securities offer investors a chance to receive, following certain predefined Dates (the Barrier Determination Dates) prior to maturity of the Securities, a cash amount fixed for each such date, if the value of the Underlying on a Barrier Determination Date is [equal to or] greater than the defined Barrier Level [If Barrier Level is not fixed, insert: in respect of such day]. In such case, the Cash Settlement Amount will reflect the value of the Underlying at or around issuance of the Securities plus a certain premium, which will be the higher the later such early redemption occurs. As the Securities will be sold at an issue price reflecting the level of the Underlying at or around issuance, this will allow investors to receive a return for their investment reflecting such premium. For that option, investors forego the opportunity to participate in any further growth in the value of the Underlying beyond the Barrier Level after an early redemption of the Securities as described above has occurred.

Otherwise, investors in the Securities will receive [If Coupon Amount may apply, insert: periodic fixed cash amounts (the Coupon Amount) [- if the Underlying on specific dates has been [equal to or] higher than a specified level -] and] a cash amount at maturity of the Securities, which will correspond to what they would receive if they would, at the same time, liquidate a direct investment in the Underlying entered into at the time of issuance of the Securities [Insert if the Securities provide for full or partial capital protection: , subject to the minimum amount] [If Cash Settlement only, insert: , unless the value of the Underlying has not [at any time] [on the Valuation Date] [during the defined Barrier Determination Period] been lower than the defined Determination Level, in which case the Cash Settlement Amount will be equal to the value of the Underlying at or around issuance of the Securities; accordingly, the Securities provide a degree of protection against a decrease in the value of the Underlying.] [Insert if the Securities provide for full or partial capital protection: , protection which will be, in any case, equal to the minimum amount.]

A further difference from a direct investment in the Underlying is that investors will forego the right to receive any dividends, interest or similar amounts paid in respect of the Underlying.

b) [If Cash Settlement only, insert:

The Securities represent the right to receive payment of the Cash Settlement Amount at settlement [If Coupon Amount may apply, insert: and the Coupon Amount[, if any,] on the relevant Coupon Payment Dates. If a Knock-Out Event occurs, the Cash Settlement Amount will be the amount specified in relation to such Barrier Determination Date and the Securities will be redeemed early on the relevant Settlement Date. If a Knock-Out Event does not occur, and if [at any time] [on the Valuation Date] [during the Barrier Determination Period], the Barrier Determination Amount, as the value of the Underlying at the relevant time, has not been lower than the Determination Level, then the Cash Settlement Amount will reflect the value of the Underlying at or about the date of issuance of the Securities [If a Multiplier is used, insert: subject to the Multiplier], otherwise the Cash Settlement Amount will reflect the value of the Underlying on the Valuation Date [If a Multiplier is used, insert: subject to the Multiplier] divided by the [Delete as applicable: Determination Level/the value of the Underlying at or about the date of issuance of the Securities] [Insert if

If on a Barrier Determination Date, the Barrier Determination Amount, as the value of the Underlying at the relevant time, has been [equal to or] above the Barrier Level [If Barrier Level is not fixed, insert: in respect of such day] (such event a "Knock-Out Event"), the Securities will be redeemed early on the relevant Settlement Date at the Cash Settlement Amount specified above in relation to such Barrier Determination Date.

Investors should also note that [If Coupon Amount may apply, insert: , aside from payment of the Coupon Amount[, if any,]] they will not receive any periodic payments in respect of the Securities and will not receive any amounts paid from time to time by way of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends) by or in respect of the Underlying and will not have any rights against the issuer of the Underlying, any constituents of the Underlying or the issuer of any such constituents.

If the value of the Underlying on a Barrier Determination Date is [equal to or] greater than the Barrier Level [If Barrier Level is not fixed, insert: in respect of such day], the Securities will be redeemed by payment of the Cash Settlement Amount which will be the amount specified for the occurrence of such case at the respective time; in this case, investors that buy the Securities at the Issue Date and hold the Securities up to when the early redemption occurs will receive a positive return on the initial investment, which will be the higher the later such early redemption occurs. Accordingly, investors will profit the more from an investment in the Securities, the later during the term of the Securities the value of the Underlying rises compared to its value at or around issuance of the Securities.

In the absence of a Knock-Out Event, investors that buy the Securities at the Issue Date and hold the Securities for the entire term will receive [If Coupon Amount may apply, insert: , the Coupon Amount[, if any,] and] the Cash Settlement Amount which will reflect the value of the Underlying at or around settlement, and [If Coupon Amount may apply, insert: apart from what received as Coupon Amount[, if any,]] will thus not achieve a positive return on the initial investment, but will avoid a loss, unless the value of the Underlying [at any time] [on the Valuation Date] [during the Barrier Determination Period] has been lower than the Determination Level. Accordingly, investors may only receive a positive return on their initial investment if the Cash Settlement Amount [If Physical Settlement may apply, insert: or the value of the Physical Settlement Amount] received on settlement or the amount received after a sale of the Securities in the secondary market during their term exceeds the price originally paid for the Securities.

d) The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value and volatility of the Underlying during the life of the Securities. In general, if the value of the Underlying falls and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to fall during the remaining life of the Securities or that the value of the Underlying on a Barrier Determination Date is [equal to or] greater than the Barrier Level [If Barrier Level is not fixed, insert: in respect of such day] is not likely to occur, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will be expected to fall. 2.13 Single Underlying Linked Discount Certificates

a) The Securities represent an investment [/similar to a direct investment in the Underlying. In contrast to a direct investment, the Securities are sold at an issue price which reflects a discount to the value of the Underlying at or around their issuance, which enables investors to participate in rises in the value or average value of the Underlying up to the Maximum Amount, and to receive a return on their initial investment even if the value or average value of the Underlying falls a certain extent from the initial value of the Underlying (depending on the amount of the discount). For this discount, however, investors forgo the opportunity to participate in increases in the value or average value of the Underlying above the Maximum Amount. A further difference from a direct investment in the Underlying is that investors will forego the right to receive any dividends, interest or similar amounts paid in respect of the Underlying.

b) [If Cash Settlement only, insert:

The Securities represent the right to receive payment of the Cash Settlement Amount at settlement. The Cash Settlement Amount will reflect the Final Reference Level which is the value or average value of the Underlying on one or more specified days [If a Multiplier is used, insert: subject to the Multiplier]. If the value or average value of the Underlying on the specified day(s) is equal to or exceeds the Maximum Amount, an amount which reflects the Maximum Amount will be payable; if it is less than the Maximum Amount, the Cash Settlement Amount will reflect the Final Reference Level.

[If the Settlement Currency is not the same as the Reference Currency, insert: The Cash Settlement Amount will be converted into the Settlement Currency at the prevailing exchange rate.]

The payment of the Cash Settlement Amount is subject to deduction of certain taxes, duties and/or expenses.]

[If Physical Settlement may apply and the Securities do NOT include a knock-in feature, insert:

The Securities represent the right to receive either delivery of the Physical Settlement Amount, being a number of specified assets, or payment of the Cash Settlement Amount at settlement. If the Final Reference Level which is the value or average value of the Underlying on one or more specified day(s) is less than the defined Determination Level, the Physical Settlement Amount will be deliverable; if it is greater than or equal to the Determination Level, the Cash Settlement Amount will be payable, which will reflect the Maximum Amount.

[If the Settlement Currency is not the same as the Reference Currency, insert: The Cash Settlement Amount will be converted into the Settlement Currency at the prevailing exchange rate.]

The payment of the Cash Settlement Amount and the delivery of the Physical Settlement Amount are subject to the deduction or payment (as the case may be) of certain taxes, duties and/or expenses.]

[If Physical Settlement may apply to the Securities and the Securities include a knock-in feature, insert:

The Securities represent the right to receive either delivery of the Physical Settlement Amount, being a number of specified assets, or payment of the Cash Settlement Amount at settlement. The Physical Settlement will be deliverable if the Final Reference Level, which is the value or average value of the Underlying on one or more specified day(s) is less than the defined Determination Level, and, in addition, the Barrier Determination Amount, which is the value of the Underlying at the relevant time, has been equal to or less than the Barrier Level either at any time or, if specified above, at any time during the defined Barrier Determination Period. Otherwise, the Cash Settlement Amount will be payable, which will reflect the value or average value of the Underlying on the specified day(s), subject to the Maximum Amount.

[If the Settlement Currency is not the same as the Reference Currency, insert: The Cash Settlement Amount will be converted into the Settlement Currency at the prevailing exchange rate.]

The payment of the Cash Settlement Amount and delivery of the Physical Settlement Amount is subject to the payment or deduction of certain taxes, duties and/or expenses.]

[If Physical Settlement may apply, insert: Where the Securities are to be settled by delivery of the Physical Settlement Amount, the specified asset(s) will be [the Underlying] [certificates relating to the underlying asset] [●].

Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment in the Securities will depend on the performance of the Underlying. Investors that buy the Securities at the Issue Date and hold the Securities for the entire term therefore achieve the maximum return on their initial investment when the value or average value of the Underlying on one or more specified days is equal to or greater than the Maximum Amount. If the value or average value of the Underlying on such day(s) is less than the Maximum Amount but above the discounted value of the Underlying at or about the time of issuance of the Securities, investors will receive a positive return on their initial investment. However, if the value or average value of the Underlying on the specified day(s) is equal to or below the discounted value of the Underlying at or about the time of issuance of the Securities, investors will receive no positive return or will make a loss. Such loss can extend to their whole initial investment where the value or average value of the Underlying is zero at this time. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

c) The Securities do not provide a guarantee of payment of a set amount [If Physical Settlement may apply, insert: or delivery of a set number of specified asset(s)] or for the right to receive repayment of the Issue Price. There is no return on the Securities other than the potential payment of the Cash Settlement Amount [If

Physical Settlement may apply, insert: or delivery of the Physical Settlement Amount] at settlement. Accordingly, investors may only receive a positive return on their initial investment if the Cash Settlement Amount [If Physical Settlement may apply, insert: or the value of the Physical Settlement Amount] received on settlement or the amount received after a sale of the Securities in the secondary market during their term exceeds the price originally paid for the Securities. Investors will not receive any periodic payments in respect of the Securities and will not receive any amounts paid from time to time by way of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends) by or in respect of the Underlying and will not have any rights against the issuer of the Underlying, any constituents of the Underlying or the issuer of such constituents.

[If Physical Settlement may apply, insert: If the Securities are settled by physical settlement and the [Underlying] [If the Underlying is an index or commodity insert: certificate relating to the underlying asset] [●] is delivered upon settlement of the Securities, investors will be exposed to the benefits and risks associated with the holding of that asset, and benefit from increases, or suffer losses from decreases, in the value of such asset.]

d) The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value and volatility of the Underlying during the life of the Securities. In general, if the value of the Underlying falls and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to fall during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will be expected to fall. On the same basis, if the value of the Underlying rises and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to rise during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will be expected to rise, subject to the specified Maximum Amount.

Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments in respect of the Underlying, changes in the method of calculating the value of the Underlying from time to time and market expectations regarding the future performance of the Underlying, its composition and the Securities.

Due to the product structure, the Securities are usually traded at an amount representing a discount to the current value of the Underlying. The discount can vary over the course of time and moves in the direction of zero towards the end of the term of the Securities. If, following the purchase of any Securities, the market value of the Securities falls below the purchase price paid for such Securities, investors should not expect the market value of the Securities to increase to or above the purchase price paid by the investor during the remainder of the term of the Securities.

[If the Underlying is an index or otherwise calculated by reference to constituents, insert:

The value of the Underlying on any day will reflect the value of its constituents on such day. Changes in the composition of the Underlying and factors (including those described above) which either affect or may affect the value of the constituents, will affect the value of the Underlying and therefore may affect the return on an investment in the Securities.]

[If the Settlement Currency is not the same as the Reference Currency and the Securities are quanto securities, insert:

In addition, each value of the Underlying relevant for the determination of the Cash Settlement Amount is deemed to be in the Settlement Currency, without reference to any exchange rate between the Reference Currency and the Settlement Currency (so-called "quanto securities"). As a result, an investment in the Securities will not involve exchange rate risks. However, the relative interest rate difference between the current interest rate relating to the Reference Currency and the current interest rate relating to the Settlement Currency may influence the price of the Securities.]

[If the Settlement Currency is not the same as the Reference Currency and the Securities are NOT quanto securities, insert:

The Reference Currency for the determination of the Cash Settlement Amount is not the same as the Settlement Currency. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities will involve exchange rate risks.]

In addition, investors will be exposed to exchange rate risk where the Settlement Currency is different from the currency of the investor's home jurisdiction or the currency in which an investor wishes to receive funds.

a) The Securities represent an investment similar to a direct investment in the Underlying. Compared to a direct investment, investors have the chance to receive a cash amount at settlement that is higher than what they would receive if they had invested directly into the Underlying, which, as the Securities will be sold at an issue price reflecting the level of the Underlying at or around issuance, would provide them with a bonus against such direct investment. Investors will receive such bonus if [If the Securities provide for a geared upside, insert: one of two conditions is fulfilled: either the Final Reference Level, which is the value of the Underlying on the specified valuation day, is greater than the Protection Reference Level, which reflects the level of the Underlying at or about issuance of the Securities plus a certain surcharge; in this case, investors will receive an amount which represents the sum of the Final Reference Level and a leveraged participation in the extent by which the Final

Otherwise, investors will receive a cash amount reflecting the value of the Underlying on the specified valuation day, and will thus receive the same proceeds as if liquidating a direct investment in the Underlying at that time [If the Securities do not provide for a geared upside, insert: , subject however to a maximum of the Maximum Amount].

A further difference from a direct investment in the Underlying is that investors will forego the right to receive any dividends, interest or similar amounts paid by or in respect of the Underlying.

b) The Securities represent the right to receive payment of a Cash Settlement Amount at settlement. [If the Securities do not provide for a geared upside, insert: The Cash Settlement Amount will reflect the product of the Final Reference Level and the Multiplier. If the Barrier Determination Amount (which is the value of the Underlying at the relevant time) has not at any time or, if specified above, at any time during the defined Barrier Determination Period, been equal to or less than the defined Barrier Level, investors will receive a minimum Cash Settlement Amount equal to the defined Minimum Amount.] *[If the Securities provide for a geared upside, insert: If the Final Reference Level is greater than the Protection Reference Level, then the Cash Settlement Amount will be an amount equal to the product of the Multiplier and an amount equal to (i) the Final Reference Level plus (ii) the product of the Gearing Factor and the amount by which the Final Reference Level exceeds the Protection Reference Level. However, if the Final Reference Level is equal to or lower than the Protection Reference Level, the Cash Settlement Amount will reflect the product of the Final Reference Level and the Multiplier, subject to the Minimum Amount which is payable if the Barrier Determination Amount (which is the value of the Underlying at the relevant time) has not at any time or, if specified above, at any time during the defined Barrier Determination Period been equal to or less than the defined Barrier Level. Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment will depend on the Final Reference Level and, for the Minimum Amount to be payable at settlement, for the Barrier Determination Amount not to have been equal to or lower than the Barrier Level. Investors will receive no return on their investment, and may suffer a loss, if the Barrier Determination Amount has been equal to or less than the Barrier Level either at any time or, if specified above, at any time during the Barrier Determination Period, and if the Final Reference Level is below the value of the Underlying at or around issuance of the Securities. Such loss can extend to their whole initial investment when the Final Reference Level is zero. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments in respect of the Underlying, changes in the method of calculating the value of the Underlying from time to time and market expectations regarding the future performance of the Underlying, its composition and the Securities.

Accordingly, investors may only receive a positive return on their initial investment if the Cash Settlement Amount received on settlement or after a sale of the Securities in the secondary market during their term exceeds the price originally paid for the Securities. Investors will not receive any periodic payments in respect of the Securities and will not receive any amounts paid from time to time by way of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends) by or in respect of the Underlying and will not have any rights against the issuer of the Underlying, any constituents of the Underlying or the issuer of such constituents.

d) The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value of the Underlying and, unless the Barrier Determination Amount has been equal to or less than the Barrier Level either at any time or, if specified above, at any time during the Barrier Determination Period, its volatility during the life of the Securities. In general, if the value of the Underlying falls and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to fall during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will be expected to fall. On the same basis, if the value of the Underlying rises and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to rise during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will be expected to rise [If the Securities provide for a maximum Cash Settlement Amount, insert: subject to the Maximum Amount.] Such rise or fall will under normal conditions not fully correspond to the rise or fall in the value of the Underlying, unless the Barrier Determination Amount has been equal to or less than the Barrier Level either at any time or, if specified above, at any time during the Barrier Determination Period.

Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments in respect of the Underlying, changes in the method of calculating the value of the Underlying from time to time and market expectations regarding the future performance of the Underlying, its composition and the Securities.

2.17 Rainbow Certificates

a) The RAINBOW certificates (the "Securities") represent the right to receive payment of a cash amount at settlement, which will reflect the sum of (a) the nominal amount and (b) a further amount which reflects a specified participation factor and a basket performance factor determined by reference to a basket of underlying assets or other basis of reference (the "Underlying") to which the Securities are linked. The basket performance factor reflects the performance of each basket constituent on a number of specified valuation dates relative to its initial level. The performance of each basket constituent is given a different rank and weighting in the calculation of the basket performance factor. [Delete as appropriate: The cash amount payable at settlement is [, subject to a specified maximum amount] [, subject to a specified minimum amount] [, subject to specified maximum and minimum amounts]. [If the Certificates are not principal protected, insert: Depending on the basket performance factor the amount referred to at (b) above may be a negative amount, meaning the cash amount at settlement may be less than, or, in some circumstances, considerably less than the specified nominal amount.]

The payment of the cash amount at settlement is subject to deduction or payment (as the case may be) of certain taxes, duties and/or expenses.

The Underlying is a basket consisting of [Please insert: [indices] [shares] [other securities] [fund shares¹⁹] [commodities] [currency amounts] [futures]]. The value of each basket constituent on each specified valuation date relative to its initial value is taken into account in the determination of the basket performance factor as described above.

b) The Securities represent an investment similar to a direct investment in the Underlying. Like a direct investment, the Securities offer a participation (at the specified participation factor) in the performance of the Underlying during the term of the Securities. [If a minimum and/or a maximum Cash Settlement Amount is specified, insert: However, unlike a direct investment in the Underlying [if a maximum Cash Settlement Amount is specified, insert: if the cash amount determined is equal to or exceeds a specified maximum amount, the cash amount payable at settlement will be equal to that specified amount] [If a minimum Cash Settlement Amount is specified, insert: [,and] if the cash amount determined is equal to or less than a specified minimum amount, the cash amount payable at settlement will be equal to that specified minimum amount.]

In addition, unlike a direct investment in the Underlying, the weightings accorded to each basket constituent will only be determined at the time the cash amount payable at settlement is calculated. Each basket constituent is ranked in an order depending on its performance and the weightings are determined by reference to such order. Subject as provided below, investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for their entire term achieve a positive return on their initial investment when the average value of each basket constituent on each specified valuation day exceeds the value of the relevant basket constituent at or about the date of issuance of the Securities. If the average value of one or more basket constituents on each specified valuation day is less than its value at or about the time of issuance of the Securities, investors that have bought the Securities at their issue date and hold them for their entire term may suffer a loss. If the value of one or more basket constituents on one or more specified valuation days is zero an investor may lose all of his investment in the Securities.

The Securities do not provide a guarantee of the right to receive payment of a cash amount or for the right to receive repayment of the issue price. As described above, the value of any cash amount payable to the investor at settlement depends on (a) the average value of each basket constituent on certain specified valuation days [and] (b) the specified participation factor [If the Securities have a maximum or minimum amount, insert: and (c) the specified maximum [and/or] minimum amounts].].

In particular there are no periodic interest payments or other distributions (e.g. dividends) payable during the term of the Securities. Accordingly, investors may only receive a positive return on their initial investment if the cash amount received at settlement or after a sale of the Securities in the secondary market during their term exceeds the price originally paid for the Securities. Investors will not receive any amounts paid by way of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends) from time to time paid by or in respect of the Underlying or any basket constituents and will not have any rights against the issuer or sponsor of the Underlying or any basket constituents or the issuer or sponsor of any constituents thereof.

c) The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value of the basket constituents. If the average value of the basket constituents falls and/or there is a market perception that the average value of the basket constituents is likely to fall during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will be expected to fall. If the average value of the basket constituents rises and/or there is a market perception that the average value of the basket constituents is likely to rise during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will be expected to rise.

Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments in respect of the basket constituents, changes in the method of calculating the level of the basket constituents from time to time and market expectations regarding the future performance of the basket constituents and the Securities.

[If any basket constituent is an index or a basket constituent is otherwise calculated by reference to constituents, insert:

The value of any basket constituent which is an index or otherwise calculated by reference to constituents on any day will reflect the value of its constituents on such day. Changes in the composition of such basket constituent and factors (including those described above) which either affect or may affect the value of the constituents, will affect the value of such basket constituent and therefore may affect the return on an investment in the Securities. Fluctuations in the value of any one constituent may be offset or intensified by fluctuations in the value of other constituents.]

[If the Basket Constituent Currencies are not the same as the Settlement Currency and no currency conversion based on an exchange rate is applied to any Reference Level, insert:

Each value of the basket constituents making up the Underlying used to determine the basket performance factor is deemed to be expressed in the settlement currency, without reference to any exchange rates between such currencies.] As a result, an investment in the Securities will not directly involve exchange rate risks, although movements in the currency of any basket constituent(s) relative to the settlement currency will affect the value of such basket constituent(s) used to determine the basket performance factor.

[If any Basket Constituent Currency is not the same as the Settlement Currency and a currency conversion based on the exchange rate is applied to any Reference Level, insert:

If the currency in which the value of any basket constituent making up the Underlying is determined is not the same as the settlement currency of the Securities, the value of such basket constituent shall be converted at the specified exchange rate into the settlement currency. The value of the Securities and the cash amount payable at settlement will therefore be influenced by movements in each such exchange rate.]

If, following the purchase of any Securities, the market value of the Securities falls below the purchase price paid for such Securities, investors should not expect the market value of the Securities to increase to or above the purchase price paid by the investor during the remainder of the term of the Securities.

2.18 Best of Express Certificates

a) The Securities represent the right to receive payment of a cash amount at settlement. The cash amount payable at settlement will depend on whether or not [If the event is triggered by reference to the Reference Level, insert: the value of the Underlying [on the specified valuation day(s)] [at any time during the specified barrier determination period] [on any specified barrier determination date] has been [equal to or] lower than a specified determination level. If the value of the Underlying [on the specified valuation day(s)] [at any time during the specified barrier determination period] [on any specified barrier determination date] was not [equal to or] lower than the specified determination level] [If the event is triggered by reference to the Barrier Determination Amount, insert: the value of [at least] the specified number of the constituents of the Underlying [on the specified valuation day(s)] [at any time during the specified barrier determination period] [on any specified barrier determination date] has been [equal to or] lower than the relevant specified level of such basket constituent. If the value of [at least] the specified number of the constituents of the Underlying has not been [equal to or] lower than the relevant specified level of such basket constituent], the cash amount payable at settlement will reflect the value of the Underlying at or about the date of the issuance of the Securities [If a Multiplier is used, insert: subject to the specified multiplier].

If it was [equal to or] below such level, the cash amount payable at settlement will reflect [If the cash amount shall not be determined by reference to the performance of specific basket constituents, insert: the value of the Underlying on the specified final valuation day(s) [If a Multiplier is used, insert: subject to the specified multiplier] divided by the [Delete as applicable: specified determination level] [the value of the Underlying at or about the date of issuance of the Securities] and multiplied with the issue price of the Securities.] [If the cash amount shall be determined by reference to the performance of specific basket constituents, insert: the value of the constituent of the Underlying with the [lowest] [●] performance [on the specified [last occurring] [valuation day]] [at any time during the specified barrier determination period] [on any specified barrier determination date] divided by the value of such constituent at or about the date of issuance of the Securities and multiplied by the issue price of the Securities].

However, if the value of [at least] the specified number of the constituents of the Underlying [at any time during the specified barrier determination period]/[on any specified barrier determination day] is [equal to or] above another relevant specified barrier level of constituent of the Underlying [If barrier level is not fixed, insert: in respect of such day] the Securities will be redeemed under payment of an amount specified for the occurrence of such case at the respective time.

The cash amount payable at settlement is subject to deduction of certain taxes, duties and/or expenses.

[If the Multiplier is determined by reference to the Initial Reference Value of the Underlying, insert: The specified multiplier will reflect the value of the Underlying on the specified initial valuation day.]

The Underlying is a basket consisting of [Please insert: [indices] [shares] [other securities] [fund shares²⁰] [commodities] [currency amounts] [futures]]. Accordingly, the value of the Underlying basket at any time reflects the sum of the value of each basket constituent multiplied by its weighting in the basket.

b) The Securities represent an investment similar to a direct investment in the Underlying.

In contrast to such direct investment, the Securities will be redeemed automatically and a specified cash amount will be paid, if [the value of [at least] the specified number of the constituents of the Underlying [at any time during the specified barrier determination period]/[on any specified barrier determination day] is [equal to or] above the relevant specified barrier level of such constituent of the Underlying [If barrier level is not fixed, insert: in respect of such day]. [The cash amount will be higher, the later such early redemption occurs].

In case of admission of the Securities to the SeDex market of the Italian Stock Exchange, not applicable.

[In addition, the Securities provide a degree of protection against a decrease in the value of the Underlying, as the investor will receive a cash amount at settlement calculated by reference to the value of the Underlying at or about the date of issuance of the Securities, if [If the event is triggered by reference to the Reference Level, insert: the value of the Underlying [on the specified valuation day(s)] [at any time during the specified barrier determination period] [on any specified barrier determination date] has not been [equal to or] lower than a specified determination level.], [If the event is triggered by reference to the Barrier Determination Amount, insert: the value of [at least] the specified number of the constituents of the Underlying [on the specified valuation day(s)] [at any time during the specified barrier determination period] [on any specified barrier determination date] has not been [equal to or] lower than the relevant specified level of such basket constituent.]

[For that protection, investors forgo the opportunity to participate in any further rises of the constituents of the Underlying after an early redemption of the Securities as described above.

If the level of [at least] the specified number of the constituents of the Underlying [at any time during the specified barrier determination period]/[on any specified barrier determination day] is [equal to or] above the specified barrier level [If barrier level is not fixed, insert: in respect of such day], the Securities will be redeemed under payment of an amount specified for the occurrence of such case at the respective time. In this case, investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term will receive a return on the initial investment, which will be the higher the later such early redemption occurs. Accordingly, investors will profit the more from an investment in the Securities, the later during the term of the Securities the value of the specified number of constituents of the Underlying rises compared to the relevant barrier level of such basket constituent.

If the Securities do not become redeemable as provided in the preceding paragraph, investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term will receive a cash amount at settlement reflecting value of the Underlying at or around the issuance of the Securities [If a Multiplier is used, insert: subject to the specified multiplier.], and will thus not achieve a return on the initial investment, but avoid a loss unless [If the event is triggered by reference to the Reference Level, insert: the value of the Underlying [on the specified valuation day(s)] [at any time during the specified barrier determination period] [on any specified barrier determination date] has been [equal to or] lower than the specified determination level.] [If the event is triggered by reference to the Barrier Determination Amount, insert: the value of [at least] the specified number of the constituents of the Underlying [on the specified valuation day(s)] [at any time during the specified barrier determination period] [on any specified barrier determination date] has been [equal to or] lower than the relevant specified level of such basket constituent.]

In the latter case, investors will receive a cash amount at settlement reflecting [If the cash amount shall not be determined by reference to the performance of specific basket constituents, insert: the value of the Underlying on the specified final valuation day(s) [If a Multiplier is used, insert: subject to the specified multiplier] divided by the [Delete as applicable: specified determination level][the value of the Underlying at or about the date of issuance of the Securities] and multiplied with of the issue price of the Securities.] [If the cash amount shall be determined by reference to the performance of specific basket constituents, insert: the value of the constituent of the Underlying with the [lowest] [●] performance [on the specified [[last occurring] [valuation day]] [at any time during the specified barrier determination period] [on any specified barrier determination date] divided by the value of such constituent at or about the date of issuance of the Securities and multiplied by the issue price of the Securities.]

c) The Securities do not provide a guarantee of payment of a set amount or for the right to receive repayment of the issue price. The value of any cash amount payable to the investor at settlement depends on the factors described above and can, in the worst-case scenario, be zero and thus result in the total loss of the initial investment. There is no return on the Securities other than the potential cash payment at settlement. In particular, there are no periodic interest payments or other distributions (e.g. dividends) payable during the term of the Securities. Accordingly, investors may only receive a positive return on their initial investment if the cash amount received at settlement or after a sale of the Securities in the secondary market during the term exceeds the price originally paid for the Securities. Investors will not receive any amounts paid by way of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends) from time to time paid by or in respect of the Underlying and will not have any rights against the issuer of the Underlying, any constituents of the Underlying or the issuer of any such constituents.

d) The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value and volatility of the Underlying during the life of the Securities.

In general, if the value of the Underlying falls and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to fall or that the level of [at least] the specified number of the constituents of the Underlying [at any time during the specified barrier determination period]/[on any specified barrier determination day] to be [equal to or] above the specified barrier level of the relevant basket constituent [if barrier level is not fixed, insert: in respect of such day] is not likely to occur during the remaining life of the Securities, the market value of the Securities will be expected to fall. On the same basis, if the value of the Underlying rises and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to rise or that the level of [at least] the specified number of the constituents of the Underlying [at any time during the specified barrier determination period]/[on any specified barrier determination day] is likely to be [equal to or] above the specified barrier level of the relevant basket constituent [if barrier level is not fixed, insert: in respect of such day] , the market value of the Securities will be expected to rise.

[If the Underlying is an index or otherwise calculated by reference to constituents insert:

The value of the Underlying on any day will reflect the value of its constituents on such day. Changes in the composition of the Underlying and factors (including those described above) which either affect or may affect the value of the constituents, will affect the value of the Underlying and therefore may affect the return on an investment in the Securities. Fluctuations in the value of any one constituent may be offset or intensified by fluctuations in the value of other constituents.]

Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities from time to time include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments in respect of the Underlying, the method of calculating the value of the Underlying and market expectations regarding the future performance of the Underlying, its composition and the Securities.

[If any Basket Constituent Currency is not the same as the Reference Currency and/or the Reference Currency is not the same as the Settlement Currency and no currency conversion based on the exchange rate is applied on either level or both levels, insert:

Furthermore, the [insert if no currency conversion based on the exchange rate is applied between the Basket Constituent Currencies and the Reference Currency: relative interest rate difference between the current interest rate relating to the currencies of the basket constituents to the currency to the Underlying] [and] [insert if no currency conversion based on the exchange rate is applied between the Reference Currency and the Settlement Currency: the relative interest rate difference between the current interest rate relating to the currency of the Underlying to the settlement currency of the Securities] may influence the price of the Securities.]

[If any Basket Constituent Currency is not the same as the Reference Currency and/or the Reference Currency is not the same as the Settlement Currency and a currency conversion based on the exchange rate is applied on either level or both levels, insert:

[Insert if a currency conversion based on the exchange rate is applied between the Basket Constituent Currencies and the Reference Currency: The currency in which each value of the constituents of the basket making up the Underlying used to determine the value of the Underlying is not the same as the currency of the Underlying.] [In addition,] [Insert if a currency conversion based on the exchange rate is applied between the Reference Currency and the Settlement Currency: [The] [the] currency of the Underlying, which is used for the determination of the cash amount, is not the same as the settlement currency of the Securities.] Accordingly, an investment in the Securities will involve exchange rate risks.]

If, following the purchase of any Securities, the market value of the Securities falls below the purchase price paid for such Securities, investors should not expect the market value of the Securities to increase to or above the purchase price paid by the investor during the remainder of the term of the Securities.

2.19 Single Underlying linked High-flyer Certificates

a) The Highflyer Certificates (the "Securities") represent the right to receive payment of a cash amount at settlement. The cash amount payable at settlement will reflect the product of a specified participation in the highest of the values of the underlying asset or another basis of reference (the "Underlying") determined at particular points in time during the term and a specified multiplier, if the value of the Underlying does not equal or fall below a specified reference level during a particular period. In the event that the value of the Underlying equals or is less than the reference level on any day during this specified period, the cash amount payable at settlement shall be equal to the product of the value of the Underlying, on a specified final valuation day, and a specified multiplier.

In each case, the cash amount is subject to deduction of certain taxes, duties and/or expenses.

The Underlying is [please insert: index, share, other security, fund share²¹, commodity, currency amount or future].

b) The Highflyer Certificates represent an investment similar to a direct investment in the Underlying. In contrast to a direct investment, however, the Securities also offer the possibility of participating in the highest or equal highest value recorded for the Underlying at certain times during a specified period. But participation in such highest or equal highest value is only possible if the value of the Underlying is never equal to or less than a specified reference level at any point during a specified period. The specified reference level is set below the value of the Underlying at or around the time of issuance of the Securities. If, on the other hand, the value of the Underlying is equal to or less than the specified reference level, the cash amount is based on [participation in] the level of the Underlying at maturity.

[[If the Participation Factor is not 100%, insert: Where the cash amount at settlement reflects the highest or equal highest value recorded at certain times for the Underlying during the relevant specified period, the cash amount will reflect a participation factor which may be greater or less than 100 per cent. The effect of this participation factor may be limited, particularly if the value of the Underlying has not risen or decreased significantly from its value at or around the time of issuance of the Securities. [If the Participation Factor is less than 100% and is not used to determine the Cash Settlement Amount on occurrence of a Barrier Event, insert: Depending on the level of participation specified, the highest value of the Underlying during the specified period, and the value of the Underlying on the specified final valuation day, it may be that the cash amount reflecting such highest or equal highest value is in fact less than or equal to the cash amount based on the level of the Underlying at maturity.]]

For this additional yield potential, however, the investor forgoes the opportunity to participate in any distributions paid by or in respect of the Underlying (e.g. dividends), which he might have received, if he were a direct investor in the Underlying.

Investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term achieve a return on their initial investment if the value of the Underlying has not on the specified time(s) during the specified period been equal to or less than the specified reference level, unless the value of the Underlying during the term exceeds the value of the Underlying at or around the time of issuance, taking into account the effect of the multiplier and the participation factor on the cash amount payable at settlement.

If, however, the value of the Underlying was equal to or less than the specified reference level at the specified time(s) during the specified period, investors only make a gain if the [specified participation in the] value of the Underlying on the specified final valuation day exceeds the value of the Underlying at or around the time of issuance. Otherwise, investors achieve no gain, and may lose their entire investment in the event that the value of the Underlying is zero on the specified final valuation day.

As described above, the value of any cash amount payable to the investor at settlement depends on the value of the Underlying during the term, the value of the Underlying on the final specified final valuation days and on whether or not the value of the Underlying was equal to or less than the reference level during the specified period. There is no return on the Securities other than the potential cash payment at settlement. In particular there are no periodic interest payments or other distributions (e.g. dividends) payable during the term of the Securities. Accordingly, investors may only receive a positive return on their initial investment if the cash amount payable at settlement or after a sale of the Securities in the secondary market during their term exceeds the price originally paid for the Securities. Investors will not receive any amounts paid by way of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends) from time to time paid by or in respect of the Underlying or its constituents and will not have any rights against such constituents or the issuer of the Underlying or any such constituents.

c) The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value of the Underlying and, unless the value of the Underlying has on the specified time(s) during the specified period been equal to or less than the specified reference level, the volatility of the Underlying. If the value of the Underlying falls and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to fall during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will under normal conditions also fall. If the value of the Underlying rises and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to rise during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will under normal conditions also rise.] Such fall or rise will under normal conditions not fully correspond to the fall or rise in the value of the Underlying, unless the value of the Underlying has on the specified time(s) during the specified period been equal to or less than the specified reference level.

Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments in respect of the Underlying, or in the method of calculating the level of the Underlying, from time to time and market expectations regarding the future performance of the Underlying, its composition and the Securities.

If, following the purchase of any Securities, the market value of the Securities falls below the purchase price paid for such Securities, investors should not expect the market value of the Securities to increase to or above the purchase price paid by the investor during the remainder of the term of the Securities.

2.20 Basket linked High-flyer Certificates

a) The Highflyer Certificates (the "Securities") represent the right to receive payment of a cash amount at settlement. The cash amount payable at settlement will reflect the product of a specified participation in the highest of the value of a basket of underlying assets or other bases of reference (the "Underlying") determined at particular points in time during the term and a specified multiplier, if the value of the Underlying does not equal or fall below a specified reference level during a particular period. In the event that the value of the Underlying equals or is less than the reference level on any day during this specified period, the cash amount payable at settlement shall be equal to the product of the value of the Underlying, on a specified final valuation day, and a specified multiplier.

In each case, the cash amount is subject to deduction of certain taxes, duties and/or expenses.

The Underlying is a basket consisting of [Please insert: [indices] [shares] [other securities] [fund shares²²] [commodities] [currency amounts] [futures]]. Accordingly, the value of the Underlying basket at any time reflects the sum of the value of each basket constituent multiplied by its weighting in the basket.

b) The Highflyer Certificates represent an investment similar to a direct investment in the Underlying. In contrast to a direct investment, however, the Securities also offer the possibility of participating in the highest or equal highest value recorded for the Underlying at certain times during a specified period. But participation in such highest or equal highest value is only possible if the value of the Underlying is never equal to or less than a specified reference level at any point during a specified period. The specified reference level is set below the value of the Underlying at or around the time of issuance of the Securities. If, on the other hand, the value of the Underlying is equal to or less than the specified reference level, the cash amount is based on [participation in] the level of the Underlying at maturity.

For this additional yield potential, however, the investor forgoes the opportunity to participate in any distributions paid by or in respect of the Underlying (e.g. dividends), which he might have received, if he were a direct investor in the Underlying.

In case of admission of the Securities to the SeDex market of the Italian Stock Exchange, not applicable.

Investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term achieve a return on their initial investment if the value of the Underlying has not on the specified time(s) during the specified period been equal to or less than the specified reference level, unless the value of the Underlying during the term exceeds the value of the Underlying at or around the time of issuance, taking into account the effect of the multiplier and the participation factor on the cash amount payable at settlement.

If, however, the [specified participation in the] value of the Underlying was equal to or less than the specified reference level at the specified time(s) during the specified period, investors only make a gain if the value of the Underlying on the specified final valuation day exceeds the value of the Underlying at or around the time of issuance. Otherwise, investors achieve no gain, and may lose their entire investment in the event that the value of the Underlying is zero on the specified final valuation day.

As described above, the value of any cash amount payable to the investor at settlement depends on the value of the Underlying during the term, the value of the Underlying on the final specified final valuation days and on whether or not the value of the Underlying was equal to or less than the reference level during the specified period. There is no return on the Securities other than the potential cash payment at settlement. In particular there are no periodic interest payments or other distributions (e.g. dividends) payable during the term of the Securities. Accordingly, investors may only receive a positive return on their initial investment if the cash amount payable at settlement or after a sale of the Securities in the secondary market during their term exceeds the price originally paid for the Securities. Investors will not receive any amounts paid by way of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends) from time to time paid by or in respect of the Underlying or its constituents and will not have any rights against such constituents or the issuer of the Underlying or any such constituents.

c) The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value of the Underlying and, unless the value of the Underlying has on the specified time(s) during the specified period been equal to or less than the specified reference level, the volatility of the Underlying. If the value of the Underlying falls and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to fall during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will under normal conditions also fall. If the value of the Underlying rises and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to rise during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will under normal conditions also rise.] Such fall or rise will under normal conditions not fully correspond to the fall or rise in the value of the Underlying, unless the value of the Underlying has on the specified time(s) during the specified period been equal to or less than the specified reference level.

Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments in respect of the Underlying, or in the method of calculating the level of the Underlying, from time to time and market expectations regarding the future performance of the Underlying, its composition and the Securities.

2.21 Single Underlying linked Outperformance Plus Certificates

[If Cash Settlement only, insert:

a) The outperformance plus certificates (the "Securities") represent the right to receive payment of a cash amount at settlement. The cash amount payable at settlement will reflect the value or average value of an underlying asset or other basis of reference (the "Underlying") on one or more specified days. If the value of the Underlying at certain times during a specified period has never been [equal _to or] lower than a specified barrier level and if on the specified day(s) its value is greater than a specified determination level (the "Determination Level 1"), the cash amount payable will reflect the sum of the value or average value of the Underlying on the specified day(s) and a specified proportion (the "Outperformance Percentage 1" of the difference between the value or average value of the Underlying on the specified day(s) and the specified Determination Level 1 [insert if cash amount is capped; subject to a specified maximum amount]. If the value or average value of the Underlying on the specified day(s) is equal to or less than the Determination Level 1, the cash amount payable will reflect only the value or average value of the Underlying on the specified day(s). If on the other hand the value of the Underlying at certain times during a specified period has been [equal to or] lower than the specified barrier level and if on the specified day(s) its value is greater than another specified determination level (the "Determination Level 2"), which will be lower than the Determination Level 1, the cash amount payable will reflect the sum of the value or average value of the Underlying on the specified day(s) and a specified proportion (the "Outperformance Percentage 2") of the difference between the value or average value of the Underlying on the specified day(s) and the specified Determination Level 2 [insert if cash amount is capped; subject to a specified maximum amount]. If the value or average value of the Underlying on the specified day(s) is equal to or less than the Determination Level 2, the cash amount payable will reflect only the value or average value of the Underlying on the specified day(s).

In each case, the cash amount is subject to deduction of certain taxes, duties and/or expenses.]

The Underlying is [please insert: index, share, other security, fund share²³, commodity, currency amount or future].

b) The Securities represent an investment similar to a direct investment in the Underlying. In contrast to such direct investment, if the value or average value of the Underlying on the specified day(s) is greater than (outperforms) at least one of two specified determination levels (the "Determination Level 1" and the "Determination Level 2"), investors will receive an amount which represents a leveraged participation in the extent to which the value or average value of the Underlying on the specified day(s) exceeds such specified determination levels in addition to an amount which reflects the value or average value of the Underlying on the such day(s). The extent of the leveraged participation depends on whether or not the value of the Underlying has been [equal to or] lower than a specified barrier level at certain times during a specified period.

[Insert if participation is capped: For that leveraged participation, investors forgo to participate in any further increases of the Underlying beyond a specified maximum cash amount payable at settlement.]

Investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term therefore achieve the greatest return on their initial investment when the value of the Underlying has at certain times during a specified period never been [equal to or] lower than a specified barrier and on one or more specified days is greater than the specified Determination level 1. Even if it has been [equal to or] lower than the specified barrier, such investor would receive a higher return compared to a direct investment in the Underlying if the value or average value of the Underlying on one or more specified days is greater than the specified Determination Level 2. However investors will receive no return on their investment, and may suffer a loss, if the value or average value of the Underlying on the specified day(s) is equal to or less than the level of the Underlying at or about the issuance of the Securities. Such loss can extend to their whole initial investment where the value or average value of the underlying asset is zero on the specified day(s). The Securities do not provide a guarantee of payment of a set amount or for the right to receive repayment of the issue price. As described above, the value of any cash amount payable to the investor at settlement depends on the value or average value of the Underlying on one or more specified day(s) which, in the worst-case scenario, can result in the total loss of the initial investment. There is no return on the Securities other than the potential cash payment at settlement. In particular there are no periodic interest payments or other distributions (e.g. dividends) payable during the term of the Securities. 2.23 Single Underlying linked Flex Bonus Certificates

a) The Flex Bonus Certificates (the "Securities") represent the right to receive payment of a cash amount at settlement. The cash amount payable at settlement will vary according to the value of an underlying asset or other basis of reference (the "Underlying") on each relevant day during a specified barrier determination period.

If the value of the Underlying has not been [equal to or] less than a specified barrier level I at certain times during the relevant barrier determination period, the cash settlement amount, will be equal to (a) a specified bonus amount I or, if greater, (b) the product of the specified multiplier and the value of the Underlying on the final valuation day. Each of the bonus amount I and the barrier level I is as specified in the Product Conditions.

If the value of the Underlying has been [equal to or] less than the specified barrier level I but has not been [equal to or] less than a specified barrier level II at certain times during the relevant barrier determination period, the cash settlement amount, will be equal to (a) the specified bonus level II amount or, if greater, (b) the product of the specified multiplier and the value of the Underlying on the final valuation day. However, if the value of the Underlying has been [equal to or] less than the barrier level II at certain times during the relevant barrier determination period, the cash settlement amount, will be equal to the product of the specified multiplier and the value of the Underlying on the final valuation date.

However, where this is not the case and the value of the Underlying has been [equal to or] less than a lower specified barrier level II at certain times during the relevant barrier determination period, the cash amount payable at settlement will correspond to a direct investment in the Underlying.

For the benefit of a possible bonus amount at settlement, however, investors forgo the opportunity to participate in the benefits of holding the Underlying directly, including, for example, any distributions paid by or in respect of the Underlying (e.g. dividends), which the investor might have received, if he were a direct investor in the Underlying.

In contrast to a direct investment, however, the Securities provide for a bonus at settlement if the value of the Underlying at certain times during a specified barrier determination period has not been [equal to or] less than one of two specified barrier levels. Securityholders receive a bonus amount. Each specified barrier level and bonus amount may be set by reference to the value of the Underlying at or around the time of issuance of the Securities. However, where this is not the case and the value of the Underlying has been [equal to or] less than a lower specified barrier level II at certain times during the relevant barrier determination period, the cash amount payable at settlement will correspond to a direct investment in the Underlying.

For the benefit of a possible bonus amount at settlement, however, investors forgo the opportunity to participate in the benefits of holding the Underlying directly, including, for example, any distributions paid by or in respect of the Underlying (e.g. dividends), which the investor might have received, if he were a direct investor in the Underlying.

Investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term therefore achieve the maximum return on their initial investment when [the value of the Underlying has not been [equal to or] less than the specified barrier level I on any relevant day during the barrier determination period].

Investors will receive no return on their investment, and may suffer a loss, if the value of the Underlying on the specified final valuation day is less than the value of the Underlying at or about the time of issuance of the Securities, and, if the value of the Underlying has at certain times during the specified barrier determination period been [equal to or] less than the specified barrier level II. If the value of the Underlying on the specified final valuation day is zero, an investor would lose all of his investment in the Securities.

The Securities do not provide a guarantee of payment of a set amount or for the right to receive repayment of the issue price. As described above, the value of any cash amount payable to the investor at settlement depends on the value of the Underlying on a specified final valuation day and whether, at certain times during the specified barrier determination period, the value of the Underlying has been [equal to or] less than barrier level I or [equal to or] less than barrier level II which, in the worst-case scenario, can result in the total loss of the initial investment. There is no return on the Securities other than the potential cash payment at settlement. In particular there are no periodic interest payments or other distributions (e.g. dividends) payable during the term of the Securities. Accordingly, investors may only receive a positive return on their initial investment if the cash amount received on settlement or after a sale of the Securities in the secondary market during their term exceeds the price originally paid for the Securities. Investors will not receive any amounts paid by way of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends) from time to time paid by or in respect of the Underlying and will not have any rights against such constituents or the issuer of such constituents.

c) The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value of the Underlying and the volatility of the Underlying. If the value of the Underlying falls and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to fall during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will under normal conditions also fall. If the value of the Underlying rises and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to rise during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will under normal conditions also rise. Such fall or rise may under normal conditions not fully correspond to the fall or rise in the value of the Underlying, unless the value of the Underlying has during the specified barrier determination period been [equal to or] less than the specified barrier level II.

Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments in respect of the Underlying or in the method of calculating the level of the Underlying from time to time and market expectations regarding the future performance of the Underlying, its composition and the Securities.

2.25 Single Underlying linked [Butterfly] [Twin Win] [●] Certificates

a) The [Twin Win] [Butterfly] [●] Certificates (the "Securities") represent the right to receive payment of a cash amount at settlement. The cash amount payable at settlement will vary according to the value or average value of an underlying asset or other basis of reference (the "Underlying") on one or more specified final valuation day(s) and, on each relevant day during a specified period, as described below in scenarios (A), (B) and (C). [If the Securities are Butterfly Certificates and a maximum Cash Settlement Amount is specified, insert: In any case the cash amount payable at settlement is limited to the specified maximum amount.]

If the value or average value of the Underlying on the final valuation day(s) is [equal to or] less than the determination level and if the value or average value of the Underlying has not been equal to or less than the lower barrier level on any trading day during a specified period, the cash amount payable at settlement will be equal to the sum of such value or average value of the Underlying on the [initial] [final] valuation date(s) and a specified downside differential amount. The downside differential amount will be [twice] [●] the difference of the determination level and the value or average value of the Underlying on the final valuation day(s).

Scenario C:

Even if the value or average value is below [or equal to] the determination level but has not been below the specified lower barrier level during a specified period, investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term [insert if the Securities provide not for leverage participation in downside: receive at least the issue price.] [insert if the Securities provide for leverage participation in downside: participate positively in the negative performance of the Underlying.]

If the value or average value of the Underlying on the specified final valuation day(s) is [equal to or] below the determination level and if the value of the Underlying on any trading day during a specified period has been equal to or below the specified lower barrier level, investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term will receive no positive return and suffer a loss. Such loss can extend to their whole initial investment where the value or average value of the Underlying is zero at this time.

The Securities do not provide a guarantee of payment of a set amount or for the right to receive repayment of the issue price. As described above, the value of any cash amount payable to the investor at settlement depends on the value or average value of the Underlying on one or more specified final valuation day(s), which, in the worst-case scenario, can result in the total loss of the initial investment. There is no return on the Securities other than the potential cash payment at settlement. Investors will not receive any amounts paid by way of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends) from time to time paid by or in respect of the Underlying and will not have any rights against the issuer of the Underlying, any constituents of the Underlying or the issuer of such constituents.

2.27 Single Underlying linked [Alpha Express] [•] Certificates

a) The Securities are linked to the performance of two underlyings. The investment profile of the two underlyings may or may not be linked. The Securities give investors the opportunity to receive a cash payment prior to the scheduled expiration of the Securities if on any one of a number of days determined in advance (the “Barrier Determination Dates”) the difference between the performance of one of the underlyings (the “Underlying A”) [since the issue of the Securities] [since the immediately preceding Barrier Determination Date (or, before the First Barrier Determination Date, since the issue of the Securities)] and the performance of the second underlying (the “Underlying B”) [since the issue of the Securities] [since the immediately preceding Barrier Determination Date (or, before the First Barrier Determination Date, since the issue of the Securities)] is higher than [or equal to] a pre-determined amount (the “Barrier Level”). In that case, the Cash Settlement Amount corresponds to the initial investment plus a certain premium, which is higher the later such an early termination takes place. This enables investors to receive a return on their investment that reflects this premium.

If the Securities are not terminated early, on the scheduled expiration investors receive a cash amount corresponding to the initial investment provided the difference between the performance of Underlying A and the performance of Underlying B (“Relative Performance”) [at any time] [on the pre-determined Valuation Date] [during the predetermined single Barrier Determination Period] [since the issue of the Securities] [since the immediately preceding Barrier Determination Date (or, before the First Barrier Determination Date, since the issue of the Securities)] has not fallen below a specified Determination Level. This enables Securities to offer a certain amount of protection where the Underlying B [since the issue of the Securities] [since the immediately preceding Barrier Determination Date (or, before the First Barrier Determination Date, since the issue of the Securities)] has performed better than the Underlying A.

Otherwise the cash amount is calculated at expiration on the basis of the Relative Performance.

The Underlyings are [insert: two indices, two shares, two other Securities, two fund shares²⁹, two commodities, two foreign exchange rates or two futures].

b) The Securities represent the right to receive payment of the Cash Settlement Amount at settlement. The Cash Settlement Amount depends on whether the Relative Performance on a Barrier Determination Date is higher than [or equal to] the established Barrier Level [If the Barrier Level is pre-determined with reference to each Barrier Determination Date, insert: with reference to this date] (such an event is hereinafter referred to as a “Knock-Out Event”). The Relative Performance is equal to the difference between (a) the quotient of the Reference Level of the Underlying A on a Barrier Determination Date and the Reference Level of the Underlying A [at or about the time of the issue of the Securities] [on the immediately preceding Barrier Determination Date (or, before the First Barrier Determination Date, at or about the time of the issue of the Securities)] and (b) the quotient of the Reference Level of the Underlying B on such Barrier Determination Date and the Reference Level of the Underlying B [at or about the time of the issue of the Securities] [on the immediately preceding Barrier Determination Date (or, before the First Barrier Determination Date, at or about the time of the issue of the Securities)].

Upon the occurrence of a Knock-Out Event, the Cash Settlement Amount is equal to the amount pre-determined with reference to such a Barrier Determination Date and the Securities will be terminated early on the relevant Settlement Date.

If a Knock-Out Event does not occur and if the Relative Performance was not [equal to or] below the Determination Level [at any time] [on the pre-determined Valuation Date] [during the predetermined the Barrier Determination Period], the Cash

In case of admission of the Securities to the SeDex market of the Italian Stock Exchange, not applicable.

Settlement Amount is equal to a pre-determined amount, which approximately reflects the initial investment.

If a Knock-Out Event does not occur and if the Relative Performance was [equal to or] below the Determination Level [at any time] [on the pre-determined Valuation Date] [during the pre-determined Barrier Determination Period], the Cash Settlement Amount is equal to the sum of the pre-determined amount, which approximately reflects the initial investment, and the product of this amount and the Relative Performance on the date of final maturity.

The payment of the Cash Settlement Amount is subject to deduction of certain taxes, duties and/or expenses.

Prospective investors should note that the return on their investment in the Securities depends on the Relative Performance of the Underlyings on a Barrier Determination Date and on the date of final valuation, and also on whether the Relative Performance of the Underlyings was below the Determination Level [at any time] [on the pre-determined Valuation Date] [during a predetermined period].

Investors who buy Securities on the Issue Date and hold them will achieve a positive return on their initial investment if the Relative Performance of the Underlyings on a pre-determined Barrier Determination Date is higher than [or equal to] the Barrier Level and therefore a Knock-Out Event occurs [If the determination of the Cash Settlement Amount depends on whether the Relative Performance was lower than the Determination Level at a different time than the Valuation Date, insert: or the Relative Performance was below the Determination Level but is positive on the Valuation Date].

Investors who buy Securities on the Issue Date and hold them over the entire term do not achieve a return on their initial investment if a Knock-Out Event does not occur, but they do not incur a loss if the Relative Performance is not [equal to or] below the Determination Level [at any time] [on the pre-determined Valuation Date] [during the pre-determined Barrier Determination Period]. In that case, investors receive a cash amount which approximately reflects the initial investment.

Investors will not achieve a return on their initial investment and will incur a loss if the Relative Performance of the Underlyings on each pre-determined Barrier Determination Date is lower than [or equal to] the pre-determined Barrier Level [If the Barrier Level is pre-determined with reference to each Barrier Determination Date, insert: with reference to this date] and at the same time the Relative Performance was below the Determination Level [at any time] [on the pre-determined Valuation Date] [during a pre-determined period]. [If the determination of the Cash Settlement Amount depends on whether the Relative Performance was lower than the Determination Level at a different time than the Valuation Date, insert: and the Relative Performance is negative on the Valuation Date].

Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks and investors should take advice accordingly.

Prospective investors should note that, if they buy Securities on the Issue Date and hold them over the entire term, they will incur a total loss of the initial investment if, (i) no Knock-Out Event occurs, i.e. the Relative Performance of the Underlyings on each of the specified Barrier Determination Dates is [equal to or] lower than the pre-determined Barrier Level, (ii) the Relative Performance of the Underlying on the Valuation Date is [equal to or] [lower than] the Determination Level, and (iii) on the date of final maturity the value of the Underlying B [since the issue of the Securities] [since the immediately preceding Barrier Determination Date (or before the First Barrier Determination Date, since the issue of the Securities)] has performed at least 100 per cent better than the Underlying A [since the issue of the Securities] [since the immediately preceding Barrier Determination Date (or before the First Barrier Determination Date, since the issue of the Securities)].

The Securities do not guarantee the payment of a specified amount or the right to the repayment of the issue price. The Securities do not provide for any return other than the possible cash payment at maturity. In particular, no periodic interest payments or other distributions (e.g. dividends) will be made during the term of the Securities. Accordingly, investors may only receive a positive return on their original investment if the cash amount received on settlement or after a sale of the Securities in the secondary market during the term of the Securities exceeds the price originally paid for the Securities. Investors do not receive any payments in the form of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends), which are paid on or with reference to the Underlyings and have no claim against the issuers of the Underlyings with reference to constituents of the Underlyings or against the issuers of these constituents.

c) The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the performance of the Underlyings. As a general rule: If the Relative Performance of the Underlyings falls and/or there is a market perception that the Relative Performance of the Underlyings is likely to fall during the residual term of the Securities or if it is unlikely that the Relative Performance of the Underlyings on a pre-determined Barrier Determination Date will be higher than or equal to the Barrier Level [If the Barrier Level is pre-determined with reference to each Barrier Determination Date, insert: with reference to this date], all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities is likely to fall. Accordingly, if the Relative Performance of the Underlying rises and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to rise during the residual term of the Securities or if it is likely that the Relative Performance of the Underlyings on a specified Barrier Determination Date will be higher than or equal to the Barrier Level [If the Barrier Level is pre-determined with reference to each Barrier Determination Date, insert: with reference to this date], all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities is likely to rise.

If both Underlyings show a rising correlation [or if Underlying B performs strongly relative to Underlying A], all other factors being equal, under normal circumstances this will have a negative impact on the market value of the Securities.

At the same time, the volatility of the Underlyings may have an impact on the market value of the Securities during their term. The level of market volatility is not only a measure of current volatility, but is largely determined by the prices of the instruments that offer investors protection against changes in market volatility. The prices of these instruments are generally determined by supply and demand on the options and derivatives markets. However, these forces of supply and demand are in turn influenced by factors such as current volatility, economic factors and speculation.

If both Underlyings exhibit a rising correlation, under normal circumstances volatility will have little impact on the market value of the Securities. Moreover, the volatility of the Underlyings is expected to have less impact on the market value of the Securities the higher or lower the Relative Performance is than the Barrier Level making an early termination of the Securities likely or unlikely. On the date of final maturity, the impact of volatility on the market value of the Securities will be greatest if the Underlyings hardly correlate at all and the Relative Performance is only just above the Determination Level, making it uncertain that the Relative Performance will reach or fall below the Determination Level. In that case, under normal circumstances, high volatility will have a negative impact on the market value of the Securities.

Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments in respect of the Underlyings, securities lending charges and changes or in the method of calculating the value of the Underlyings.

[If the Underlyings are Indices or if the Underlyings are calculated differently with reference to constituents, insert:

The value of the Underlyings on any day will reflect the value of their constituents on such day. Changes in the composition of the Underlyings and factors (including those described above) which either affect or may affect the value of the constituents, will affect the value of the Underlyings and therefore may affect the return on an investment in the Securities.]

An investment in the Securities will also involve exchange rate risks, if the settlement currency of the Securities is different from the currency of an investor's home jurisdiction or the currency in which an investor wishes to receive payments.

If, following the purchase of any Securities, the market value of the Securities falls below the purchase price paid for such Securities, investors should not rely on the market value of the Securities increasing during the residual term of the Securities to or above the purchase price paid by the investor.

2.28 Single Underlying linked Twin & Go Certificates

a) The Twin & Go certificates (the "Securities") represent the right to receive payment of a cash amount at settlement, unless previously redeemed (see paragraph 2 below). The cash amount payable at settlement will vary according to the value of the Underlying on one specified final valuation day and, on each relevant day during a specified period, as described below in scenarios (A), (B) and (C).

Scenario (A):

If the value of the Underlying on the final valuation day is above or equal to a specified determination level, the cash amount payable at settlement, will be equal to a proportionate or enhanced participation in the value of the Underlying on the final valuation day.

Scenario (B):

If the value of the Underlying on the final valuation day is less than the determination level and if the value of the Underlying has not been equal to or less than the lower barrier level on any trading day during a specified period, the cash amount payable at settlement will be equal to the sum of the value of the Underlying on the initial valuation date and a specified downside differential amount. The downside differential amount will be [twice] [●] the difference of the determination level and the value of the Underlying on the final valuation day.

Scenario (C):

If the value of the Underlying on the final valuation day is less than the determination level and if the value of the Underlying has been equal to or less than the lower barrier level on any trading day during the specified period, the cash amount payable at settlement will be equal to such value of the Underlying on the final valuation day

The Securities will be redeemed automatically and a specified cash amount will be paid if the value of the Underlying on [one or more specified determination days] [any day during the specified barrier determination period] is equal to or greater than a specified redemption level. The specified cash amount will be higher the later such early redemption occurs.

For these features, however, investors forgo the right to receive any dividends, interest or similar amounts paid in respect of the Underlying.

In each case, the cash amount payable at settlement is subject to deduction of certain taxes, duties and/or expenses.

The Underlying are [insert: indices, shares, other Securities, fund shares³⁰, commodities, foreign exchange rates or futures].

b) The Securities can provide a positive participation both on the upside and downside performance of the Underlying, provided that, in this latter case, the value of the Underlying does neither touch nor decrease below a specified barrier level. In particular, the Securities offer the possibility of increased returns by a proportionate or enhanced participation where the value of the Underlying moves upwards above a specified determination level. And even if the value of the Underlying decreases to a certain extent below its value at the issuance of the securities, the securities provide for a positive return. It is only when the value of the Underlying on one specified final valuation day is below the specified determination level and during a specified period the value of the Underlying has either touched or decreased below a specified barrier level, that the Securities represent an investment similar to a direct investment in the Underlying.

Moreover, the Securities will be redeemed automatically and a specified cash amount will be paid if the value of the Underlying on [one or more specified determination days] [any day during the specified barrier determination period] is equal to or greater than a specified redemption level. The specified cash amount will be higher the later such early redemption occurs. The specified cash amount will be paid for the occurrence of such case at the respective time: in this case, investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term will receive a return on the initial investment, which will be the higher the later such early redemption occurs. Accordingly, investors will profit the more from an investment in the Securities, the later during the term of the Securities the value of the Underlying rises compared to its value at or around issuance of the Securities.

However, for these features, investors forgo the right to receive any dividends, interest or similar amounts paid in respect of the Underlying.

Unless early redeemed as provided above, investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term therefore at settlement achieve a positive return on their initial investment when the value of the Underlying on one specified final valuation day is greater than or equal to the specified determination level. Even if the value is below the determination level but has not been below the specified lower barrier level during a specified period, investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term participate positively in the negative performance of the Underlying.

If the value of the Underlying on the specified final valuation day is below the determination level and if the value of the Underlying on any trading day during a specified period has been equal to or below the specified lower barrier level, investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term will receive no positive return and suffer a loss. Such loss can extend to their whole initial investment where the value or average value of the Underlying is zero at the specified final valuation day.

c) The Securities do not provide a guarantee of payment of a set amount or for the right to receive repayment of the issue price. As described above, the value of any cash amount payable to the investor at settlement depends on the value of the Underlying on the specified final valuation day, which, in the worst-case scenario, can result in the total loss of the initial investment.

³⁰

In case of admission of the Securities to the SeDex market of the Italian Stock Exchange, not applicable.

There are no periodic interest payments or other distributions (e.g. dividends) payable during the term of the Securities. Accordingly, investors may only receive a positive return on their initial investment if the cash amount received at settlement or after a sale of the Securities in the secondary market during their term exceeds the price originally paid for the Securities. Investors will not receive any amounts paid by way of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends) from time to time paid by or in respect of the Underlying and will not have any rights against the issuer of the Underlying, any constituents of the Underlying or the issuer of such constituents.

d) The market value of the Securities during their term can fall below the issue price of the Securities.

The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value and the volatility of the Underlying. The level of market volatility is not purely a measurement of the actual volatility, but is largely determined by the prices for instruments which offer investors protection against such market volatility. The prices of these instruments are determined by forces of supply and demand in the options and derivative markets generally. These forces are, themselves, affected by factors such as actual market volatility, expected volatility, macroeconomic factors and speculation. If the value of the Underlying falls and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to fall during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will under normal conditions also fall. If the value of the Underlying rises and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to rise during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will under normal conditions also rise.

Furthermore the market value of the Securities will depend on the remaining term of the Securities to maturity and whether or not the value of the Underlying has been equal to or below the specified lower barrier level.

Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments, as applicable, in respect of the Underlying, changes in the constituents, or in the method of calculating the level of, the Underlying from time to time and market expectations regarding the future performance of the Underlying and the Securities.

However, the relative interest rate difference between the current interest rate relating to the currency in which each relevant value of the Underlying is deemed to be expressed and the current interest rate relating to the settlement currency of the Securities may influence the price of the Securities.]

those described above) which either affect or may affect the value of the constituents, will affect the value of the Underlying and therefore may affect the return on an investment in the Securities.]

If, following the purchase of any Securities, the market value of the Securities falls below the purchase price paid for such Securities, investors should not expect the market value of the Securities to increase to or above the purchase price paid by the investor during the remainder of the term of the Securities.

2.29 Basket linked Tris Certificates

a) The Securities represent an investment similar to a direct investment in the Underlying. In contrast to such a direct investment, however, the Securities will be redeemed automatically and a specified amount will be paid if the value of each constituent of the Underlying on any specified barrier determination day is equal to or greater than the specified barrier level [If Barrier Level is not fixed, insert: in respect of such day]. The cash amount will be higher, the later such early redemption occurs. For that option the investors forego the opportunity to participate in any further growth in the value of the constituents of the Underlying beyond the specified barrier level after an early redemption of the Securities as described above has occurred. If an early redemption does not occur, the investor will receive a cash amount linked to the value of the constituents of the Underlying over the life of the Security. [Such cash amount may also include the payment of a coupon, as set out below.]

If an early redemption doesn't occur, the investor will receive a cash amount linked to the value of the constituents of the Underlying over the life of the Security. If none of the constituents of the Underlying has been equal to or lower than the respective determination level, the investor will receive a cash amount which will reflect the greater between a specified amount and the product of the issue price and the value of the worst performing constituent of the Underlying on the final valuation date divided by the value of such worst performing constituent of the Underlying at issuance. Otherwise, the cash amount payable at settlement will reflect the value of the worst performing constituent of the Underlying on the final valuation date divided by the value of such worst performing constituent of the Underlying at issuance.

A further difference from a direct investment in the Underlying is that investors will forego the right to receive any dividends, interest or similar amounts paid in respect of the Underlying.

The Underlying is a basket consisting of [indices] [shares] [other securities] [fund shares³¹] [commodities] [currency amounts] [futures]. Accordingly, the value of the Underlying at any time reflects the value of each basket constituent [If the Basked Constituent Exchange Rate is not the same as the Reference Currency and the Security is not a quanto security, insert: converted into the [Reference Currency/Settlement Currency] at the prevailing exchange rate].

b) The Securities represent the right to receive payment of the Cash Settlement Amount at settlement. The cash amount payable at settlement will depend on whether or not the value of the constituents of the Underlying during the term has been equal to or lower than a specified determination level. Investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term will receive, if the value of none of the constituents of the Underlying during the term has been [equal to or] lower than the specified determination level, a cash amount payable at settlement which will reflect the greater between a specified amount and the product of the issue price and the value of the worst performing constituent of the Underlying on the final valuation date divided by the value of such worst performing constituent of the Underlying at issuance; otherwise the cash amount payable at settlement will reflect the value of the worst performing constituent of the Underlying on the final valuation date divided by the value of such worst performing constituent of the Underlying at issuance. [In addition, a Coupon Amount will be paid.]

However, if the value of each constituent of the Underlying on a specified barrier determination day is equal to or greater than the specified barrier level [If Barrier Level is not fixed, insert: in respect of such day], the Securities will be redeemed early by payment of an amount specified for the occurrence of such case at the relevant settlement date. In this case, investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term will receive a return on the initial investment, which will be the higher the later such early redemption occurs. Accordingly, investors will profit the more from an investment in the Securities, the later during the term of the Securities the value of the constituents of the Underlying rises compared to their value at or around issuance of the Securities.

[If the Settlement Currency is not the same as the Reference Currency, insert: The Cash Settlement Amount will be converted into the Settlement Currency at the prevailing exchange rate].

The payment of the Cash Settlement Amount is subject to deduction of certain taxes, duties and/or expenses.

Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment in the Securities will depend upon the performance of the constituents of the Underlying and whether early redemption occurs.

If the value of each constituent of the Underlying on a specified barrier determination day is equal to or greater than the specified barrier level [If Barrier Level is not fixed, insert: in respect of such day], the Securities will be redeemed by payment of the amount specified above for the occurrence of such case at the respective time; in this case, investors that buy the Securities at the issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term will receive a return on the initial investment, which will be the higher the later such early redemption occurs. Accordingly, investors will profit the more from an investment in the Securities, the later during the term of the Securities the value of the constituents of the Underlying rises compared to their value at or around issuance of the Securities.

In the absence of an early redemption, investors that buy the Securities at the Issue Date and hold the Securities for the entire term will achieve a return on the initial investment if the value of none of the constituents of the Underlying during the term has been [equal to or] lower than the specified determination level. In the latter case, investors will receive a cash amount payable at settlement which will reflect the greater of a specified amount and the product of the issue price and the value of the worst performing constituent of the Underlying on the final valuation date divided by the value of such worst performing constituent of the Underlying at issuance. Otherwise the cash amount payable at settlement will reflect the value of the worst performing constituent of the Underlying on the final valuation date divided by the value of such worst performing constituent of the Underlying at issuance. In such a case, if the value of the worst performing constituent of the Underlying on the final valuation date is below the value of such worst performing constituent of the Underlying at issuance, investors that have bought the Securities at the Issue Date and hold them for their entire term will make a loss on their investment and may lose their investment entirely if such value on the final valuation date is zero. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

c) The Securities do not provide a guarantee of payment of a set amount or for the right to receive repayment of the issue price. As described above, the value of any cash amount payable to the investor at settlement depends on (a) whether the value of each constituent of the Underlying on a specified barrier determination day is equal to or greater than the specified barrier level, (b) whether the value of the constituents of the Underlying during the term has been equal to or lower than the specified determination level and (c) the value of the worst performing constituent of the Underlying on the final valuation date, which, in the worst-case scenario, can result in the total loss of the initial investment. There is no return on the Securities other than the potential cash settlement payable at settlement. Accordingly, investors may only receive a positive return on their initial investment if the cash amount received at settlement (either due to an early redemption of the Securities or upon exercise of the Securities on the specified exercise date) or the amount received after a sale of the Securities in the secondary market during their term exceeds the price originally paid for the Securities. Investors will not receive any periodic payments in respect of the Securities and will not receive any amounts paid from time to time by way of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends) by or in respect of the Underlying and will not have any rights against the issuer of the Underlying, any constituents of the Underlying or the issuer of any such constituents.

d) The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value and the volatility of the Underlying during the life of the Securities. If the value of the constituents of the Underlying falls and/or there is a market perception that the value of the constituents of the Underlying is likely to fall or that the value of the constituents of the Underlying is not likely to be equal to or greater than the specified barrier level on any specified barrier determination day during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will be expected to fall. On the same basis, if the value of the constituents of the Underlying rises and/or there is a market perception that the value of the constituents of the Underlying is likely to rise or that the value of the constituents of the Underlying is likely to be equal to or greater than the specified barrier level on any specified barrier determination day during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will be expected to rise.

Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments (as applicable) in respect of the Underlying, changes in the method of calculating the value of the Underlying from time to time and market expectations regarding the future performance of the Underlying, its composition and the Securities.

Investors that buy the Securities at the Issue Date and hold the Securities for the entire term will suffer a loss where the Final Reference Level is less than the Protection Level and the Protection Level is less than the 100 per cent of the Initial Reference Level. Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments (as applicable) in respect of the Underlying, changes in the method of calculating the value of the Underlying from time to time and market expectations regarding the future performance of the Underlying, its composition and the Securities.

2.32 Single Underlying linked Equity Protection with [Cap] and Rebate Certificates

a) The Securities represent an investment similar to a direct investment in the Underlying. In contrast to a direct investment, if the Barrier Determination Amount, [If the barrier is continuously observed, insert: during the specified Barrier Determination Period][If the barrier is not continuously observed, insert: on any Barrier Determination Date] has not been equal to or greater than the Barrier Level, investors will receive at settlement an amount which represents the performance of the Underlying between the Initial Reference Valuation Date and the Valuation Date, subject to the repayment of the [Issue Price] [Minimum Amount]. If, [If the barrier is continuously observed, insert during the Barrier Determination Period] [If the barrier is not continuously observed, insert: on any Barrier Determination Date], the Barrier Determination Amount has been above the defined Barrier Level, investors will receive at settlement an amount equal to the Rebate Amount.

A further difference from a direct investment in the Underlying is that investors will forego the right to receive any dividends, interest or similar amounts paid in respect of the Underlying.

The Underlying is a[n] [Please insert: [index] [share] [other security] [fund share³⁴] [commodity] [currency amount] [futures]].

b) Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment in the Securities will depend upon the performance of the Underlying. If the Final Reference Level is less than the Initial Reference Level and the Barrier Determination Amount has not been greater than the Barrier Level, investors that have bought the Securities at the Issue Date and hold them for their entire term will receive [If repayment of Issue Price is provided or the Minimum Amount is less than the Issue Price, insert: a limited] return on their investment. However, if the Barrier Determination Amount has been greater than the Barrier Level, investors will receive a fixed amount equal to the Rebate Amount, regardless of the Underlying performance.

In each case, the Cash Settlement Amount is subject to deduction of certain taxes, duties and/or expenses [If the Settlement Currency is not the same as the Reference Currency, insert: and it will be converted into the Settlement Currency at the prevailing exchange rate.]

c) Aside from payment of the Cash Settlement Amount, prospective investors should note that no periodic interest payments or other distributions will be made during the term of the Securities. Accordingly, investors may only receive a positive return on their initial investment if the Cash Settlement Amount payable on settlement or the sum received after a sale on the secondary market during their term exceeds the price originally paid for the Securities. Investors will not receive any amounts paid from time to time by way of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends) paid by or in respect of the Underlying and will not have any rights against the Underlying or the issuer of any constituents of the Underlying.

d) The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value and volatility of the Underlying during the life of the Securities. In general, if the value of the Underlying falls and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to fall during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will be expected to fall. On the same basis, if the value of the Underlying rises and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to rise during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will be expected to rise, unless the value of the Underlying rises or there is a market perception that is likely to rise above the Barrier Level.

Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments, as applicable, in respect of the Underlying, changes in the method of calculating the value of the Underlying from time to time and market expectations regarding the future performance of the Underlying, its composition and the Securities.

[If the Underlying is an index or otherwise calculated by reference to constituents, insert:

The value of the Underlying on any day will reflect the value of its constituents on such day. [If the Settlement Currency is not the same as the Reference Currency and the Securities are quanto securities, insert:

In addition, each value of the Underlying relevant for the determination of the Cash Settlement Amount is deemed to be in the Settlement Currency, without reference to any exchange rate between the Reference Currency and the Settlement Currency (so-called "quanto securities"). As a result, an investment in the Securities will not involve exchange rate risks. However, the relative interest rate difference between the current interest rate relating to the Reference Currency and the current interest rate relating to the Settlement Currency may influence the price of the Securities.]

[If the Settlement Currency is not the same as the Reference Currency and the Securities are NOT quanto securities, insert:

The Reference Currency for the determination of the Cash Settlement Amount is not the same as the Settlement Currency. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities will involve exchange rate risks.]

In addition, investors will be exposed to exchange rate risk where the Settlement Currency is different from the currency of the investor's home jurisdiction or the currency in which an investor wishes to receive funds.

If, following the purchase of any Securities, the market value of the Securities falls below the purchase price paid for such Securities, investors should not expect the market value of the Securities to increase to or above the purchase price paid by the investor during the remainder of the term of the Securities.

2.33 Bonus Worst of Certificates

a) The Securities represent an investment similar to a direct investment in the Underlying. Compared to a direct investment though investors have the chance to receive a cash amount at settlement that is higher than what they would receive if they had invested directly into the Underlying, which, as the Securities will be sold at an issue price reflecting the level of the Underlying at or about issuance, would provide them with a bonus against such direct investment. Investors will receive such bonus if the value of none of the constituents of the Underlying [at any time during the specified barrier determination period] [on any specified barrier determination day] [on [any] valuation date] has been ever [equal to or] lower than a specified determination level. Or if greater, [If the cash settlement amount in case of occurrence of the event described above is capped, insert: and unless the cash settlement amount is capped to a specified Maximum Amount,] investors will receive the product of the [multiplier] [issue price] and the value of the constituent of the Underlying with the lowest performance [on the [last occurring] valuation date] [at any time during the barrier determination period] [on any barrier determination day] divided by the value of such constituent at or about the date of issuance of the Securities.

Otherwise, if the value of [at least] the specified number of the constituents of the Underlying [at any time during the specified barrier determination period] [on any specified barrier determination day] [on [any] valuation date] has been [equal to or] lower than a specified determination level, investors will lose the right to receive at least the specified bonus and will receive a cash amount reflecting the performance of the less performing constituent of the Underlying [If the cash settlement amount in case of occurrence of the event described above is floored, insert: , subject to a minimum of the Minimum Amount].

A further difference from a direct investment in the Underlying is that investors will forego the right to receive any dividends, interest or similar amounts paid by or in respect of the Underlying.

The Underlying is a basket consisting of [indices] [shares] [other securities] [fund shares³⁵] [commodities] [currency amounts] [futures].

b) The Securities represent the right to receive payment of a Cash Settlement Amount at settlement. The Cash Settlement Amount payable at settlement will vary according to the value of the constituents of the Underlying. If the value of none of the constituents of the Underlying [at any time during the specified barrier determination period] [on any specified barrier determination day] [on [any] valuation date] has been ever [equal to or] lower than a specified determination level, the Cash Settlement Amount will be equal to (a) a specified bonus, or, if greater, (b) the product of the [multiplier] [issue price] and the value of the constituent of the Underlying with the lowest performance [on the [last occurring] valuation date] [at any time during the barrier determination period] [on any barrier determination day] divided by the value of such constituent at or about the date of issuance of the Securities [If the cash settlement amount in case of occurrence of the event described above is capped, insert: subject however to a maximum of the Maximum Amount].

Otherwise, if the value of [at least] the specified number of the constituents of the Underlying [at any time during the specified barrier determination period] [on any specified barrier determination day] [on [any] valuation date] has been [equal to or] lower than a specified determination level, the Cash Settlement Amount will be equal to the product of the [multiplier] [issue price] and the value of the constituent of the Underlying with the lowest performance [on the [last occurring] valuation date] [at any time during the barrier determination period] [on any barrier determination day] divided by the value of such constituent at or about the date of issuance of the Securities [If the cash settlement amount in case of occurrence of the event described above is floored, insert: , subject to a minimum of the Minimum Amount].

If the Settlement Currency is not the same as the Reference Currency, the Cash Settlement Amount will be converted into the Settlement Currency at the prevailing exchange rate.

In each case, the Cash Settlement Amount is subject to deduction of certain taxes, duties and/or expenses.

c) The Securities do not provide a guarantee of payment of a set amount or for the right to receive repayment of the Issue Price. There is no return on the Securities other than the potential payment of the Cash Settlement Amount at settlement. Accordingly, investors may only receive a positive return on their initial investment if the cash settlement amount received on settlement or after a sale of the Securities in the secondary market during their term exceeds the price originally paid for the Securities. Investors will not receive any periodic payments in respect of the Securities and will not receive any amounts paid from time to time by way of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends) by or in respect of the Underlying and will not have any rights against the issuer of the Underlying, any constituents of the Underlying or the issuer of such constituents.

Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment will depend on the value of the constituent of the Underlying with the lowest performance [on the [last occurring] valuation date] [at any time during the barrier determination period] [on any barrier determination day] divided by the value of such constituent at or about the date of issuance of the Securities as well as, for the Bonus Amount to be payable at settlement, on the constituents of the Underlying not to have been [equal to or] lower than the specified determination level. Investors will receive no return on their investment, and may suffer a loss, if any of the constituents of the Underlying [at any time during the specified barrier determination period] [on any specified barrier determination day] [on [any] valuation date] has been [equal to or] lower than a specified determination level and if the value on the final valuation date of the less performing constituent of the Underlying is below the value of such constituent of the Underlying at or around issuance of the Securities. Such loss can extend to their whole initial investment when such final reference level is zero. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

[If the Securities provide for a Maximum Amount, insert: Investors will not benefit from any increase in the value of the constituents of the Underlying above the level which would give rise to a Cash Settlement Amount equal to the Maximum Amount.]

d) The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value of the constituents of the Underlying and, unless any of the constituents of the Underlying has been [equal to or] less than the specified determination level [at any time during the specified barrier determination period] [on any specified barrier determination day] [on [any] valuation date], their volatility during the life of the Securities. In general, if the value of the constituents of the Underlying falls and/or there is a market perception that the value of the constituents of the Underlying is likely to fall during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will be expected to fall. On the same basis, if the value of the constituents of the Underlying rises and/or there is a market perception that the value of the constituents of the Underlying is likely to rise during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will be expected to rise. Such rise or fall will under normal conditions not fully correspond to the rise or fall in the value of the constituents of the Underlying, unless any of the constituents of the Underlying has been [equal to or] less than the specified determination level [at any time during the specified barrier determination period] [on any specified barrier determination day] [on [any] valuation date].

Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments in respect of the constituents of the Underlying, changes in the method of calculating the value of the constituents of the Underlying from time to time and market expectations regarding the future performance of the constituents of the Underlying, their composition and the Securities.

[If the Basket Constituent Currencies are not the same as the Settlement Currency and no currency conversion based on the exchange rate is applied:

The value of the constituents of the Underlying, which is used for the determination of the Cash Settlement Amount is deemed to be in the Settlement Currency, without reference to any exchange rate between the Reference Currency and the Settlement Currency (so-called "quanto securities"). As a result, an investment in the Securities will not involve exchange rate risks.]

[If the Basket Constituent Currencies are not the same as the Settlement Currency and a currency conversion based on the exchange rate is applied:

The Basket Constituent Currency of each Basket Constituent, which is used for the determination of the Cash Settlement Amount is not the same as the Settlement Currency. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities will involve exchange rate risks.]

In addition, investors will be exposed to exchange rate risk where the Settlement Currency is different from the currency of the investor's home jurisdiction or the currency in which an investor wishes to receive funds.

2.34 Basket Linked Twin & Go Certificates

a) The Twin & Go certificates (the “Securities”) represent the right to receive payment of a cash amount at settlement, unless previously redeemed (see paragraph below). The cash amount payable at settlement will vary according to the value of the constituents of the Underlying on final valuation day [and during a specified period], as described below in scenarios (A), (B) and (C).

Scenario (A):

If none of the constituents of the Underlying has been [equal to or] lower than the respective lower barrier level [on final valuation day] [during a specified period] and if the value of the basket as a whole on the final valuation day is above or equal to a specified determination level, the cash amount payable at settlement, will be equal to a proportionate or enhanced participation in the positive performance of the basket as a whole.

Scenario (B):

If none of the constituents of the Underlying has been [equal to or] lower than the respective lower barrier level [on final valuation day] [during a specified period] and if the value of the basket as a whole on the final valuation day is lower than a specified determination level, the cash amount payable at settlement, will be equal to a proportionate or enhanced participation in the negative performance of the basket as a whole.

Scenario (C):

If any of the constituents of the Underlying has been [equal to or] lower than the respective lower barrier level [on final valuation day] [during a specified period], the cash amount payable at settlement will reflect the value of the worst performing constituent of the Underlying on the final valuation day divided by the value of such worst performing constituent of the Underlying at issuance.

The Securities will be redeemed automatically and a specified cash amount will be paid if the value of each constituent of the Underlying on [one or more specified determination days] [any day during the specified barrier determination period] is [equal to or] greater than the respective specified barrier level. The cash amount will be higher the later such early redemption occurs.

For these features, however, investors forgo the right to receive any dividends, interest or similar amounts paid in respect of the Underlying.

In each case, the cash amount payable at settlement is subject to deduction of certain taxes, duties and/or expenses.

b) The Securities can provide a positive participation both on the upside and downside performance of the Underlying, provided that, in this latter case, the value of any of the constituents of the Underlying does [neither touch nor] [not] decrease below the respective specified lower barrier level. In particular, the Securities offer the possibility of increased returns by a proportionate or enhanced participation where the value of the Underlying moves upwards above a specified determination level. And even if the value of the Underlying decreases to a certain extent below its value at the issuance of the securities, the securities provide for a positive return. It is only when the value of any of the constituent of the Underlying [on the final valuation day] [during a specified period] has [either touched or] decreased below the respective specified lower barrier level, that the Securities represent an investment similar to a direct investment in the worst performing constituent of the Underlying.

Moreover, the Securities will be redeemed automatically and a specified cash amount will be paid if the value of each constituent of the Underlying on [one or more specified determination days] [any day during the specified barrier determination period] is [equal to or] greater than the respective specified barrier level. The specified cash amount will be higher the later such early redemption occurs. The specified cash amount will be paid for the occurrence of such case at the respective time: in this case, investors that buy the Securities at their issue date will receive a return on the initial investment, which will be the higher the later such early redemption occurs. Accordingly, investors will profit the more from an investment in the Securities, the later during the term of the Securities the value of the Underlying rises compared to its value at or around issuance of the Securities.

However, for these features, investors forgo the right to receive any dividends, interest or similar amounts paid in respect of the Underlying.

Unless early redeemed as provided above, investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term therefore at settlement achieve a positive return on their initial investment when the value of the Underlying on the final valuation day is greater than or equal to the specified determination level. Even if the value is below the determination level but none of the constituents of the Underlying has ever been [equal to or] below the respective specified lower barrier level [on the final valuation day] [during a specified period], investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term participate positively in the negative performance of the Underlying.

If the value of any of the constituents of the Underlying [on the final valuation day] [during a specified period] has been [equal to or] below the respective specified lower barrier level, investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term can suffer a loss. Such loss can extend to their whole initial investment where the value of the worst performing constituent of the Underlying is zero at the specified final valuation day. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

c) The Securities do not provide a guarantee of payment of a set amount or for the right to receive repayment of the issue price. As described above, the value of any cash amount payable to the investor at settlement depends on the value of the Underlying on the specified final valuation day and of its constituents [on the final valuation day] [during a specified period], which, in the worst-case scenario, can result in the total loss of the initial investment.

There are no periodic interest payments or other distributions (e.g. dividends) payable during the term of the Securities. Accordingly, investors may only receive a positive return on their initial investment if the cash amount received at settlement or after a sale of the Securities in the secondary market during their term exceeds the price originally paid for the Securities. Investors will not receive any amounts paid by way of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends) from time to time paid by or in respect of the Underlying and will not have any rights against the issuer of the Underlying, any constituents of the Underlying or the issuer of such constituents.

d) The market value of the Securities during their term can fall below the issue price of the Securities.

The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value and the volatility of the Underlying and of its constituents. The level of market volatility is not purely a measurement of the actual volatility, but is largely determined by the prices for instruments which offer investors protection against such market volatility. The prices of these instruments are determined by forces of supply and demand in the options and derivative markets generally. These forces are, themselves, affected by factors such as actual market volatility, expected volatility, macroeconomic factors and speculation. If the value of the Underlying falls and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to fall during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will under normal conditions also fall. If the value of the Underlying rises and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to rise during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will under normal conditions also rise.

Furthermore the market value of the Securities will depend on the remaining term of the Securities to maturity and whether or not the value of any of the constituents of the Underlying has been equal to or below the respective specified lower barrier level.

Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments, as applicable, in respect of the Underlying, changes in the constituents, or in the method of calculating the level of, the Underlying from time to time and market expectations regarding the future performance of the Underlying and the Securities.

[If the Settlement Currency is not the same as the Reference Currency and the Securities are quanto securities, insert: In addition, each value of the Underlying relevant for the determination of the cash amount is deemed to be in the settlement currency, without reference to any exchange rate between the currency of the Underlying and the settlement currency (so-called "quanto securities"). As a result, an investment in the Securities will not involve exchange rate risks. However, the relative interest rate difference between the current interest rate relating to the currency in which each relevant value of the Underlying is deemed to be expressed and the current interest rate relating to the settlement currency of the Securities may influence the price of the Securities.]

[If the Settlement Currency is not the same as the Reference Currency and the Securities are NOT quanto securities, insert: The currency in which each value of the Underlying relevant for the determination of the cash amount is expressed is not the same as the settlement currency of the Securities. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities will involve exchange rate risks.]

[If the Underlying is an index or otherwise calculated by reference to constituents, insert: The value of the Underlying on any day will reflect the value of its constituents on such day. Changes in the composition of the Underlying and factors (including those described above) which either affect or may affect the value of the constituents, will affect the value of the Underlying and therefore may affect the return on an investment in the Securities.]

If, following the purchase of any Securities, the market value of the Securities falls below the purchase price paid for such Securities, investors should not expect the market value of the Securities to increase to or above the purchase price paid by the investor during the remainder of the term of the Securities.

2.35 Basket Linked Twin Win Worst of Certificates

a) The Twin Win Worst of certificates (the "Securities") represent the right to receive payment of a cash amount at settlement which will vary according to the value of the constituents of the Underlying on final valuation day [and during a specified period], as described below in scenarios (A), (B) and (C).

Scenario (A):

If none of the constituents of the Underlying has been [equal to or] lower than the respective lower barrier level [on final valuation day] [during a specified period] and if the value of the basket as a whole on the final valuation day is above or equal to a specified determination level, the cash amount payable at settlement, will be equal to a proportionate or enhanced participation in the positive performance of the basket as a whole.

Scenario (B):

If none of the constituents of the Underlying has been [equal to or] lower than the respective lower barrier level [on final valuation day] [during a specified period] and if the value of the basket as a whole on the final valuation day is lower than a specified determination level, the cash amount payable at settlement, will be equal to a proportionate or enhanced participation in the negative performance of the basket as a whole.

Scenario (C):

If any of the constituents of the Underlying has been [equal to or] lower than the respective lower barrier level [on final valuation day] [during a specified period], the cash amount payable at settlement will reflect the value of the worst performing constituent of the Underlying on the final valuation day divided by the value of such worst performing constituent of the Underlying at issuance.

For these features, however, investors forgo the right to receive any dividends, interest or similar amounts paid in respect of the Underlying.

In each case, the cash amount payable at settlement is subject to deduction of certain taxes, duties and/or expenses.

b) The Securities can provide a positive participation both on the upside and downside performance of the Underlying, provided that, in this latter case, the value of any of the constituents of the Underlying does [neither touch nor] [not] decrease below the respective specified lower barrier level. In particular, the Securities offer the possibility of increased returns by a proportionate or enhanced participation where the value of the Underlying moves upwards above a specified determination level. And even if the value of the Underlying decreases to a certain extent below its value at the issuance of the securities, the securities provide for a positive return. It is only when the value of any of the constituent of the Underlying [on the final valuation day] [during a specified period] has [either touched or] decreased below the respective specified lower barrier level, that the Securities represent an investment similar to a direct investment in the worst performing constituent of the Underlying.

However, for these features, investors forgo the right to receive any dividends, interest or similar amounts paid in respect of the Underlying.

Investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term therefore at settlement achieve a positive return on their initial investment when the value of the Underlying on the final valuation day is greater than or equal to the specified determination level. Even if the value is below the determination level but none of the constituents of the Underlying has ever been [equal to or] below the respective specified lower barrier level [on the final valuation day] [during a specified period], investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term participate positively in the negative performance of the Underlying.

If the value of any of the constituents of the Underlying [on the final valuation day] [during a specified period] has been [equal to or] below the respective specified lower barrier level, investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term can suffer a loss. Such loss can extend to their whole initial investment where the value of the worst performing constituent of the Underlying is zero at the specified final valuation day. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

c) The Securities do not provide a guarantee of payment of a set amount or for the right to receive repayment of the issue price. As described above, the value of any cash amount payable to the investor at settlement depends on the value of the Underlying on the specified final valuation day and of its constituents [on the final valuation day] [during a specified period], which, in the worst-case scenario, can result in the total loss of the initial investment.

There are no periodic interest payments or other distributions (e.g. dividends) payable during the term of the Securities. Accordingly, investors may only receive a positive return on their initial investment if the cash amount received at settlement or after a sale of the Securities in the secondary market during their term exceeds the price originally paid for the Securities. Investors will not receive any amounts paid by way of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends) from time to time paid by or in respect of the Underlying and will not have any rights against the issuer of the Underlying, any constituents of the Underlying or the issuer of such constituents.

d) The market value of the Securities during their term can fall below the issue price of the Securities.

The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value and the volatility of the Underlying and of its constituents. The level of market volatility is not purely a measurement of the actual volatility, but is largely determined by the prices for instruments which offer investors protection against such market volatility. The prices of these instruments are determined by forces of supply and demand in the options and derivative markets generally. These forces are, themselves, affected by factors such as actual market volatility, expected volatility, macroeconomic factors and speculation. If the value of the Underlying falls and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to fall during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will under normal conditions also fall. If the value of the Underlying rises and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to rise during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will under normal conditions also rise.

Furthermore the market value of the Securities will depend on the remaining term of the Securities to maturity and whether or not the value of any of the constituents of the Underlying has been equal to or below the respective specified lower barrier level.

Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments, as applicable, in respect of the Underlying, changes in the constituents, or in the method of calculating the level of, the Underlying from time to time and market expectations regarding the future performance of the Underlying and the Securities.

However, the relative interest rate difference between the current interest rate relating to the currency in which each relevant value of the Underlying is deemed to be expressed and the current interest rate relating to the settlement currency of the Securities may influence the price of the Securities.]

2.36 Single Underlying linked Twin Win Max Certificates

a) The Securities represent an investment similar to a direct investment in the Underlying. In contrast to such a direct investment, however, the Securities enable the investors to [Insert, if the Upside participation factor is above 100%: disproportionately] participate in the highest appreciation in the value of the Underlying above a specified determination level of the Underlying as determined at certain times [during a specified period/on specified days] (the Best Reference Level). Even if the value or average value of the Underlying decreases to a certain extent below its value at the issuance of the securities, the securities provide for [insert if the Issue Price is protected: at least the payment of the issue price.][insert, if the Issue Price is protected and additional participation is provided: a positive return.]

For these features, however, investors forgo the right to receive any dividends, interest or similar amounts paid in respect of the Underlying. [Insert, if a maximum amount is applicable: Furthermore, investors forgo the opportunity to participate in any increase of the Underlying above the maximum amount.]

Investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term therefore achieve a positive return on their initial investment when the value or average value of the Underlying on one or more specified valuation date (s) is greater than [or equal to] the specified determination level. Even if the value or average value is below [or equal to] the determination level but has not been below the specified lower barrier level during a specified period, investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term [insert if the Securities provide for leverage participation in downside: participate positively in the negative performance of the Underlying.]

If the value or average value of the Underlying on the specified valuation date(s) is [equal to or] below the determination level and if the value of the Underlying on any trading day during a specified period has been equal to or below the specified lower barrier level, investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term will receive no positive return and suffer a loss. Such loss can extend to their whole initial investment where the value or average value of the Underlying is zero at this time.

b) The Securities represent the right to receive payment of a cash amount at settlement. The cash amount payable at settlement will vary according to the value or average value of the Underlying on one or more specified valuation date(s) and, on each relevant day during a specified period, as described below in scenarios (A), (B) and (C). [If a maximum amount is specified, insert: In any case the cash amount payable at settlement is limited to the specified maximum amount.]

Scenario A:

If the value or average value of the Underlying has never been equal to or less than the lower barrier level on any trading day during the specified period and the value or average value of the Underlying on the specified valuation date(s) is above [or equal to] a specified determination level, the cash amount payable at settlement, will be equal to [If the Securities have a leveraged upside, insert: a disproportionate participation in] [a percentage of] the highest value or average value of the Underlying on such specified valuation date(s) (the Best Reference Level) [If a maximum Cash Settlement Amount is specified, insert: but limited to the maximum amount.]

Scenario B:

If the value or average value of the Underlying has never been equal to or less than the lower barrier level on any trading day during the specified period and the value or average value of the Underlying on the specified valuation date(s) is [equal to or] less than the determination level, the cash amount payable at settlement will be equal to the sum of such value or average value of the Underlying on the initial valuation date(s) and a specified downside differential amount. The downside differential amount will be a percentage of the difference of the determination level and the lowest value or average value of the Underlying on such specified valuation date(s) (the Worst Reference Level).

Scenario C:

If the value or average value of the Underlying has been equal to or less than the lower barrier level on any trading day during the specified period, the cash amount payable at settlement will be equal to such value or average value of the Underlying on the last occurring valuation day(s).

[If a maximum amount is specified, insert: In any case the cash amount payable at settlement will be limited to the maximum amount].

In each case, the cash amount payable at settlement is subject to deduction of certain taxes, duties and/or expenses.

Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment in the Securities will depend on the value or average value of the Underlying on the specified valuation date(s) and on each relevant day during the specified period. In the worst-case scenario, if the value of the Underlying has been equal or below the lower barrier level during the specified period, and the value of the Underlying on the last occurring valuation date is below the initial reference level, investors that have bought the Securities at their issue date and hold them for their entire term will suffer a loss on their investment. Investors will lose their investment altogether if the value or average value, as applicable, of the Underlying on the specified final valuation day(s) is zero. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

c) The Securities do not provide a guarantee of payment of a set amount or for the right to receive repayment of the issue price. As described above, the value of any cash amount payable to the investor at settlement depends on the value or average value of the Underlying on one or more specified valuation date(s), which, in the worst-case scenario, can result in the total loss of the initial investment. There is no return on the Securities other than the potential cash payment at settlement. In particular there are no periodic interest payments or other distributions (e.g. dividends) payable during the term of the Securities. Accordingly, investors may only receive a positive return on their initial investment if the cash amount received at settlement or after a sale of the Securities in the secondary market during their term exceeds the price originally paid for the Securities. Investors will not receive any amounts paid by way of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends) from time to time paid by or in respect of the Underlying and will not have any rights against the issuer of the Underlying, any constituents of the Underlying or the issuer of such constituents.

d) The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value and volatility of the Underlying. The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value and volatility of the Underlying. The level of market volatility is not purely a measurement of the actual volatility, but is largely determined by the prices for instruments which offer investors protection against such market volatility. The prices of these instruments are determined by forces of supply and demand in the options and derivative markets generally. These forces are, themselves, affected by factors such as actual market volatility, expected volatility, macroeconomic factors and speculation. If the value of the Underlying falls and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to fall during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will under normal conditions also fall. If the value of the Underlying rises and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to rise during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will under normal conditions also rise [insert if maximum cash settlement amount is provided], provided that, in relation to the settlement of the Securities, where the value or average value of the Underlying on one or more specified valuation date(s) exceeds the specified maximum value there will not be any corresponding rise in the value of the Securities.]

Furthermore the market value of the Securities will depend on the remaining term of the Securities to maturity and whether or not the value of the Underlying has been equal to or below the specified lower barrier level or is expected to be greater than [or equal to] the specified determination level and equal to the lower barrier level.

Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments in respect of the Underlying, changes in the method of calculating the value of the Underlying from time to time and market expectations regarding the future performance of the Underlying, its composition and the Securities.

[If the Underlying is an index or otherwise calculated by reference to constituents, insert:

The value of the Underlying on any day will reflect the value of its constituents on such day. Changes in the composition of the Underlying and factors (including those described above) which either affect or may affect the value of the constituents, will affect the value of the Underlying and therefore may affect the return on an investment in the Securities.]

the current interest rate relating to the Reference Currency and the current interest rate relating to the Settlement Currency may influence the price of the Securities.]

[If the Settlement Currency is not the same as the Reference Currency and the Securities are NOT quanto securities, insert:

The Reference Currency for the determination of the Cash Settlement Amount is not the same as the Settlement Currency. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities will involve exchange rate risks.]

In addition, investors will be exposed to exchange rate risk where the Settlement Currency is different from the currency of the investor's home jurisdiction or the currency in which an investor wishes to receive funds.

a) The Securities represent an investment similar to a direct investment in the Underlying in that they reflect the performance of the Underlying between the date of issuance and maturity.

In contrast to such a direct investment, however, the Securities enable investors to profit from the decline of the level of the Underlying on the specified final valuation date(s) compared to its level at or around issuance of the Securities. Also the Securities offer investors a chance to receive, following certain predefined dates (the Barrier Determination Dates) prior to maturity of the Securities, a cash amount fixed for each such date, if the level of the Underlying on a Barrier Determination Date is [equal to or] less than the defined Barrier Level [If Barrier Level is not fixed, insert: in respect of such day]. In such case, the Cash Settlement Amount will reflect the level of the Underlying at or around issuance of the Securities plus a certain premium, which will be higher the later such early redemption occurs. As the Securities will be sold at an issue price reflecting the level of the Underlying at or around issuance, this will allow investors to receive a return for their investment reflecting such premium. For that option, investors forego the opportunity to participate in any further decline in the level of the Underlying beyond the Barrier Level after an early redemption of the Securities as described above has occurred.

Otherwise, investors in the Securities will receive [If Coupon Amount may apply, insert: periodic fixed cash amounts (the Coupon Amount) [if the Underlying ,on specific dates, has been [equal to or] lower than a specified level -] and] a cash amount at maturity, which will inversely reflect the performance of the Underlying at such time [Insert if the Securities provide for full or partial capital protection: , subject to the specified minimum cash amount], unless the level of the Underlying has not [at any time] [on the Valuation Date] [during the defined Barrier Determination Period] been greater than the defined Determination Level, in which case the Cash Settlement Amount will be equal to the level of the Underlying at or around issuance of the Securities.

However, for these features investors will forego the right to receive any dividends, interest or similar amounts paid in respect of the Underlying.

b) The Securities represent the right to receive payment of the Cash Settlement Amount at settlement [If Coupon Amount may apply, insert: and the Coupon Amount[, if any,] on the relevant Coupon Payment Dates. The Coupon Amount will be the amount specified in relation such determination periods [and will depend on whether on a determination period, the Reference Level has been [equal to or] below the specified level].] The Cash Settlement Amount will depend on whether on a Barrier Determination Date, the Barrier Determination Amount has been [equal to or] below the Barrier Level [If Barrier Level is not fixed, insert: in respect of such day] (such event a "Knock-Out Event"). If a Knock-Out Event occurs, the Cash Settlement Amount will be the amount specified in relation to such Barrier Determination Date and the Securities will be redeemed early on the relevant Settlement Date. If a Knock-Out Event does not occur, and if [at any time] [on the Valuation Date] [during the Barrier Determination Period] the level of the Underlying [at the relevant time] has not been [equal to or] greater than the Determination Level, then the Cash Settlement Amount will reflect the level of the Underlying at or about the date of issuance of the Securities [If a Multiplier is used, insert: subject to the Multiplier], otherwise the Cash Settlement Amount will inversely reflect the performance of the Underlying on the Valuation Date [If a Multiplier is used, insert: subject to the Multiplier] [Insert if the Securities provide for full or partial capital protection subject to the specified minimum cash amount]. In particular, the Cash Settlement Amount will be equal to the level of the Underlying at or about the date of issuance of the Securities reduced by an amount calculated as the quotient of (i) the value of the Underlying at final valuation less the value of the Underlying at or about the date of issuance of the Securities, and (ii) the value of the Underlying at or about the date of issuance of the Securities.

[If the Settlement Currency is not the same as the Reference Currency, insert: The Cash Settlement Amount will be converted into the Settlement Currency at the prevailing exchange rate.]

The payment of the Cash Settlement Amount is subject to deduction of certain taxes, duties and/or expenses.

c) Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment in the Securities will depend on the performance of the Underlying and whether a Knock-Out Event occurs. Investors should also note that [If Coupon Amount may apply, insert: , aside from payment of the Coupon Amount[, if any,]] they will not receive any periodic payments in respect of the Securities and will not receive any amounts paid from time to time by way of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends) by or in respect of the Underlying and will not have any rights against the issuer of the Underlying, any constituents of the Underlying or the issuer of any such constituents.

If the level of the Underlying on a Barrier Determination Date is [equal to or] less than the Barrier Level [If Barrier Level is not fixed, insert: in respect of such day], the Securities will be redeemed by payment of the Cash Settlement Amount which will be the amount specified for the occurrence of such case at the respective time; in this case, investors that buy the Securities at the Issue Date and hold the Securities up to when the early redemption occurs will receive a return on the initial investment, which will be higher the later such early redemption occurs. Accordingly, investors will profit more from an investment in the Securities, the later during the term of the Securities the value of the Underlying falls compared to its value at or around issuance of the Securities.

In the absence of a Knock-Out Event, investors that buy the Securities at the Issue Date and hold the Securities for the entire term will receive [If Coupon Amount may apply, insert: , the Coupon Amount[, if any,] and] the Cash Settlement Amount which will inversely reflect the performance of the Underlying at or around settlement, and [If Coupon Amount may apply, insert: apart from what received as Coupon Amount[, if any,]] will thus not achieve a return on the initial investment but will avoid a loss, unless the value of the Underlying [at any time] [on the Valuation Date] [during the Barrier Determination Period] has been [equal to or] greater than the Determination Level. In the latter case, investors will receive such Cash Settlement Amount which will be equal to the value of the Underlying at or about the date of issuance of the Securities reduced by an amount calculated as the quotient of (i) the value of the Underlying at final valuation less the value of the Underlying at or about the date of issuance of the Securities, and (ii) the value of the Underlying at or about the date of issuance of the Securities [Insert if the Securities provide for full or partial capital protection: subject to the specified minimum cash amount. In such a case, if the value of the Underlying on the Valuation Date is [equal to or] greater than the value of the Underlying at or about the Issue Date and the minimum amount is less than the price originally paid for the Securities, investors that have bought the Securities at the Issue Date and hold them for their entire term will make a loss on their investment] [Insert if Securities do not provide for partial or full capital protection: . In such a case, if the value of the Underlying on the Valuation Date is [equal to or] greater than the value of the Underlying at or about the Issue Date, investors that have bought the Securities at the Issue Date and hold them for their entire term will make a loss on their investment and may lose their investment entirely.]. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks and investors should take advice accordingly.

Accordingly, investors may only receive a positive return on their initial investment if the Cash Settlement Amount received on settlement or the amount received after a sale of the Securities in the secondary market during their term exceeds the price originally paid for the Securities.

d) The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value and volatility of the Underlying during the life of the Securities. In general, if the value of the Underlying rises and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Underlying is likely to rise during the remaining life of the Securities or that the value of the Underlying on a Barrier Determination Date is likely to be [equal to or] greater than the Barrier Level [If Barrier Level is not fixed, insert: in respect of such day], all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will be expected to fall. Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments, as applicable, in respect of the Underlying, changes in the basket constituents or in the method of calculating the value of the Underlying from time to time and market expectations regarding the future performance of the Underlying, its composition and the Securities.

[If the Underlying is an index or otherwise calculated by reference to constituents, insert:

In the latter case – i.e., when any constituent of the Underlying has been lower than the respective determination level during the term of the Securities – the investor will receive a cash amount equal to the issue price of the Securities. Otherwise, the cash amount payable will be equal to the sum of the issue price and a specified coupon amount which shall be higher if the worst performing constituent of the Underlying is – on final valuation date - higher than the respective barrier level. For that option the investors forego the opportunity to participate in the positive performance of the constituents of the Underlying but will receive their initial investment – if the Securities were bought at issuance and held for the entire term – back plus – in the best case scenario - a specified coupon].

[If the Settlement Currency is not the same as the Reference Currency, insert: The Cash Settlement Amount will be converted into the Settlement Currency at the prevailing exchange rate.]

The payment of the Cash Settlement Amount is subject to deduction of certain taxes, duties and/or expenses.

A further difference from a direct investment in the Underlying is that investors will forego the right to receive any dividends, interest or similar amounts paid in respect of the Underlying.

The Underlying is a basket consisting of [indices] [shares] [other securities] [fund shares³⁷] [commodities] [currency amounts] [futures]. Accordingly, the value of the Underlying at any time reflects the value of each basket constituent [If the Basketed Constituent Exchange Rate is not the same as the Reference Currency and the Security is not a quanto security, insert: converted into the [Reference Currency/Settlement Currency] at the prevailing exchange rate].

b) The Securities do not provide a guarantee of payment of a set amount or for the right to receive repayment of the issue price.

[If the constituents performance is valued on final valuation date only, insert:

Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment in the Securities will depend on (i) whether the value of each constituent of the Underlying on a specified barrier determination day is equal to or greater than the specified barrier level, [and] (ii) whether the value of the worst performing constituents of the Underlying on final valuation date is lower than the specified determination level [If applicable, insert: and (iii) whether the value of such worst performing constituents of the Underlying on final valuation date is equal to or greater than the respective barrier level].

In particular, if the value of each constituent of the Underlying on a specified barrier determination day is equal to or greater than the specified barrier level [If Barrier Level is not fixed, insert: in respect of such day], the Securities will be redeemed early by payment of an amount specified for the occurrence of such case at the relevant settlement date. In this case, investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities up to when the early redemption even occurs, will receive a return on the initial investment [If applicable, insert: which will be the higher the later such early redemption occurs. Accordingly, investors will profit the more from an investment in the Securities, the later during the term of the Securities the value of the constituents of the Underlying rises compared to their value at or around issuance of the Securities].

In the absence of an early redemption, investors that buy the Securities at the Issue Date and hold the Securities for the entire term will achieve a return on the initial investment if the value of the worst performing constituents of the Underlying on final valuation date is not lower than the specified determination level: in this case, investors will receive a cash amount payable at settlement which will be equal to the sum of the issue price and a specified coupon amount. [If applicable, insert: and the coupon amount shall be higher if the worst performing constituent of the Underlying is equal to or higher than the respective barrier level]. Otherwise the cash amount payable at settlement will reflect the value of the worst performing constituent of the Underlying on the final valuation date divided by [If applicable, insert: a percentage of] the value of such worst performing constituent of the Underlying at [If applicable, insert: or around] issuance [Insert if a Coupon is to be paid: plus a coupon]: in such a case, investors that have bought the Securities at the Issue Date and hold them for their entire term [If no Coupon is to be paid, insert: will make] [If a Coupon is to be paid, insert: are likely to make] a loss on their investment and may lose their investment entirely [If a Coupon is to be paid, insert: except for the coupon,] if such value on the final valuation date is zero. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly].

[If the constituents performance is also monitored during the term of the Securities, insert: Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment in the Securities will depend on whether (i) the value of each constituent of the Underlying on a specified barrier determination day is equal to or greater than the specified barrier level, (ii) the value of any constituent of the Underlying during the term of the Securities has been lower than the respective determination level, and (iii) whether the value of such worst performing constituents of the Underlying on final valuation date is equal to or greater than the respective barrier level.

In particular, if the value of each constituent of the Underlying on a specified barrier determination day is equal to or greater than the specified barrier level [If Barrier Level is not fixed, insert: in respect of such day], the Securities will be redeemed early by payment of an amount specified for the occurrence of such case at the relevant settlement date. In this case, investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities up to when the early redemption even occurs, will receive a return on the initial investment [If applicable, insert: which will be the higher the later such early redemption occurs. Accordingly, investors will profit the more from an investment in the Securities, the later during the term of the Securities the value of the constituents of the Underlying rises compared to their value at or around issuance of the Securities].

In the absence of an early redemption, investors that buy the Securities at the Issue Date and hold the Securities for the entire term will achieve a return on the initial investment if the value of none of the constituents of the Underlying during the term of the Securities has been lower than the respective determination level and if the worst performing constituent of the Underlying on final valuation date is equal to or higher than its determination level: in this case, investors will receive a cash amount payable at settlement which will be equal to the sum of the issue price and a specified coupon amount. [If applicable, insert: and the coupon amount shall be higher if the worst performing constituent of the Underlying is equal to or higher than the respective barrier level]. Otherwise the cash amount payable at settlement will either reflect the value of the initial investment only (when any constituents of the Underlying during the term of the Securities has been lower than the respective determination level) or will - when the worst performing constituent is on final valuation date lower than the respective determination level - reflect the worst performing constituent of the Underlying on the final valuation date divided by [If applicable, insert: a percentage of] the value of such worst performing constituent of the Underlying at [If applicable, insert: or around] issuance [Insert if a Coupon is to be paid: plus a coupon]: in such latter case, investors that have bought the Securities at the Issue Date and hold them for their entire term [If no Coupon is to be paid, insert: will make] [If a Coupon is to be paid, insert: are likely to make] a loss on their investment and may lose their investment entirely [If a Coupon is to be paid, insert: except for the coupon,] if such value on the final valuation date is zero. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly].

There is no return on the Securities other than the potential cash settlement payable at settlement. Accordingly, investors may only receive a positive return on their initial investment if the cash amount received at settlement (either due to an early redemption of the Securities or upon exercise of the Securities on the specified exercise date) or the amount received after a sale of the Securities in the secondary market during their term exceeds the price originally paid for the Securities. Investors will not receive any periodic payments in respect of the Securities and will not receive any amounts paid from time to time by way of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends) by or in respect of the Underlying and will not have any rights against the issuer of the Underlying, any constituents of the Underlying or the issuer of any such constituents.

c) The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value and the volatility of the Underlying during the life of the Securities. If the value of the constituents of the Underlying falls and/or there is a market perception that the value of the constituents of the Underlying is likely to fall or that the value of the constituents of the Underlying is not likely to be equal to or greater than the specified barrier level on any specified barrier determination day during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will be expected to fall. On the same basis, if the value of the constituents of the Underlying rises and/or there is a market perception that the value of the constituents of the Underlying is likely to rise or that the value of the constituents of the Underlying is likely to be equal to or greater than the specified barrier level on any specified barrier determination day during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will be expected to rise.

Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments (as applicable) in respect of the Underlying, changes in the method of calculating the value of the Underlying from time to time and market expectations regarding the future performance of the Underlying, its composition and the Securities.

[If the Basket Constituent Currencies are not the same as the Reference Currency and/or the Reference Currency is not the same as the Settlement Currency and no currency conversion based on the exchange rate is applied on either level or both levels, insert:

[Insert if no currency conversion based on the exchange rate is applied between the Basket Constituent Currencies and the Reference Currency:

(i) Each value of the Basket Constituents used to determine the value of the Underlying is deemed to be expressed in the currency of the Underlying, without reference to any exchange rates between such currencies. In addition, The value of the Underlying, which is used for the determination of the Cash Settlement Amount is deemed to be in the Settlement Currency, without reference to any exchange rate between the Reference Currency and the Settlement Currency (so-called "quanto securities"). As a result, an investment in the Securities will not involve exchange rate risks.]

In addition, investors will be exposed to exchange rate risk where the Settlement Currency is different from the currency of the investor's home jurisdiction or the currency in which an investor wishes to receive funds.

Rights under the Securities

The Securities represent the right to receive payment of the cash amount at settlement. The Securities may also be redeemed early following the occurrence of an Early Redemption Event.

The Cash Settlement Amount payable on the Settlement Date (whether due to an Early Redemption Event or otherwise) will be linked to the average value of Holding Company (less the average value of the shareholdings in each of the Holdings held by the Share Company of Holding Company, converted into the Settlement Currency by reference to the applicable Exchange Rate) on the specified Valuation Dates, subject to the deduction of the Trading Cost, Final Transfer Duty and the Borrow Cost, and subject also to an adjustment to take into account any dividends paid and/or received. If the average value of Holding Company (less the average value of the shareholding in Holdings held by the Share Company of Holding Company) on the specified Final Valuation Dates is less than the level of those values at or about the time of issuance of the Securities and/or if the Reference Currency in which Holding Company is denominated has depreciated relative to the Settlement Currency and/or the Reference Currency in which any of the Holdings is denominated has appreciated relative to the Settlement Currency and/or if the Trading Cost and/or the Borrow Cost have increased since the Issue Date, the Cash Settlement Amount may be less than the price which an investor purchasing the Securities on the Issue Date would have paid for the Securities.

Economic nature of the Securities

General

The Securities represent an investment similar to a direct investment in the Underlying. The Cash Settlement Amount payable to an investor in the Securities on the Settlement Date will be equal to the average value of Holding Company (less the average value of the shareholding in Holdings held by the Share Company of Holding Company, converted into the Settlement Currency by reference to the applicable Exchange Rate) on the specified Valuation Dates, minus the Trading Cost, Final Transfer Duty and the Borrow Cost, and subject also to an adjustment to take into account any dividends paid and/or received. If and to the extent that the average value of Holding Company (less the average value of the shareholding in Holdings held by the Share Company of Holding Company) on the specified Valuation Dates is less than the level of those values at or about the time of issuance of the Securities and/or if the Reference Currency in which Holding Company is denominated has depreciated relative to the Settlement Currency and/or the Reference Currency in which any of the Holdings is denominated has appreciated relative to the Settlement Currency and/or if the Trading Cost and/or the Borrow Cost have increased since the Issue Date, the Cash Settlement Amount may be less than the price which an investor purchasing the Securities on the Issue Date would have paid for the Securities. In circumstances where Holding Company is worthless and/or if the Reference Currency in which Holding Company is denominated has depreciated significantly relative to the Settlement Currency and/or if the Trading Cost and/or the Borrow Cost have increased significantly, the Cash Settlement Amount may be zero and the Securities will be worthless. This may be true even though the value of the Underlying and/or the value of any such currency relative to the Settlement Currency may have been greater at different times during the life of the Securities. Should the value of Holding Company and/or the Reference Currency in which Holding Company is denominated on the specified Final Valuation Dates appreciate relative to their corresponding values on the Issue Date and/or the value of any Holdings and/or the Reference Currency in any Holdings is denominated on the specified Final Valuation Dates depreciate relative to their corresponding values on the Issue Date, investors who purchase the Securities on the Issue Date may gain from the investment, subject to deduction of the Trading Cost and the Borrow Cost.

Adjustment Provisions

Where the issuer of any [constituent Share included in the Underlying]/[Underlying] thereof is subject to certain corporate and other events, which may include a merger, take-over or tender, de-listing, nationalisation, insolvency or other events that significantly affect the value or liquidity of such constituent Share (including political or fiscal events which may directly or indirectly adversely affect any hedging arrangement of the Issuer or its hedge provider or which may directly or indirectly increase the cost of the hedging arrangements of the Issuer or its hedge provider) the Issuer may adjust the Conditions of the Securities or cancel the Securities. If the Securities are cancelled, the Issuer will pay an amount to each investor which amount shall be the fair market value of a Security taking into account the particular event, less the cost to the Issuer and/or any of its affiliates and/or any hedging party of unwinding any underlying related hedging arrangements.

Market Value of the Securities during their term

The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value and volatility of the Underlyings. If the value of the Holding Company falls and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Holding Company is likely to fall during the remaining life of the Securities, and/or the values of the Holdings rise and/or there is a market perception that the values of the Holdings are likely to rise during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will under normal conditions fall. If the value of the Holding Company rises and/or there is a market perception that the value of the Holding Company is likely to rise during the remaining life of the Securities, and/or the values of the Holdings fall and/or there is a market perception that the values of the Holdings are likely to fall during the remaining life of the Securities, all other factors being equal, the market value of the Securities will under normal conditions rise. Volatility will be affected by a wide range of factors, including economic, political and market conditions. Other factors which may influence the market value of the Securities include interest rates, potential dividend or interest payments in respect of the Underlyings (if applicable), changes in the method of calculating the level of the Underlyings from time to time (if applicable) and market expectations regarding the future performance of the Underlyings and the Securities.

II. RISK FACTORS

A. ISSUER RISK FACTORS

An investment in debt securities, including certificates, and money market papers issued by Deutsche Bank bears the risk that Deutsche Bank is not able to fulfil its obligations created by the issuance of the securities on the relevant due date.

In order to assess the risk, prospective investors should consider all information provided in the Registration Document and consult with their own professional advisers if they consider it necessary.

The risk related to an Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations created by the issuance of debt securities and money market papers is described by reference to the credit ratings assigned by independent rating agencies. A credit rating is an assessment of the solvency or credit-worthiness of creditors and/or bond-issuers according to established credit review procedures. These ratings and associated research help investors analyse the credit risks associated with fixed-income securities by providing detailed information of the ability of issuers to meet their obligations. The lower the assigned rating is on the respective scale, the higher the respective rating agency assesses the risk that obligations will not, not fully and/or not timely be met. A rating is not a recommendation to buy, sell or hold any notes issued and may be subject to suspension, reduction or withdrawal at any time by the assigning rating agency. A suspension, reduction or withdrawal of any rating assigned may adversely affect the market price of the notes issued.

Deutsche Bank is rated by Standard & Poor's Ratings Services, a division of The McGraw-Hill Companies, Inc. ("S&P"), Moody's Investors Service, Inc. ("Moody's") and by Fitch Ratings Limited ("Fitch", together with S&P and Moody's, the "Rating Agencies").

As of the Publication Date of this document, the ratings assigned by the Rating Agencies to debt securities and money market papers of Deutsche Bank were as follows:

by S&P:	long-term rating:	A+ short-term rating:	A-1
	outlook:	stable

S&P defines:

A: An obligation rated "A" is somewhat more susceptible to the adverse effects of changes in circumstances and economic conditions than obligations in higher-rated categories. However, the obligor's capacity to meet its financial commitment on the obligation is still strong.

Long-term ratings by S&P are divided into several categories ranging from "AAA", reflecting the strongest creditworthiness, over categories "AA", "A", "BBB", "BB", "B" "CCC", "CC", "C" to category "D", reflecting that an obligation is in payment default. The ratings from "AA" to "CCC" may be modified by the addition of a plus ("+") or minus ("-") sign to show relative standing within the major rating categories.

A-1: A short-term obligation rated "A-1" is rated in the highest category by S&P. The obligor's capacity to meet its financial commitment on the obligation is strong. Within this category, certain obligations are designated with a plus sign ("+"). This indicates that the obligor's capacity to meet its financial commitment on these obligations is extremely strong.

Short-term ratings by S&P are divided into several categories ranging from "A-1", reflecting the strongest creditworthiness, over categories "A-2", "A-3", "B", "C" to category "D" reflecting that an obligation is in payment default.

by Moody's:	long-term rating:	Aa3
	short-term rating:	P-1
	outlook:	stable

Moody's defines:

Aa3: Obligations rated "Aa" are judged to be of high quality and are subject to very low credit risk.

Moody's long-term obligation ratings are divided into several categories ranging from "Aaa", reflecting the highest quality with minimal credit risk, over categories "Aa", "A", "Baa", "Ba", "B", "Caa", "Ca" to category "C", reflecting the lowest rated class of bonds which are typically in default with little prospect for recovery of principal or interest. Moody's appends numerical modifiers 1, 2 and 3 to each generic rating classification from "Aa" through "Caa". The modifier 1 indicates that the obligation ranks in the higher end of its generic rating category; the modifier 2 indicates a mid-range ranking; and the modifier 3 indicates a ranking in the lower end of that generic rating category.

P-1: Issuers rated Prime-1 have a superior ability to repay short-term debt obligations.

Moody's short-term ratings are divided into several categories ranging from "P-1", reflecting a superior ability of an Issuer to repay short-term debt obligations, over categories "P-2" and "P-3" to category "NP", reflecting that an Issuer does not fall within any of the Prime rating categories.

by Fitch:	long-term rating:	AA-
	short-term rating:	F1+
	outlook:	negative

Fitch defines:

AA-: A rating of "AA" denotes a very low expectation of credit risk. It indicates a very strong capacity for timely payment of financial commitments. This capacity is not significantly vulnerable to foreseeable events.

Fitch's long-term ratings are divided into several major categories ranging from "AAA", reflecting the highest credit quality, over categories "AA", "A", "BBB", "BB", "B", "CCC, CC, C" to category "DDD, DD, D", reflecting that an obligor has defaulted on some or all of its obligations. A plus ("+") or minus ("-") sign may be appended to a rating to denote the relative status within major rating categories. Such suffixes are not added to the "AAA" category or to categories below "CCC".

F1+: A rating of "F1" indicates the strongest capacity for timely payment of financial commitments. It may have an added plus ("+") sign to denote any exceptionally strong credit feature.

Fitch's short-term ratings are divided into several categories ranging from "F1", reflecting the highest credit quality, over categories "F2", "F3", "B", "C" to category "D" which denotes an actual or imminent payment default.

The credit ratings referred to in this prospectus have been issued by the Rating Agencies, each of which has applied to be registered under Regulation EC/1060/2009 of the European Union and the Council of 16 September 2009 on credit rating agencies (the "CRA Regulation"). In general, European regulated investors are restricted from using a rating for regulatory purposes if such rating is not issued by a credit rating agency established in the European Union and registered under Regulation (EU) No 1060/2009 unless the rating is provided by a credit rating agency operating in the European Union before 7 June 2010 which has submitted an application for registration in accordance with the CRA Regulation and such registration is not refused.

Rating of Subordinated Obligations

If Deutsche Bank enters into subordinated obligations, these obligations may be rated lower because, in the case of an insolvency or liquidation of the Bank, the claims and interest claims resulting from these obligations are subordinate to those claims of creditors of the Bank that are not also subordinated. Deutsche Bank will disclose the ratings of subordinated obligations (if any).

Further risk factors relating to the Issuer are incorporated by reference in the Base Prospectus.

B. PRODUCT SPECIFIC RISK FACTORS

1. Introduction

The discussion below is intended to describe various risk factors associated with an investment in the Securities. No investment should be made in the Securities until after careful consideration of all those factors which are relevant in relation to the Securities. The Issuer believes that the factors described below represent the principal risks inherent in investing in the Securities, but does not represent that the statements below regarding risks of holding the Securities are exhaustive. Prospective investors should also read the detailed information set out elsewhere in this document and reach their own views prior to making any investment decision.

Prospective investors should also consider carefully the description of the Underlying (as defined below) in the sections "Product Conditions" and "Information relating to the Underlying" and the further information which is available in relation to the Underlying.

This document is not, and does not purport to be, investment advice.

An investment in the Securities involves risks. These risks may include, among others, equity market, bond market, foreign exchange, interest rate, market volatility and economic, political and regulatory risks and any combination of these and other risks. Some of these are briefly discussed below. Prospective purchasers should be experienced with respect to transactions in instruments such as the Securities and in the Underlying. Prospective purchasers should understand the risks associated with an investment in the Securities and should only reach an investment decision after careful consideration, with their legal, tax, accounting and other advisers, of (a) the suitability of an investment in the Securities in the light of their own particular financial, tax and other circumstances, (b) the information set out in this document and (c) the Underlying.

The return (if any) an investor may receive is based on the performance of the Underlyings and, if applicable, movements in exchange rates (being the rate of exchange between the currencies of the various Underlyings which are the Reference Currencies and the currency in which the Securities are settled which is the Settlement Currency). The Securities may decline in value [Insert if the Securities provide for a capital protection: and investors should note that, whatever their investment in the Securities, the cash amount due at maturity will only be equal to specified minimum cash amount]. [Insert if relevant: The shorter the remaining term of the Securities is, the higher the risk of decline in value of the Securities.]

An investment in the Securities should only be made after assessing the direction, timing and magnitude of potential future changes in the value of the Underlying, and/or in the composition or method of calculation of the Underlying, as the return of any such investment will be dependent, inter alia, upon such changes. More than one risk factor may have simultaneous effect with regard to the Securities such that the effect of a particular risk factor may not be predictable. In addition, more than one risk factor may have a compounding effect which may not be predictable. No assurance can be given as to the effect that any combination of risk factors may have on the value of the Securities.

[Commodity Underlying

Prospective investors should note that where the Underlying or constituents of the Underlying comprise commodities or contracts on commodities, the Underlying may be particularly and regularly affected by disruption events relating to such contracts or commodities. Disruption events may have a negative effect on the value of the Securities as the scheduled date of valuation and Settlement Date in respect of the Securities might be delayed.

The time lag between the scheduled valuation date for the Securities and the Settlement Date, may be significantly longer should the Calculation Agent determine that a Market Disruption Event has occurred. As a consequence investors have to bear the market risk of the Underlying or any of its constituents during such time lag.

In particular it should be noted that a Market Disruption Event may occur in relation to the Underlying if, for example, there is a material suspension of trading or a limit on trading of any transaction entered into or asset purchased for the purposes of hedging any exposure to a commodity index or any of its constituents or sub-constituents.

Postponement of Calculation of Index Level

Securityholders should note that in certain circumstances a Reference Level for the Underlying will not be calculated. This is expected to be the case on an Index Reconstitution Day on which certain disruption events (as these are defined in the Index Description referred to in "Information relating to the Underlying", below) occur. The Index Sponsor will calculate the Index Level when the relevant disruption event ceases and may postpone calculation of the Index Level for up to eight Business Days.

As a consequence the liquidity of the Securities during this time may be adversely affected. Securityholders will have to bear the market risk that liquidity may be limited during the relevant days on which a disruption event occurs in relation to the Index and calculation of the Index Level is postponed.

Publication of Reference Level on the occurrence of disruption events

The Index Sponsor may publish an Index Level on a Business Day on which certain disruption events occur in relation to the Underlying if such Business Day is not an Index Reconstitution Day (as these terms are defined in "Information relating to the Underlying", below).

Even though such Index Level may be published, Securityholders should note that for the purposes of the Securities, the Index Level on such Business Day (1) may not be a level by reference to which the Securities are traded and (2) the Securities may be subject to certain disruption or adjustment procedures as a result. On the cessation of the relevant disruption event, the Index Sponsor may publish a fixing level of the Index in respect of each day that a disruption event occurred on the web page <http://index.db.com/indexfixing> or any successor page or service (the "Fixing Page"). Securityholders should note that any such fixing level published on the Fixing Page may be relevant for the purposes of trading the Securities and may be used by the Calculation Agent to determine the Reference Level for such day.

As a result, Securityholders should note that liquidity in the Securities may be limited or may not exist, even if an Index Level is published on each disrupted day.]

Additional Risk Factors are set out under the headings "C. General Risk Factors relating to the Securities" and "D. Market Factors". In addition prospective investors should also review section "E. Conflicts of Interest".

2. Rights under the Securities

2.1 Single Underlying Linked [X-PERT] [Perpetual] Certificates (Type 1)

Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment in the Securities will depend upon the performance of the Underlying. [Insert if Cash Settlement applies: If the Final Reference Level is less than the [value of the Underlying at or around issuance of the Securities] [Insert if the Securities provide for a Minimum Amount: and the Minimum Amount is less than the amount of the investor's initial investment] [Insert if Physical Settlement applies: If the value which the investor is able to realise in relation to the Physical Settlement Amount delivered at settlement is less than the amount of the investor's initial investment], investors that buy the Securities at the Issue Date and hold them for their entire term will suffer a loss [Insert if no Minimum Amount applies: and such loss can extend to their whole initial investment where [Insert if Cash Settlement applies: the value or average value of the Underlying on the Valuation Date(s)] [Insert if Physical Settlement applies: the value of the specified assets which comprise the Physical Settlement Amount] is zero. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

2.2 Basket Linked [X-PERT] [Perpetual] Certificates (Type 1)

Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment in the Securities will depend upon the performance of the Underlying. [Insert if Cash Settlement applies: If the Final Reference Level is less than the [value of the Underlying at or around issuance of the Securities] [Insert if the Securities provide for a Minimum Amount: and the Minimum Amount is less than the amount of the investor's initial investment] [Insert if Physical Settlement applies: If the value which the investor is able to realise in relation to the Physical Settlement Amount delivered at settlement is less than the amount of the investor's initial investment], investors that buy the Securities at the Issue Date and hold them for their entire term will suffer a loss [Insert if no Minimum Amount applies: and such loss can extend to their whole initial investment where [Insert if Cash Settlement applies: the value or average value of the Underlying on the Valuation Date(s)] [Insert if Physical Settlement applies: the value of the specified assets which comprise the Physical Settlement Amount] is zero. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

2.3 Single Underlying Linked [Capped] Outperformance Certificates

Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment in the Securities will depend upon the Final Reference Level. Investors that buy the Securities at the Issue Date and hold the Securities for the entire term will receive no return on their investment, and may suffer a loss, if the Final Reference Level is [If Cash Settlement only, insert: equal to or] less than the Initial Reference Level. Such loss can extend to their whole initial investment where the Final Reference Level is zero. 2.7 Single Underlying Linked Best Chance Certificates

Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment in the Securities will depend upon the performance of the Underlying. If the Initial Amount is less than the Issue Price of the Securities and, if the difference between the Best Chance Reference Level and the Initial Amount is relatively small, investors may not fully participate in rises in the value or average value of the Underlying, and may suffer a loss even if the value or average value of the Underlying rises.

Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

Even if the value of the Underlying is never equal to or less than the specified reference level at any relevant time during the relevant specified period, investors may still not make any investment gain if the highest or equal highest value of the Underlying observed at the relevant times during the relevant specified period is such that, taking into account the specified participation factor and the multiplier, the cash amount payable on settlement does not exceed the purchase price of the Securities. Accordingly, while in some respects an investment in the Securities bears a similar market

Prospective investors should note that, if they buy Securities on the Issue Date and hold them over the entire term, they will incur the total loss of the initial investment if, (i) no Knock-Out Event occurs, i.e. the Relative Performance of the Underlyings on a specified Barrier Determination Date is lower than or [equal to] the pre-determined Barrier Level, (ii) the Relative Performance of the Underlying on the pre-determined Valuation Date is [equal to or] [lower than] the Determination Level and (iii) on the date of final valuation the value of the Underlying B [since the issue of the Securities] [since the immediately preceding Barrier Determination Date (or before the First Barrier Determination Date, since the issue of the Securities)] has performed at least 100 per cent better than the Underlying A [since the issue of the Securities] [since the immediately preceding Barrier Determination Date (or before the First Barrier Determination Date) since the issue of the Securities)].

The Securities do not guarantee the payment of a specified amount or the right to the repayment of the issue price. The Securities do not provide for any return other than the possible cash payment at maturity. In particular, no periodic interest payments or other distributions (e.g. dividends) will be made during the term of the Securities. Accordingly, investors may only receive a positive return on their original investment if the cash amount received on settlement or after a sale of the Securities in the secondary market during the term of the Securities exceeds the price originally paid for the Securities. Investors do not receive any payments in the form of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends), which are paid on or with reference to the Underlyings and have no claim against the issuers of the Underlyings with reference to constituents of the Underlyings or against the issuers of these constituents.

2.28 Single Underlying linked Twin & Go Certificates

Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment in the Securities will depend on the value of the Underlying on the specified final valuation day and on each relevant day during the specified period. In the worst-case scenario, if the final value of the Underlying is less than the specified determination level and has been equal to or smaller than the lower barrier level during the specified period, investors that have bought the Securities at their issue date and have held them for their entire term will suffer a loss on their investment. Investors will lose their investment altogether if the value, as applicable, of the Underlying on the specified final valuation day is zero. 2.29 Basket linked TRIS Certificates

If the value of each constituent of the Underlying on a specified barrier determination day is equal to or greater than the specified barrier level [If Barrier Level is not fixed, insert: in respect of such day], the Securities will be redeemed by payment of a specified amount for the occurrence of such case at the respective time; in this case, investors that buy the Securities at the issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term will receive a return on the initial investment, which will be the higher the later such early redemption occurs. Accordingly, investors will profit the more from an investment in the Securities, the later during the term of the Securities the value of the constituents of the Underlying rises compared to their value at or around issuance of the Securities.

In the absence of an early redemption, investors that buy the Securities at the Issue Date and hold the Securities for the entire term will achieve a return on the initial investment if the value of none of the constituents of the Underlying during the term has been equal to or lower than the specified determination level. In the latter case, investors will receive a cash amount payable at settlement which will reflect the greater of a specified amount and the product of the issue price and the value of the worst performing constituent of the Underlying on the final valuation date divided by the value of such worst performing constituent of the Underlying at issuance. Otherwise the cash amount payable at settlement will reflect the value of the worst performing constituent of the Underlying on the final valuation date divided by the value of such worst performing constituent of the Underlying at issuance. In such a case, if the value of the worst performing constituent of the Underlying on the final valuation date is below the value of such worst performing constituent of the Underlying at issuance, investors that have bought the Securities at the Issue Date and hold them for their entire term will make a loss on their investment and may lose their investment entirely if such value on the final valuation date is zero. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

In these circumstances, investors will not benefit from any increase in the Final Reference Level to the extent that this would result in the Cash Settlement Amount exceeding the Maximum Amount.] They will receive no positive return, but will receive their invested capital (less any subscription fees) back, where the Final Reference Level is less than the Protection Level, and the Protection Level is equal to 100 per cent of the Initial Reference Level. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly..

In these circumstances investors will not benefit from any increase in the Final Reference Level to the extent that this would result in the Cash Settlement Amount exceeding the Maximum Amount.] They will receive no positive return, but will receive their invested capital (less any subscription fees) back, where the Final Reference Level is less than the Protection Level, and the Protection Level is equal to the 100 per cent of the Initial Reference Level. Investors that buy the Securities at the Issue Date and hold the Securities for the entire term will suffer a loss where the Final Reference Level is less than the Protection Level and the Protection Level is less than the 100 per cent of the Initial Reference Level. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

2.32 Single Underlying Linked Equity Protection with CAP and Rebate Certificates

Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment in the Securities will depend upon the performance of the Underlying. If the Final Reference Level is less than the Initial Reference Level and the Barrier Determination Amount has not been greater than the Barrier Level, investors that have bought the Securities at the Issue Date and hold them for their entire term will receive [If repayment of Issue Price is provided or the Minimum Amount is less than the Issue Price, insert: no] [If the Minimum Amount is greater than the Issue Price, insert: a limited] return on their investment. However, if the Barrier Determination Amount has been greater than the Barrier Level, investors will receive a fixed amount equal to the Rebate Amount, regardless of the Underlying performance.

2.33 Bonus Worst of Certificates

Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment will depend on the value of the constituent of the Underlying with the lowest performance [on the [last occurring] valuation date] [at any time during the barrier determination period] [on any barrier determination day] divided by the value of such constituent at or about the date of issuance of the Securities as well as, for the Bonus Amount to be payable at settlement, on the constituents of the Underlying not to have been [equal to or] lower than the specified determination level. Investors will receive no return on their investment, and may suffer a loss, if any of the constituents of the Underlying [at any time during the specified barrier determination period] [on any specified barrier determination day] [on [any] valuation date] has been [equal to or] lower than a specified determination level and if the value on the final valuation date of the less performing constituent of the Underlying is below the value of such constituent of the Underlying at or around issuance of the Securities. Such loss can extend to their whole initial investment when such final reference level is zero. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

[If the Securities provide for a Maximum Amount, insert: Investors will not benefit from any increase in the value of the constituents of the Underlying above the level which would give rise to a Cash Settlement Amount equal to the Maximum Amount.]

2.34 Basket Linked Twin & Go Certificates

The Securities can provide a positive participation both on the upside and downside performance of the Underlying, provided that, in this latter case, the value of any of the constituents of the Underlying does [neither touch nor] [not] decrease below the respective specified lower barrier level. In particular, the Securities offer the possibility of increased returns by a proportionate or enhanced participation where the value of the Underlying moves upwards above a specified determination level. And even if the value of the Underlying decreases to a certain extent below its value at the issuance of the securities, the securities provide for a positive return. It is only when the value of any of the constituent of the Underlying [on the final valuation day] [during a specified period] has [either touched or] decreased below the respective specified lower barrier level, that the Securities represent an investment similar to a direct investment in the worst performing constituent of the Underlying.

Moreover, the Securities will be redeemed automatically and a specified cash amount will be paid if the value of each constituent of the Underlying on [one or more specified determination days] [any day during the specified barrier determination period] is [equal to or] greater than the respective specified barrier level. The specified cash amount will be higher the later such early redemption occurs. The specified cash amount will be paid for the occurrence of such case at the respective time: in this case, investors that buy the Securities at their issue date will receive a return on the initial investment, which will be the higher the later such early redemption occurs. Accordingly, investors will profit the more from an investment in the Securities, the later during the term of the Securities the value of the Underlying rises compared to its value at or around issuance of the Securities.

However, for these features, investors forgo the right to receive any dividends, interest or similar amounts paid in respect of the Underlying.

Unless early redeemed as provided above, investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term therefore at settlement achieve a positive return on their initial investment when the value of the Underlying on the final valuation day is greater than or equal to the specified determination level. Even if the value is below the determination level but none of the constituents of the Underlying has ever been [equal to or] below the respective specified lower barrier level [on the final valuation day] [during a specified period], investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term participate positively in the negative performance of the Underlying.

If the value of any of the constituents of the Underlying [on the final valuation day] [during a specified period] has been [equal to or] below the respective specified lower barrier level, investors that buy the Securities at their issue date and hold the Securities for the entire term can suffer a loss. Such loss can extend to their whole initial investment where the value of the worst performing constituent of the Underlying is zero at the specified final valuation day. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

2.36 Single Underlying Linked Twin Win Max Certificates

Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment in the Securities will depend on the value or average value of the Underlying on the specified valuation date(s) and on each relevant day during the specified period. In the worst-case scenario, if the value of the Underlying has been equal or below the lower barrier level during the specified period, and the value of the Underlying on the last occurring valuation date is below the initial reference level, investors that have bought the Securities at their issue date and hold them for their entire term will suffer a loss on their investment. Investors will lose their investment altogether if the value or average value, as applicable, of the Underlying on the specified final valuation day(s) is zero.

Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

2.37 Single Underlying Linked Reverse Express Certificates

Investors should also note that [If Coupon Amount may apply, insert: , aside from payment of the Coupon Amount[, if any,]] they will not receive any periodic payments in respect of the Securities and will not receive any amounts paid from time to time by way of interest or other distributions (e.g. dividends) by or in respect of the Underlying and will not have any rights against the issuer of the Underlying, any constituents of the Underlying or the issuer of any such constituents.

In the absence of a Knock-Out Event, investors that buy the Securities at the Issue Date and hold the Securities for the entire term will receive [If Coupon Amount may apply, insert: , the Coupon Amount[, if any,] and] the Cash Settlement Amount which will inversely reflect the performance of the Underlying at or around settlement, and [If Coupon Amount may apply, insert: apart from what received as Coupon Amount[, if any,]] will thus not achieve a return on the initial investment but will avoid a loss, unless the value of the Underlying [at any time] [on the Valuation Date] [during the Barrier Determination Period] has been [equal to or] greater than the Determination Level. 1. Return on the Securities

The Securities represent the right to receive payment of the Cash Settlement Amount on the Settlement Date. The Securities may also be redeemed early by the Issuer following the occurrence of an Early Redemption Event as described below (Issuer Redemption Right).

Prospective investors should note that the return (if any) on their investment in the Securities will depend upon the performance of the Underlying and whether an Early Redemption Event occurs.

In the absence of an Early Redemption Event, the Cash Settlement Amount payable on the Settlement Date will be linked to the average value of Holding Company (less the average value of the shareholding in Holdings held by the Share Company of Holding Company, converted into the Settlement Currency by reference to the applicable Exchange Rate) on the specified Valuation Dates, subject to the deduction of the Trading Cost and the Borrow Cost, and subject also to an adjustment to take into account any dividends paid and/or received. If the average value of Holding Company (less the average value of the shareholding in Holdings held by the Share Company of Holding Company) on the specified Valuation Dates is less than the level of those values at or about the time of issuance of the Securities and/or if the Reference Currency in which Holding Company is denominated has depreciated relative to the Settlement Currency and/or if the Reference Currency in which any of the Holdings is denominated has appreciated relative to the Settlement Currency and/or if the Trading Cost and/or the Borrow Cost has increased since the Issue Date, investors who purchase the Securities on the Issue Date will receive a limited return or no return on their investment on the Settlement Date, or may lose their part or all of their investment. Accordingly, an investment in the Securities involves a number of risks which may include, without limitation, a similar market risk to a direct investment in the Underlying and investors should take advice accordingly.

2. Issuer Redemption Right

The Issuer has the unconditional and irrevocable right to redeem all the Securities upon the occurrence of an Early Redemption Event.

The Early Redemption Amount payable on the Early Redemption Date will be the Cash Settlement Amount.

3. The Securityholders will not have any rights relating to the Shares comprised in the Underlying

The Securityholders will not be entitled to any rights with respect to the Shares comprised in the Underlying (including, if applicable and without limitation, voting rights or rights to receive dividends or other distributions in respect thereof). The Securities represent obligations of Deutsche Bank AG London only. The Share Company of each Share comprised in the Underlying is not involved in any way in this offering and has no obligations relating to the Securities or the Securityholders.

4. The value of the Securities may be affected by political and economic events

Investments in emerging markets may be subject to greater risks than investments in well developed markets, as a result of a number of considerations, including potentially significant legal and political risks. Such considerations may include greater risk of market shutdown, greater governmental involvement in the economy, less complete and reliable official data and, in some cases, greater volatility, greater liquidity risks, greater unpredictability and higher risk of civil or international conflict or war. Emerging markets may also be exposed to greater political and economic risks, such as the possibility of nationalisation, expropriation, political changes, social instability or other developments which could adversely affect the economies of such nations or the foreign exchange rates.

The securities markets of emerging market countries have witnessed significant volatility in the past. The value of the constituents of the Underlying may be influenced by this volatility. The recurrence of these or similar problems could adversely affect the value and liquidity of the constituents of the Underlying, which in turn may affect the liquidity and trading price of the Securities.

In recent years, the currencies of many emerging market countries have experienced considerable volatility and depreciation. Exchange rate fluctuations may affect the value of the Securities and may also affect the value of the constituents of the Underlying.

5. The value of the Securities will be affected by a number of factors

The value of the Securities will be affected by the supply of and demand for the Securities and other factors, some of which are independent of the financial condition and results of operations of the Issuer. These factors include:

- (a) the value of the Underlying, which will in turn be affected by economic and political conditions generally, the financial condition and results of operations of the relevant Share Company and conditions generally in the industry(ies) and geographical region(s) in which the relevant Share Company operates;
- (b) the dividend yield of the relevant Share; and
- (c) the Exchange Rate (if applicable).

6. Fees, costs and various deductions

Investors should be aware that the performance of the Securities will be negatively affected by a number of fees, costs, charges and/or other deductions, including the Trading Cost (as defined in Product Condition 1) and the Borrow Cost (as defined in Product Condition 1).

In addition, investors should be aware that the return on their investment in the Securities will be negatively affected by the deduction of a Trailer Fee and/or Placement Fee, if applicable.

Certain other fees may be deducted in respect of hedging arrangements utilised by the Issuer and/or any Affiliate and/or any Hedging Party in respect of the Securities (in each case, if applicable to the relevant Securities).

7. Calculation Agent Discretion

The Conditions of the Securities confer on the Calculation Agent the right to make determinations, calculations and adjustments in relation to the Securities and related matters, which involve, in certain circumstances, a degree of discretion. Whilst the Calculation Agent is required to act reasonably and in good faith in exercising its discretion there can be no assurance that the exercise of any such discretion will not reduce the Cash Settlement Amount or Early Redemption Amount (as applicable) and/or the value of the Securities.

The Calculation Agent may in certain circumstances make adjustments to the Conditions of the Securities (without the consent of the Securityholders) or cancel the Securities in its sole discretion. If the Securities are cancelled, the Issuer will pay an amount to each investor which amount shall be the fair market value of a Security taking into account the particular event, less the cost to the Issuer and/or any of its affiliates and/or any hedging party of unwinding any underlying related hedging arrangements.

C. GENERAL RISK FACTORS RELATING TO THE SECURITIES

1. No Payments until Settlement

[If Coupon Amount may apply, insert: Apart from payments of the periodic Coupon Amounts, if any] Prospective investors should note that no periodic interest payments or other distributions will be made during the term of the Security. A realisation in the secondary market of the Securities may be the only return potentially available to the investor prior to settlement of the Securities. However, investors should note the risk factors described under the headings "Market value" and "The Securities may be Illiquid" below in this regard.

2. Early Termination for Extraordinary Reasons, Illegality and Force Majeure

[If the Issuer determines that, for reasons beyond its control, the performance of its obligations under the Securities has become illegal or impractical in whole or in part for any reason, or the Issuer determines that, for reasons beyond its control, it is no longer legal or practical for it to maintain its hedging arrangements with respect to the Securities for any reason, the Issuer may at its discretion and without obligation terminate the Securities early. If the Issuer terminates the Securities early, the Issuer will, if and to the extent permitted by applicable law, pay the holder of each such Security an amount determined by the Calculation Agent to be its fair market value notwithstanding the illegality or impracticality less the cost to the Issuer of unwinding any underlying related hedging arrangements.]

[In case of admission of the Securities to the SeDeX market of the Italian Stock Exchange: If the Issuer determines that, for reasons beyond its control, the performance of its obligations under the Securities has become illegal or, further to changes in the law and tax regulations, impractical in whole or in part, the Issuer may at its discretion and without obligation terminate the Securities early. If the Issuer terminates early the Securities, the Issuer will, if and to the extent permitted by applicable law, pay the holder of each such Security an amount equal to its fair market value notwithstanding the illegality or impracticality, as all determined by the Calculation Agent in good faith and in accordance with the reasonable market practice.]

3. Market Disruption Events, Adjustments and Early Termination of the Securities

If so indicated in the Conditions, the Calculation Agent may determine that a market disruption event has occurred or exists at a relevant time. Any such determination may delay valuation in respect of the Underlying which may have an effect on the value of the Securities and/or may delay settlement in respect of the Securities.

In addition, if so indicated in the Conditions, the Calculation Agent may make adjustments to the Conditions to account for relevant adjustments or events in relation to the Underlying including, but not limited to, determining a successor to the Underlying or its issuer or its sponsor, as the case may be. In addition, in certain circumstances, the Issuer may terminate the Securities early following any such event. In this case, in relation to each Security, the Issuer will pay an amount, if any, determined as provided in the Conditions.

Prospective purchasers should review the Conditions to ascertain whether and how such provisions apply to the Securities and what constitutes an event or relevant adjustment event.

4. Taxation

Potential purchasers and sellers of the Securities should be aware that they may be required to pay stamp taxes or other documentary charges in accordance with the laws and practices of the country where the Securities are transferred.

Securityholders are subject to the provisions of General Condition 6 and payment and/or delivery of any amount due in respect of the Securities will be conditional upon the payment of certain taxes, duties and/or expenses as provided in the Product Conditions.

Potential purchasers who are in any doubt as to their tax position should consult their own independent tax advisers. In addition, potential purchasers should be aware that tax regulations and their application by the relevant taxation authorities change from time to time. Accordingly, it is not possible to predict the precise tax treatment which will apply at any given time.

5. Exercise Notice and Certifications

If the Securities are subject to provisions concerning delivery of an exercise notice and such notice is received by either the relevant principal agent with a copy to the clearing agent after the latest time specified in the Conditions, it will not be deemed to be duly delivered until the next following business day. Such deemed delay may in the case of cash settled Securities increase or decrease the cash amount payable at settlement from what it would have been but for such deemed delivery. In the case of Securities which are exercisable on one day only or only during an exercise period, any exercise notice, if not delivered by the latest time specified in the Conditions, shall be void.

The failure to deliver any certifications required by the Conditions could result in the loss or inability to receive amounts or deliveries otherwise due under the Securities. Prospective purchasers should review the Conditions to ascertain whether and how such provisions apply to the Securities.

Securities not exercised in accordance with the Conditions will expire worthless. Prospective purchasers should review the Conditions to ascertain whether the Securities are subject to automatic exercise, and when and how an exercise notice may be validly delivered.

6. Time Lag after Exercise

Where the Securities are to be settled by a cash payment, then, upon their exercise, there may be a time lag between the time exercise occurs and the time the applicable cash amount relating to such exercise is determined. Any such delay between the time of exercise and the determination of the cash amount will be specified in the Conditions. However, such delay could be significantly longer, particularly in the case of a delay in exercise of such cash settled Securities arising from, as described below, any daily maximum exercise limitation or, as described below, upon the determination by the calculation agent that an event has occurred at any relevant time. The applicable cash amount could decrease or increase from what it would have been but for such delay.

Prospective purchasers should review the Conditions to ascertain whether and how such provisions apply to the Securities.

7. Re-offer Price

The Issuer may enter into distribution agreements with various financial institutions and other intermediaries as determined by the Issuer (collectively the "Selling Agents"). The Selling Agents will agree, subject to the satisfaction of certain conditions, to subscribe for the Securities at a price equivalent to or below the Issue Price. The Selling Agents have agreed to bear certain costs in connection with the issue of the Securities. A periodic fee may be payable to the Selling Agents in respect of all outstanding Securities up to and including the Expiry Date at a rate as determined by the Issuer. Such rate may vary from time to time. The Selling Agents will agree to comply with the selling restrictions set out in the document as amended and supplemented by the additional selling restrictions set out in the relevant distribution agreements and final terms of the prospectus.

The Issuer has the right to close the offering of the Securities prior to the end of the subscription period in case of adverse market conditions, as determined by the Issuer in its reasonable discretion, including but not limited to increased equity market volatility and increased currency exchange rate volatility.

8. [Additional Product Specific Risk Factors

CONSIDERATION OF INCLUSION OF ADDITIONAL RISK FACTORS DUE TO PARTICULAR NATURE OF UNDERLYING OR TERMS OF THE SECURITIES]

D. MARKET FACTORS

1. Market Factors

1.1 Valuation of the Underlying

An investment in the Securities involves risk regarding the value of the Underlying or of any basket constituents comprising the Underlying. The value of the Underlying or of any basket constituents may vary over time and may increase or decrease by reference to a variety of factors which may include corporate actions, macroeconomic factors and speculation.

1.2 The Historical Performance of the Underlying or of any Basket Constituents is not an Indication of Future Performance

The historical value (if any) of the Underlying or of any basket constituents does not indicate the future performance of the Underlying or of any basket constituents. Changes in the value of the Underlying or of any basket constituents will affect the trading price of the Securities, but it is impossible to predict whether the value of the Underlying or of any basket constituents will rise or fall.

1.3 The Basis of Calculating the Level of the Underlying or of any Basket Constituents may Change over Time

The basis of calculating the level of the Underlying or of any basket constituents may from time to time be subject to change (as described in "Information relating to the Underlying") which may affect the market value of the Securities at any time and therefore the cash amount payable on settlement.

[If the Underlying is an index or otherwise calculated by reference to constituent, insert.]

1.4 The Value of the Constituents of the Underlying will Affect its Value

The value of the Underlying on any day will reflect the value of the constituents on such day. Changes in the composition of the Underlying and factors (including those described in these Risk Factors) which either affect or may affect the value of the basket constituents will affect the value of the Securities. The historical value (if any) of the constituents does not indicate their future performance. Where the value of the constituents is determined in a different currency to the settlement currency of the Securities, investors may be exposed to exchange rate risk.]

1.5 Exchange Rate Risk

Prospective investors should be aware that an investment in the Securities may involve exchange rate risks. For example, the settlement currency of the Securities may be different from the currency of an investor's home jurisdiction or the currency in which an investor wishes to receive funds.

Exchange rates between currencies are determined by factors of supply and demand in the international currency markets which are influenced by macroeconomic factors, speculation and central bank and government intervention or other political factors (including the imposition of currency controls and restrictions). Fluctuations in exchange rates may affect the value of the Securities and any amounts payable in respect of the Securities.

1.6 Interest Rate Risk

An investment in the Securities may involve interest rate risk where there are fluctuations in the interest rates payable on deposits in the settlement currency of the Securities. This may influence the market value of the Securities.

Interest rates are determined by factors of supply and demand in the international money markets which are influenced by macroeconomic factors, speculation and central bank and government intervention or other political factors. Fluctuations in short term and/or long term interest rates may affect the value of the Securities. If the Underlying [is/includes] a fixed income security, the value of the Securities is expected to be particularly affected by interest rate fluctuations.]

2. Market Value

The market value of the Securities during their term depends primarily on the value and the volatility of the Underlying or of any basket constituents and the level of interest rates for instruments of comparable maturities.

The level of market volatility is not purely a measurement of the actual volatility, but is largely determined by the prices for instruments which offer investors protection against such market volatility. The prices of these instruments are determined by forces of supply and demand in the options and derivative markets generally. These forces are, themselves, affected by factors such as actual market volatility, expected volatility, macroeconomic factors and speculation.

Interest rate changes generally have the same impact on the value of the Securities as for fixed rate bonds: Rising interest rates will under normal conditions result in a lower value of the Securities, falling interest rates in a higher value of the Securities.

[If the Securities are capital protected, insert: The value of the Securities during their term will under normal market conditions not fall below the value of a [If the Securities do not provide for a fixed interest insert: zero coupon] bond with comparable maturity [If the Underlying consists of an index or otherwise calculated by reference to constituents insert:

The value of the Underlying on any day will reflect the value of its constituents on such day. Changes in the composition of the Underlying and factors (including those described above) which either affect or may affect the value of the constituents, will affect the value of the Underlying and therefore may affect the return on an investment in the Securities.]

3. Certain Hedging Considerations

Certain risks apply to purchasers that acquire the Securities for hedging purposes.

Prospective purchasers intending to purchase the Securities for the purpose of hedging their exposure to the Underlying or any basket constituents should recognise the risks of utilising the Securities in such manner. No assurance is or can be given that the value of the Securities will correlate with movements in the value of the Underlying or any basket constituents and the composition of the Underlying or any basket constituents may change over time. Furthermore, it may not be possible to liquidate the Securities at a price which directly reflects the value of the Underlying or any basket constituents. Therefore, there can be no assurance as to the level of any correlation between the return on an investment in the Securities and the return on a direct investment in the Underlying or any basket constituents.

Hedging transactions in order to limit the risks associated with the Securities might not be successful.

4. The Securities may be Illiquid

It is not possible to predict if and to what extent a secondary market may develop in the Securities or at what price the Securities will trade in the secondary market or whether such market will be liquid or illiquid. If so specified in this document, application has been made to list or quote or admit to trading the Securities on the stock exchange(s) or quotation system(s) specified. If the Securities are so listed or quoted or admitted to trading, no assurance is given that any such listing or quotation or admission to trading will be maintained. The fact that the Securities may be so listed or quoted or admitted to trading does not necessarily lead to greater liquidity than if they were not so listed or quoted or admitted to trading.

If the Securities are not listed or quoted or admitted to trading on any stock exchange or quotation system, pricing information for the Securities may be more difficult to obtain and the liquidity of the Securities may be adversely affected. The liquidity of the Securities may also be affected by restrictions on offers and sales of the Securities in some jurisdictions.

The Issuer may, but is not obliged to, at any time purchase Securities at any price in the open market or by tender or private agreement. Any Securities so purchased may be held or resold or surrendered for cancellation. Since the Issuer may be the only market-maker in the Securities, the secondary market may be limited. The more limited the secondary market is, the more difficult it may be for holders of the Securities to realise value for the Securities prior to settlement of the Securities.

In case of admission of the Securities to the SeDeX market of the Italian Stock Exchange, the Issuer in its capacity of market-maker will undertake to display and reset within 5 days bid and offer prices that do not differ by more than the maximum spread (the so called "bid/ask spread") as indicated in the Instructions to the Listing Rules of Borsa Italiana S.p.A. for a quantity at least equal to the minimum trade size, as all determined by Borsa Italiana S.p.A..

5. Creditworthiness of the Issuer

The value of the Securities is expected to be affected, in part, by investors' general appraisal of the Issuer's creditworthiness. Any reduction in the creditworthiness of the Issuer could result in a reduction in the value of the Securities. If a bankruptcy proceeding is commenced in respect to the Issuer, the return to a investor in the Securities may be limited and any recovery will likely be substantially delayed.

E. CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

1. Transactions Involving the Underlying

The Issuer and its affiliates may from time to time engage in transactions involving the Underlying for their proprietary accounts and for accounts under their management. Such transactions may have a positive or negative effect on the value of the Underlying and consequently upon the value of the Securities. As used in this section "Conflicts of Interest", references to the Underlying shall be deemed to include any of its constituents, if applicable.

2. Acting in other Capacities

The Issuer and its affiliates may from time to time act in other capacities with regard to the Securities, such as calculation agent, agent and/or index sponsor. Such functions can allow the Issuer to determine the composition of the Underlying or to calculate its value, which could raise conflicts of interest where securities or other assets issued by the Issuer itself or a group company can be chosen to be part of the Underlying, or where the Issuer maintains a business relationship with the issuer of such securities or assets.

3. Issuing of other Derivative Instruments in respect of the Underlying

The Issuer and its affiliates may issue other derivative instruments in respect of the Underlying and the introduction of such competing products into the marketplace may affect the value of the Securities.

4. Conducting of Hedging Transactions

The Issuer may use all or some of the proceeds received from the sale of the Securities to enter into hedging transactions. The Issuer believes that such hedging activity will under normal circumstances not have a material impact on the value of the Securities. However, it cannot be assured that the Issuer's hedging activities will not affect such value. The value of the Securities might in particular be affected by the liquidation of all or a portion of the hedging positions (a) at or about the time of the maturity or expiration of the Securities or (b), if the Securities provide for a knock-out, knock-in or a similar feature, at the time when the price or value of the Underlying approaches the relevant price or level for the knock-out, knock-in or other feature.

5. Issue Price

The issue price charged for the Securities can, in addition to loading charges, management or other fees charged, comprise a premium on the original mathematical ("fair") value of the Securities which is not visible to investors. Such premium is determined by the Issuer in its discretion and can differ from premiums charged by other issuers for comparable securities.

6. Market-Making for the Securities

The Issuer, or an agent on its behalf, may act as market-maker for the Securities. In such market-making, the Issuer or its agent will, to a large extent, determine the price of the Securities itself. The prices quoted by such market-maker will usually not correspond to the prices which would have formed without such market-making and in a liquid market.

Circumstances taken into account by the market-maker when setting the quoted bid-offer prices in the secondary market notably include the Securities' fair value, which, among other things, depends on the value of the Underlying, as well as a certain bid-offer spread targeted by the market-maker. The market-maker will in addition regularly take into account a loading charge originally raised for the Securities and any fees or costs which at maturity of the Securities are to be subtracted from the cash amount (including management, transaction or other fees charged on the basis of the Product Conditions). Furthermore, the prices quoted in the secondary market will be influenced, for example, by a premium on the Securities' original value contained in their issue price (see under 5. above), and by dividends paid or received by the Underlying, or its constituents, or other proceeds which, due to the Securities' design, are economically attributable to the Issuer.

The bid-offer spread for the Securities will be set by the market-maker based on supply and demand for the Securities and certain revenue considerations.

Certain costs, like for example management fees charged on the basis of the Product Conditions, are in many cases not taken out of the quoted prices on a consistent basis over the term of the Securities (pro rata temporis), but are subtracted from the Securities' fair value completely at an earlier point in time, as determined by the market-maker in its discretion. The same applies for a premium contained in the issue price and for dividends and other proceeds of the Underlying which, due to the Securities' design, are economically attributable to the Issuer, which often are not subtracted when the Underlying, or its constituents, are traded "ex dividend", but at an early stage of the Securities' term based on expected dividends for the entire term or a certain time span. The rate at which such costs are subtracted depends, inter alia, on the net flow back of Securities to the market-maker.

Subsequently, the prices quoted by the market-maker can substantially differ from the fair value of the Securities, or the value to be expected economically on the basis of the factors mentioned above, at the relevant time. In addition, the market-maker can at any time alter the methodology used to set the quoted prices, e. g. increase or decrease the bid-offer spread.

7. Market-Making for the Underlying

The Issuer may, in certain cases, act as a market-maker for the Underlying, which might in particular be the case when the Issuer has also issued the Underlying. By such market-making, the Issuer will, to a large extent, determine the price of the Underlying, and consequently influence the value of the Securities itself. The prices quoted by the Issuer in its market-making function will not always correspond to the prices which would have prevailed without such market-making and in a liquid market.

8. Acting as Underwriter or otherwise for the issuer of Underlying

The Issuer and its affiliates may also act as underwriter in connection with future offerings of the Underlying or may act as financial adviser to the issuer of an Underlying or in a commercial banking capacity for the issuer of an Underlying. Such activities could present certain conflicts of interest and may affect the value of the Securities.

9. Obtaining of Non-public Information

The Issuer and/or its affiliates may acquire non-public information with respect to the Underlying, and neither the Issuer nor any of its affiliates undertakes to disclose any such information to any Securityholder. In addition, one or more of the Issuer's affiliates may publish research reports with respect to the Underlying. Such activities could present conflicts of interest and may affect the value of the Securities.

B. GENERAL DESCRIPTION OF THE PROGRAMME

1. General Information

The Base Prospectus published by the Issuer contains information on securities from the 'Certificates' product category, and on a variety of individual product types within this category with differing economic conditions, which may be issued under the Base Prospectus (see section 3 below for an overview of the relevant securities).

A base prospectus does not generally contain all the information necessary for an investment decision, since the design of the respective security is not complete until immediately prior to the start of the offering, rather than on publication of the base prospectus. The base prospectus thus presents a summary of the design possibilities for the securities which may be issued under the respective base prospectus.

Investors who require information about a certain security type with certain economic conditions from the Base Prospectus will find the relevant information herein if they read the sections of the document that do not specify particular security types and economic conditions, and if, when reading the sections containing information on individual security types and economic conditions, they read only those parts relating to the security type and underlying economic conditions in question. The latter sections use square brackets to indicate those parts which only apply to certain security types and economic conditions. These sections begin with instructions in italics for the respective scope of application.

Before reading the Base Prospectus, investors should first examine the table of contents. This shows which sections contain general information and which contain specific information on certain security types and economic conditions, and indicates the page numbers on which each section begins.

No investment decision should be made until the final terms published for the relevant Securities have been read in detail.

2. Information on the Conditions of the Securities

The relevant rights under the securities which can be issued under the Base Prospectus are laid down in the respective Conditions of the Securities. These consist of the Product Conditions, which are individually designed for each security, and the General Conditions, which contain general rules relating to the securities covered by the Base Prospectus and which apply, in the version set out in the Base Prospectus, to all securities.

Within the Product Conditions, Product Condition 1 - Definitions - contains the definitions applicable for the entire Product Conditions. This section being a definitions section, it should be read only in connection with the other Product Conditions, i.e. wherever defined terms are used in such parts, the applicable definitions would be looked up in Product Condition 1. Investors should read only the definitions for the security type they are interested in and within such definitions only such parts which contain economic features which are found to be interesting (such parts are, as mentioned above, indicated by square brackets and instruction language).

Product Condition 2 - Form - contains the relevant rules with regard to the form and transferability of the Securities.

Product Condition 3 - Rights and Procedure - determines the right of the holder of the security under the security to receive - payment of a cash amount, interest and/or physical delivery of an asset. Furthermore Product Condition 3 contains rules on the exercise of the securities and if applicable the exercise procedure as well as further rules in connection with this or the right to receive payment or delivery. The Base Prospectus contains different templates for Product Condition 3, which are applicable depending on the type of security (see below under 3a)) and economic features of each security (i.e. exercise type, exercise requirement type, settlement type, issuer redemption type, features, see below under 3b)). Investors should read only the templates applicable for the product type and the economic features, which they are interested in.

Product Condition 4 - Adjustment Provisions - contains rules relating to the occurrence of a market disruption and relating to adjustments to the securities in case of the occurrence of certain other events. The Base Prospectus contains different templates of Product Condition 4, relating to the type of underlying, to which the securities make reference; investors should read only the template applicable for the type of underlying which they are interested in.

Product Conditions 5 - Governing Law and Place of Jurisdiction - determines the governing law, which can be German or English law, as well as the jurisdiction.

3. Types and Categories of Securities and Economic Features Covered by the Base Prospectus

2. Taxation in Luxembourg

The following summary is based on the laws presently in force in Luxembourg, though it is not intended to be, nor should it be construed to be, legal or tax advice. Prospective investors in the Securities should therefore consult their own professional advisers as to the effects of state, local or foreign laws, including Luxembourg tax law, to which they may be subject.

2.1 Non-resident Holders of Securities

Under Luxembourg general tax laws in force at the date of this Base Prospectus, there is no withholding tax on payments of principal, premium or interest made to non-residents holders of Securities, nor on accrued but unpaid interest in respect of the Securities, nor is any Luxembourg withholding tax payable upon redemption or repurchase of the Securities held by non-resident holders of Securities.

However, under the Luxembourg laws of 21 June 2005 (the "Laws"), implementing the Council Directive 2003/48/EC of 3 June 2003 on taxation of savings income in the form of interest payments and ratifying the treaties entered into by Luxembourg and certain dependent and associated territories of EU Member States (the "Territories"), payments of interest or similar income made or ascribed by a paying agent established in Luxembourg to or for the immediate benefit of an individual beneficial owner or a residual entity, as defined by the Laws, which are resident of, or established in, an EU Member State (other than Luxembourg) or one of the Territories will be subject to a withholding tax unless the relevant recipient has adequately instructed the relevant paying agent to provide details of the relevant payments of interest or similar income to the fiscal authorities of his/her/its country of residence or establishment, or, in the case of an individual beneficial owner, has provided a tax certificate issued by the fiscal authorities of his/her country of residence in the required format to the relevant paying agent. Where withholding tax is applied, it will be levied at a rate of 20 per cent. for the three-year period starting 1 July 2008 and at a rate of 35% per cent. thereafter. Responsibility for the withholding of the tax will be assumed by the Luxembourg paying agent. Payments of interest under the Securities coming within the scope of the Laws would at present be subject to withholding tax of 20 per cent.

2.2 Resident Holders of Securities

Under Luxembourg general tax laws currently in force, there is no withholding tax on payments of principal, premium or interest made to Luxembourg resident holders of Securities, nor on accrued but unpaid interest in respect of Securities, nor is any Luxembourg withholding tax payable upon redemption or repurchase of Securities held by Luxembourg resident holders of Securities.

However, under the Luxembourg law of 23 December 2005 (the "Law") payments of interest or similar income made or ascribed by a paying agent established in Luxembourg to or for the benefit of an individual beneficial owner who is resident of Luxembourg will be subject to a withholding tax of 10 per cent. Such withholding tax will be in full discharge of income tax if the beneficial owner is an individual acting in the course of the management of his/her private wealth. Responsibility for the withholding of the tax will be assumed by the Luxembourg paying agent. Payments of interest under the Securities coming within the scope of the Law would be subject to withholding tax of 10 per cent.

3. Stamp Duty and Withholding Tax in Germany

The following paragraphs, which are intended as a general guide on stamp duty and withholding tax only, are based on legislation and German tax authority practice at the date of this Base Prospectus. They summarise certain aspects of German taxation only which may be applicable to the Securities but do not purport to be a comprehensive description of all tax considerations which may be relevant to a decision to purchase, hold, transfer or redeem the Securities. In particular, this general summary does not consider any specific facts or circumstances that may apply to a particular purchaser. Potential purchasers of the Securities who are in any doubt about their tax position on purchase, ownership, transfer or exercise or non-exercise or redemption, as the case may be, of any Security should consult their own tax advisers.

The purchase or sale of a Security is not subject to stamp, value added or similar taxes or charges in Germany, regardless of the place of issuance, execution and delivery of the Security.

Payments in respect of interest (if any) made in respect of a Security to its holder if made by an Agent having its specified office in Germany or any other financial institution in Germany or if made by the Issuer from Germany may be subject to withholding tax.

4. Stamp Duty and Withholding Tax in the United Kingdom

The following paragraphs, which are intended as a general guide only, are based on legislation and United Kingdom HM Revenue & Customs practice at the date of this Base Prospectus. They summarise certain aspects of United Kingdom taxation only and customs which may be applicable to the Securities but do not purport to be a comprehensive description of all tax considerations which may be relevant to a decision to purchase the Securities. In particular, this general summary does not consider any specific facts or circumstances that may apply to a particular purchaser. Potential purchasers of the Securities who are in any doubt about their tax position on purchase, ownership, transfer or exercise or non-exercise or redemption, as the case may be, of any Security should consult their own tax advisers.

A purchaser or a Security may be required to pay stamp taxes and other charges in accordance with the laws and practices of the country of purchase in addition to the purchase price of such Security.

Potential purchasers of the Securities should note that the Global Security may constitute an instrument which is subject to United Kingdom stamp duty on issue by reference to the amount of the consideration paid or the value of the Security. However, the Global Security will be executed and delivered outside the United Kingdom and should not be brought into the United Kingdom save for the purposes of enforcement. So long as the Global Security is held outside the United Kingdom, it will not be necessary to pay United Kingdom stamp duty or interest or penalties in connection therewith. However, if the Global Security were brought into the United Kingdom (for example, for enforcement purposes), United Kingdom stamp duty may be required to be paid on the Global Security (subject to the availability of exemptions and reliefs). In addition, where the Global Security is executed outside the United Kingdom is subsequently brought into the United Kingdom and stamped, interest on the amount of the unpaid stamp duty will be payable in addition to the stamp duty in respect of the period from the expiry of 30 days from the date of execution of the Global Security to the date of stamping, unless the Global Security is stamped within 30 days of execution, in which case no interest is payable. No penalties are payable where the Global Security is executed outside the United Kingdom and subsequently brought into the United Kingdom and stamped, provided the Global Security is stamped within 30 days of being brought into the United Kingdom. If the Global Security is subject to United Kingdom stamp duty, it would be inadmissible in evidence in civil (as opposed to criminal) proceedings in an English court unless duly stamped. It should be noted however, that the United Kingdom HM Revenue & Customs have recently indicated that cash-settled warrants are not subject to stamp duty on issue. The Securities have some of the features of warrants (such as the requirement for there to be an exercise before any amounts become payable to holders). However, other features of the Securities are less warrant-like (such as the Issuer's right to redeem). It is possible that HM Revenue & Customs would be prepared to treat the Securities as warrants for stamp duty purposes, in which case they would not be stampable on issue.

The comments above relate to United Kingdom stamp duty on issue only.

Any interest payable on the Securities, any original issue discount in respect of the Securities and/or any proceeds on redemption or exercise of the Securities will not be subject to United Kingdom withholding tax.

the Exercise Date would thereby fall after the last occurring Exercise Date, such last occurring Exercise Date shall be deemed to be the Exercise Date. 4.1.3.1 If an Index is:

4.1.3.1.1 not calculated and announced by the relevant Index Sponsor but is calculated and published by a successor sponsor (the "Successor Sponsor") acceptable to the Calculation Agent; or

4.1.3.1.2 replaced by a successor index using, in the determination of the Calculation Agent, the same or a substantially similar formula for and method of calculation as used in the calculation of the Index,

4.1.3.2 If:

4.1.3.2.1 on or prior to any date with respect to which the Calculation Agent is required by the Product Conditions to determine the level of an Index, the relevant Index Sponsor or, if applicable, the Successor Sponsor (i) makes or announces that it will make a material change in the formula for or the method of calculating that Index or in any other way materially modifies that Index (other than a modification prescribed in that formula or method to maintain that Index in the event of changes in constituent stock and capitalisation and other routine events) (an "Index Modification") or (ii) permanently cancels that Index (an "Index Cancellation") or (iii) fails to calculate and announce that Index (an "Index Disruption") and, in each case, Product Condition 4.1.3.1.1 or 4.1.3.1.2 does not apply, then the Calculation Agent shall substitute that Index (the "Disrupted Index") in the Basket with a Replacement Basket Constituent (as defined below) on the effective date of such event. Accordingly:

- (i) the Replacement Basket Constituent and its sponsor will be deemed a "Basket Constituent" and a "Index Sponsor" respectively,
- (ii) the Calculation Agent will adjust the Coupon Reference Level for such Replacement Basket Constituent so that the ratio of the Specified Spot Price for that Replacement Basket Constituent to the Coupon Reference Level for the Replacement Basket Constituent equals the ratio of the Specified Spot Price for the Disrupted Index to the Coupon Reference Level for the Disrupted Share immediately prior to the occurrence of such event, and, if necessary, the Calculation Agent will adjust any other relevant terms accordingly;

"Replacement Basket Constituent" means, in the determination of the Calculation Agent in its sole discretion, the index [...] provided that such index is not an Index.

4.1.3.3. The Calculation Agent shall, as soon as practicable after receipt of any written request to do so, advise a Securityholder of any determination made by it pursuant to this Product Condition 4 which occurs on or before the date of receipt of such request. Terms with initial capital letters which are not defined in this Product Condition 4 shall have the meanings ascribed to them in Product Condition 1.

4.1.2 Market Disruption

The Calculation Agent shall give notice as soon as practicable to the Securityholders in accordance with General Condition 4 if a Market Disruption Event has occurred on any date with respect to which the Calculation Agent would, but for the occurrence of a Market Disruption Event, have been required by the Product Conditions to determine the level of an Index.

"Market Disruption Event" means:

- (i) where the Reference Source for a Principal Index, Sub-Index or constituent of any Principal Index or Sub-Index is an exchange, a trading system or a quotation system as determined by the Calculation Agent,

4.1.2.1

- (A) where the relevant Index is not a Multi-Exchange Index, the failure of a relevant Reference Source or any Related Exchange to open for trading during its regular trading session on any Trading Day; or

- (B) where the relevant Index is a Multi-Exchange Index,

- 4.1.2.1.1 the failure of the relevant Index Sponsor to publish the level of the Index; or

- 4.1.2.1.2 the failure of any Related Exchange to open for trading during its regular trading session,

- (A) of any suspension of or limitation imposed on trading by any relevant Reference Source(s) or Related Exchange(s) or otherwise and whether by reason of movements in price exceeding limits permitted by the relevant Reference Source(s) or Related Exchange(s) or otherwise:

- 4.1.2.2.1 relating to any Index Constituents of the relevant Index; or

- 4.1.2.2.2 in any options contracts or futures contracts on or relating to the relevant Index on any Related Exchange;

- (B) of any event (other than an event as described in 4.1.2.3 below) that disrupts or impairs (as determined by the Calculation Agent) the ability of market participants in general (i) to effect transactions in relation to, or to obtain market values for the relevant Index Constituents of the relevant Index on the relevant Reference Source(s) or (ii) to effect transactions in, or to obtain market values for, options contracts or futures contracts on or relating to a relevant Index on any Related Exchange(s) for such Index or such Index Constituent, as the case may be; or

4.1.2.3 the closure on any Exchange Business Day of any relevant Reference Source(s) relating to any Index Constituents of the relevant Index, or any Related Exchange(s) prior to its Scheduled Closing Time unless such earlier closing time is announced by such Reference Source(s) or Related Exchange(s), as the case may be, at least one hour prior to the earlier of (aa) the actual closing time for the regular trading session on such Reference Source(s) or Related Exchange(s) on such Exchange Business Day and (bb) the submission deadline (if applicable) for orders to be entered into the Reference Source or Related Exchange system for execution at the Relevant Time on such Exchange Business Day.

4.1.2.4 a general moratorium is declared in respect of banking activities in any Relevant Country; or

4.1.2.5 Subject to Condition 4.1.4.2.4, in relation to a Reference Currency for a Principal Index, a Sub-Index or an Index Constituent which is different from the Settlement Currency, the occurrence at any time of an event which the Calculation Agent determines would have the effect of preventing, restricting or delaying the Issuer and/or any of its Affiliates from:

- (A) converting such Reference Currency into the Settlement Currency through customary legal channels or transferring within or from any Relevant Country either currency, due to the imposition by such Relevant Country of any controls restricting or prohibiting such conversion or transfer, as the case may be;
- (B) converting such Reference Currency into the Settlement Currency at a rate at least as favourable as the rate for domestic institutions located in any Relevant Country;
- (C) delivering such Reference Currency or Settlement Currency from accounts inside any Relevant Country to accounts outside such Relevant Country; or
- (D) transferring such Reference Currency or Settlement Currency between accounts inside any Relevant Country or to a party that is a non-resident of such Relevant Country; or

4.1.2.6 Subject to Product Condition 4.1.4.2.4, a Relevant Country (a) imposes any controls or announces its intention to impose any controls or (b)(i) implements or announces its intention to implement or (ii) changes or announces its intention to change the interpretation or administration of any laws or regulations, in each case which the Calculation Agent determines is likely to affect the Issuer and/or any of its Affiliates ability to acquire, hold, transfer or realise such Index Constituent or to otherwise effect transactions in relation to such Index;

(ii) where the Reference Source for an Index or an Index Constituent is not an exchange, a trading system or a quotation system as determined by the Calculation Agent,

- (a) the Reference Level published by the Reference Source in the manner specified in the definition of Reference Level in Product Condition 1 is stated by the Reference Source to be subject to a market disruption or other event affecting the price or value (or an element of such price or value) of such Index or Index Constituent;
- (b) it is not possible, for reasons beyond the reasonable control of the Calculation Agent, to determine the price or value (or an element of such price or value) of such Index or Index Constituent by reference to such Reference Source in the manner specified in the definition of "Reference Level" in Product Condition 1 or in "Information relating to the Underlying", or otherwise according to the rules or normal or accepted procedures for the determination of such price or value (whether due to non-publication of such price or value or otherwise); or

- (c) any event occurs, as described in 4.1.2.4., 4.1.2.5. and/or 4.1.2.6 above in relation to any such Index or Index Constituent; and if, in the determination of the Calculation Agent, any of the foregoing is material and in determining what is "material" the Calculation Agent may have regard to such circumstances as it in its reasonable discretion deems appropriate, including any hedging arrangements of the Issuer and/or any of its Affiliates in relation to the Securities.

4.1.3 Adjustments to the Index

The Calculation Agent shall give notice as soon as practicable to the Securityholders in accordance with General Condition 4 of any determination made by it pursuant to paragraph 4.1.3.1, 4.1.3.2 or 4.1.3.3 below.

4.1.3.1 Upon the occurrence of a Market Disruption Event in respect of a Principal Index or Sub-Index (an "Affected Index") on any Business Day (a "Disrupted Day"), the Issuer may require the Calculation Agent to:

4.1.3.1.1 determine the Reference Level for such Affected Index to be any subsequently published level of such Affected Index in respect of such Disrupted Day, whether such publication is a correction of the originally published Reference Level, or a publication of the level for such Affected Index and such Disrupted Day on a "fixing page" or other internet page published by the sponsor of such Affected Index (details of which, if known, are indicated in the definition of "Underlying" in Product Condition 1 above); or

4.1.3.1.2 calculate the Reference Level for the Affected Index on the first Business Day on which such Market Disruption Event or Additional Disruption Event ceases to exist (such day, the "Disruption End Date"), by determining the price of each constituent of the Affected Index that was subject to a Market Disruption Event or Additional Disruption Event on each Disrupted Day (a "Disruption Affected Constituent"), as if the Closing Price for the Exchange Instrument related to the Disruption Affected Constituent on each such Disrupted Day was the Closing Price for the Exchange Instrument in respect of the Disruption Affected Constituent in respect of the Disruption End Date;

4.1.3.2 If an Index is:

4.1.3.2.1. not calculated and announced by the relevant Index Sponsor but is calculated and published by a successor sponsor (the "Successor Sponsor") acceptable to the Calculation Agent; or

4.1.3.2.2. replaced by a successor index using, in the determination of the Calculation Agent, the same or a substantially similar formula for and method of calculation as used in the calculation of the Index, then in each case that Index will be deemed to be the index so calculated and announced by such Successor Sponsor or that successor index, as the case may be.

4.1.3.3 If:

4.1.3.3.1 on or prior to any date with respect to which the Calculation Agent is required by the Product Conditions to determine the level of an Index, the relevant Index Sponsor or, if applicable, the Successor Sponsor (i) makes or announces that it will make a material change in the formula for or the method of calculating that Index or in any other way materially modifies that Index (other than a modification prescribed in that formula or method to maintain that Index in the event of changes in constituent stock and capitalisation and other routine events) (an "Index

Modification") or (ii) permanently cancels that Index (an "Index Cancellation") or (iii) fails to calculate and announce that Index (an "Index Disruption") and, in each case, Product Condition 4.1.3.2.1 or 4.1.3.2.2 does not apply, then the Issuer may take any action described in 4.1.3.3.2 or 4.1.3.3.3 below:

4.1.3.3.2 require the Calculation Agent to determine the level of that Index on that date using, in lieu of a published level for that Index, the level for that Index as at that date as determined by the Calculation Agent in accordance with the formula for and method of calculating that Index last in effect prior to the Index Modification, Index Cancellation or Index Disruption but using only those Index Constituents that comprised that Index immediately prior to the Index Modification, Index Cancellation or Index Disruption; or

4.1.3.3.3 cancel the Securities by giving notice to Securityholders in accordance with General Condition 4. If the Securities are so cancelled, the Issuer will pay an amount to each Securityholder in respect of each Security held by such Securityholder which amount shall be the fair market value of a Security taking into account the Index Modification, Index Cancellation or Index Disruption, as the case may be, [less the direct or indirect cost to the Issuer and/or any of its Affiliates of unwinding any underlying related hedging arrangements, all as determined by the Calculation Agent in its reasonable discretion³⁵⁶]. Payment will be made in such manner as shall be notified to the Securityholders in accordance with General Condition 4.

Where provisions for the calculation of an Index are set out in "Information Relating to the Underlying Asset" attached hereto then, for the avoidance of doubt, all the provisions set out in such sections are an integral part of how such Index is calculated and no calculation of such Index pursuant to any such provisions (including, but not limited to, any change in any Applicable Percentage or any operation of the provisions, if any, set out therein) will constitute an Index Modification as referred to above in Product Condition 4.1.3.3.1 or necessitate any determination by the Calculation Agent pursuant to this Product Condition 4.1.3.3.

4.1.3.4. The Calculation Agent shall, as soon as practicable after receipt of any written request to do so, advise a Securityholder of any determination made by it pursuant to this Product Condition 4 which occurs on or before the date of receipt of such request. The Calculation Agent shall make available for inspection by Securityholders copies of any such determinations.

4.1.4. Additional Disruption Events

4.1.4.1 Without prejudice to Product Condition 4.1.2 or General Condition 2, following the declaration by the Issuer of the occurrence of any Additional Disruption Event and provided that such Additional Disruption Event has an effect on the Issuer and/or any of its Affiliates in connection with [(i) obligations of the Issuer under the Securities and/or (ii) any related hedging arrangements³⁵⁷], the Issuer may take any one of the following actions:

³⁵⁶ In case of admission of the Securities to the SeDeX market of the Italian Stock Exchange, insert: as all determined by the Calculation Agent in good faith and in accordance with the reasonable market practice.

³⁵⁷ In case of admission of the Securities to the SeDeX market of the Italian Stock Exchange, insert: obligation of the Issuer under the Securities.

- 4.1.4.1.1 require the Calculation Agent to determine the appropriate adjustment, if any, to be made to any one or more of the Conditions to account for the Additional Disruption Event and determine the effective date of that adjustment. Without limitation, such adjustment may take into account and pass on to the Securityholder(s) any increased direct or indirect cost to the Issuer and or/any of its Affiliates as a result of or in connection with the relevant Additional Disruption Event; or
- 4.1.4.1.2 cancel the Securities by giving notice to Securityholders in accordance with General Condition 4. If the Securities are so cancelled, the Issuer will pay an amount to each Securityholder in respect of each Security held by such Securityholder which amount shall be the fair market value of a Security taking into account the Additional Disruption Event [less the direct or indirect cost to the Issuer and/or any of its Affiliates of unwinding any underlying related hedging arrangements, all as determined by the Calculation Agent in its reasonable discretion³⁵⁸]. Payment will be made in such manner as shall be notified to the Securityholders in accordance with General Condition 4.

4.1.4.2 "Additional Disruption Event" means any of the following:

- 4.1.4.2.1 the Issuer determines that (i) due to the adoption of or any change in any applicable law or regulation (including without limitation, any tax law), or (ii) due to the promulgation of or any change in the interpretation by any court, tribunal or regulatory authority with competent jurisdiction of any applicable law or regulation (including any action taken by a taxing authority), (A) it has or will become illegal or impractical for the Issuer and/or any of its Affiliates to hold, acquire or dispose of any share, Commodity or any Exchange Instruments or (B) the Issuer and/or any of its Affiliates has or will incur a materially increased direct or indirect cost in performing its obligations under the Securities and/or any related hedging arrangements (including, without limitation, due to any increase in tax liability, decrease in tax benefits or other adverse effect on the tax position of the Issuer and/or any of its Affiliates); or
- 4.1.4.2.2 the Issuer determines that it and/or any of its Affiliates is unable, after using commercially reasonable efforts, to (A) acquire, establish, re-establish, substitute, maintain, unwind or dispose of any arrangement(s), transaction(s) or asset(s) it deems necessary to [hedge the risks of the Issuer entering into and performing³⁵⁹] its obligations with respect to the Securities, or (B) realise, recover or remit the proceeds of any such arrangement(s), transaction(s) or asset(s); or
- 4.1.4.2.3 the Issuer determines that it and/or any its Affiliates has or would incur a materially increased amount of tax, duty, expense or fee (other than brokerage commissions) to (A) acquire, establish, re-establish, substitute, maintain, unwind or dispose of any arrangement(s), transaction(s) or asset(s) it deems necessary to [hedge the risks of the Issuer entering into and performing³⁶⁰] its obligations with respect to the Securities or (B) realise, recover or remit the proceeds of any such arrangement(s), transaction(s) or asset(s); or

³⁵⁸ In case of admission of the Securities to the SeDeX market of the Italian Stock Exchange, insert: as all determined by the Calculation Agent in good faith and in accordance with the reasonable market practice.

³⁵⁹ In case of admission of the Securities to the SeDeX market of the Italian Stock Exchange, insert: perform.

³⁶⁰ In case of admission of the Securities to the SeDeX market of the Italian Stock Exchange, insert: perform.

- 4.1.4.2.4 (i) the Issuer determines, at any time, that a Market Disruption Event pursuant to Product Condition 4.1.2.4 and/or (if specified) Product Condition 4.1.2.5 and/or 4.1.2.6 has existed for eight or more Trading Days and continues to exist and that any alternative valuation methods provided for in the Product Conditions would, in the determination of the Issuer, not be appropriate for the purposes of making the relevant calculation; and
- (ii) the Issuer then elects to treat such Market Disruption Event as an Additional Disruption Event.

4.1.3 Potential Adjustment Events

Following any Potential Adjustment Event, the Calculation Agent will determine whether such Potential Adjustment Event has a dilutive or concentrative or other effect on the theoretical value of the relevant Share and, if so, will (i) make the corresponding adjustment, if any, to any one or more of the Conditions as the Calculation Agent determines appropriate to account for that dilutive or concentrative or other effect; and (ii) determine the effective date of that adjustment. The Calculation Agent may, but need not, determine the appropriate adjustment by reference to the adjustment in respect of such Potential Adjustment Event made by a Related Exchange to options contracts or futures contracts on the relevant Share traded on that Related Exchange.

Upon making any such adjustment, the Calculation Agent shall give notice as soon as practicable to the Securityholders in accordance with General Condition 4, stating the adjustment made to the Conditions and giving brief details of the Potential Adjustment Event.

³⁶³ In case of admission of the Securities to the SeDeX market of the Italian Stock Exchange, not applicable.

³⁶⁴ In case of admission of the Securities to the SeDeX market of the Italian Stock Exchange, not applicable.

³⁶⁵ In case of admission of the Securities to the SeDeX market of the Italian Stock Exchange, not applicable.

"Potential Adjustment Event" means any of the following:

- 4.1.3.1 a subdivision, consolidation or reclassification of relevant Shares (unless it has resulted in a Merger Event) or a free distribution or dividend of any such Shares to existing holders by way of bonus, capitalisation or similar issue;
- 4.1.3.2 a distribution, issue or dividend to existing holders of the relevant Shares of (1) such Shares, or (2) other share capital or securities granting the right to payment of dividends and/or the proceeds of liquidation of the Share Company equally or proportionately with such payments to holders of such Shares, or (3) share capital or other securities of another issuer as a result of a "spin-off" or other similar transaction, or (4) any other type of securities, rights or warrants or other assets, in any case for payment (in cash or in other consideration) at less than the prevailing market price as determined by the Calculation Agent;

- 4.1.3.6 in respect of a Share Company, an event that results in any shareholder rights being distributed, or becoming separated from shares of common stock or other shares of the capital stock of such Share Company pursuant to a shareholder rights plan or arrangement directed against hostile takeovers that provides upon the occurrence of certain events for a distribution of preferred stock, warrants, debt instruments or stock rights at a price below their market value as determined by the Calculation Agent;
- 4.1.3.7 any redemption of shareholder rights referred to in 4.1.3.6 above; and

4.1.4. Merger Event, Tender Offer, De-Listing, Nationalisation and Insolvency

If a Merger Event, Tender Offer, De-Listing, Nationalisation or Insolvency occurs in relation to relevant Shares and/or the relevant Share Company, as the case may be, the Issuer may take any action described in 4.1.4.1, 4.1.4.2 or 4.1.4.3 below:

- 4.1.4.1 require the Calculation Agent to determine the appropriate adjustment, if any, to be made to any one or more of the Conditions to account for the Merger Event, Tender Offer, De-Listing, Nationalisation or Insolvency, as the case may be, and determine the effective date of that adjustment. The Calculation Agent may, but need not, determine the appropriate adjustment by reference to the adjustment in respect of the Merger Event, Tender Offer, De-Listing, Nationalisation or Insolvency made by an options exchange to options on the Share traded on that options exchange; or
- 4.1.4.2 cancel the Securities by giving notice to Securityholders in accordance with General Condition 4. If the Securities are so cancelled, the Issuer will pay an amount to each Securityholder in respect of each Security held by such Securityholder which amount shall be the fair market value of a Security taking into account the Merger Event, Tender Offer, De-Listing, Nationalisation or Insolvency, as the case may be, [less the direct or indirect cost to the Issuer and/or any of its Affiliates of unwinding any underlying related hedging arrangements, all as determined by the Calculation Agent in its reasonable discretion³⁶⁶]. Payment will be made in such manner as shall be notified to the Securityholders in accordance with General Condition 4; or 4.1.4.3 following any adjustment to the settlement terms of options on the Shares traded on such exchange(s) or trading system(s) or quotation system(s) as the Calculation Agent in its reasonable discretion shall select (the "Options Reference Source") require the Calculation Agent to make a corresponding adjustment to any one or more of the Conditions, which adjustment will be effective as of the date determined by the Calculation Agent to be the effective date of the corresponding adjustment made by the Options Reference Source. If options on the Shares are not traded on the Options Reference Source, the Calculation Agent will make such adjustment, if any, to any one or more of the Conditions as the Calculation Agent determines appropriate, with reference to the rules and precedents (if any) set by the Options Reference Source, to account for the Merger Event, Tender Offer, De-Listing, Nationalisation or Insolvency, as the case may be, that in the determination of the Calculation Agent would have given rise to an adjustment by the Options Reference Source if such options were so traded.

Upon the occurrence of a Merger Event, Tender Offer, De-Listing, Nationalisation or Insolvency, the Calculation Agent shall give notice as soon as practicable to the Securityholders in accordance with General Condition 4 stating the occurrence of the Merger Event, Tender Offer, De-Listing, Nationalisation or Insolvency, as the case may be, giving details thereof and the action proposed to be taken in relation thereto. However, Securityholders should be aware that there may necessarily be some delay between the time at which any of the above events occurs and the time at which it is reported to Securityholders.

"De-Listing" means, for any Share for which the Reference Source is an exchange or a trading system or a quotation system, the Reference Source announces that pursuant to the rules of such Reference Source, such Share ceases (or will cease) to be listed, traded or publicly quoted on the Reference Source for any reason (other than a Merger Event or Tender Offer) and is not immediately re-listed, re-traded or re-quoted on an exchange, trading system or quotation system acceptable to the Calculation Agent.

Following any Potential Adjustment Event, the Calculation Agent will determine whether such Potential Adjustment Event has a dilutive or concentrative or other effect on the theoretical value of the relevant Share and, if so, will (i) make the corresponding adjustment, if any, to any one or more of the Conditions as the Calculation Agent determines appropriate to account for that dilutive or concentrative or other effect; and (ii) determine the effective date of that adjustment. The Calculation Agent may, but need not, determine the appropriate adjustment by reference to the adjustment in respect of such Potential Adjustment Event made by a Related Exchange to options contracts or futures contracts on the relevant Share traded on that Related Exchange.

Upon making any such adjustment, the Calculation Agent shall give notice as soon as practicable to the Securityholders in accordance with General Condition 4, stating the adjustment made to the Conditions and giving brief details of the Potential Adjustment Event.

"Potential Adjustment Event" means any of the following:

- 4.1.3.1 a subdivision, consolidation or reclassification of relevant Shares (unless it has resulted in a Merger Event) or a free distribution or dividend of any such Shares to existing holders by way of bonus, capitalisation or similar issue;

4.1.4. Merger Event, Tender Offer, De-Listing, Nationalisation and Insolvency

If a De-Listing occurs in relation to a Share (such Share being a "Disrupted Share"), the Calculation Agent shall substitute the Disrupted Share in the Basket with a Replacement Basket Constituent (as defined below) on the effective date for such De-Listing (the "De-Listing Date"), whereupon:

- (i) the Replacement Basket Constituent and its issuer will be deemed a "Basket Constituent" and a "Share Company" respectively,
- (ii) the Calculation Agent will adjust the Coupon Reference Level for such Replacement Basket Constituent so that the ratio of the Specified Spot Price for that Replacement Basket Constituent to the Coupon Reference Level for the Replacement Basket Constituent equals the ratio of the Specified Spot Price for the Disrupted Share to the Coupon Reference Level for the Disrupted Share immediately prior to the De-Listing Date, and
- (iii) if necessary, the Calculation Agent will adjust any other relevant terms accordingly.

If a Share-for-Share Merger Event or a Share-for-Combined Merger Event occurs in relation to a Share (such Share being a "Disrupted Share") and the Issuer of the New Basket Constituents is not already a Share Company, then, on or after the relevant Merger Date, the Calculation Agent shall adjust the Basket to include the relevant quantity of the New Basket Constituents to which a holder of the Share immediately prior to the occurrence of the Merger Event would be entitled upon consummation of the Merger Event. Accordingly:

- (i) the New Basket Constituent and its issuer will be deemed a "Basket Constituent" and a "Share Company" respectively
- (ii) the Calculation Agent will adjust the Coupon Reference Level for such New Basket Constituent so that the ratio of the Specified Spot Price for that New Basket Constituent to the Coupon Reference Level for the New Basket Constituent equals the ratio of the Specified Spot Price for the Disrupted Share to the Coupon Reference Level for the Disrupted Share immediately prior to the occurrence of the Merger Event, and
- (iii) if necessary, the Calculation Agent will adjust any other relevant terms accordingly.

If a Share-for-Other Merger Event, or a Share-for-Share Merger Event or a Share-for-Combined Merger Event where the issuer of the New Basket Constituents is a Share Company, occurs in relation to a Share (such Share being a "Disrupted Share"), then, on or after the relevant Merger Date, the Calculation Agent shall adjust the Basket by substituting the Disrupted Share in the Basket with a Replacement Share (as defined below) upon consummation of the Merger Event. Accordingly:

- (i) the Replacement Basket Constituent and its issuer will be deemed a "Basket Constituent" and a "Share Company" respectively,
- (ii) the Calculation Agent will adjust the Coupon Reference Level for such Replacement Basket Constituent so that the ratio of the Specified Spot Price for that Replacement Basket Constituent to the Coupon Reference Level for the Replacement Basket Constituent equals the ratio of the Specified Spot Price for the Disrupted Share to the Coupon Reference Level for the Disrupted Share immediately prior to the occurrence of the Merger Event, and

(iii) if necessary, the Calculation Agent will adjust any other relevant terms accordingly;

If a Nationalisation or Insolvency occurs in relation to a Share (such Share being a "Disrupted Share"), the Calculation Agent shall substitute the Disrupted Share in the Basket with a Replacement Basket Constituent (as defined below) on the effective date of such event. Accordingly:

- (i) the Replacement Basket Constituent and its issuer will be deemed a "Basket Constituent" and a "Share Company" respectively,
- (ii) the Calculation Agent will adjust the Coupon Reference Level for such Replacement Basket Constituent so that the ratio of the Specified Spot Price for that Replacement Basket Constituent to the Coupon Reference Level for the Replacement Basket Constituent equals the ratio of the Specified Spot Price for the Disrupted Share to the Coupon Reference Level for the Disrupted Share immediately prior to the occurrence of such event, and, if necessary, the Calculation Agent will adjust any other relevant terms accordingly;

Upon the occurrence of a Merger Event, De-Listing, Nationalisation or Insolvency, the Calculation Agent shall give notice as soon as practicable to the Securityholders in accordance with General Condition 4 stating the occurrence of the Merger Event, De-Listing, Nationalisation or Insolvency, as the case may be, giving details thereof and the action proposed to be taken in relation thereto. 5. Agents, Calculation Agent, Determinations and Modifications

5.1 Agents

The Issuer reserves the right at any time to vary or terminate the appointment of any Agent and to appoint additional Agents, provided that no termination of appointment of the Principal Agent shall become effective until a replacement Principal Agent shall have been appointed and provided that, if and to the extent that any of the Securities are listed on any stock exchange or publicly offered in any jurisdiction, there shall be an Agent having a specified office in each country if so required by the rules and regulations of each such stock exchange and the securities regulators in each such jurisdiction. Notice of any appointment, or termination of appointment, or any change in the specified office, of any Agent will be given to Securityholders in accordance with General Condition 4. Each Agent acts solely as agent of the Issuer and does not assume any obligation or duty to, or any relationship of agency or trust for or with, the Securityholders. Any calculations or determinations in respect of the Securities made by an Agent shall (save in the case of manifest error) be final, conclusive and binding on the Securityholders.

5.2 Calculation Agent

The Issuer shall undertake the duties of calculation agent (the "Calculation Agent" which expression shall include any successor calculation agent) in respect of the Securities unless the Issuer decides to appoint a successor Calculation Agent in accordance with the provisions below.

The Issuer reserves the right at any time to appoint another institution as the Calculation Agent, provided that no termination of appointment of the existing Calculation Agent shall become effective until a replacement Calculation Agent shall have been appointed. Notice of any such termination or appointment will be given to the Securityholders in accordance with General Condition 4.

The Calculation Agent (except where it is the Issuer) acts solely as agent of the Issuer and does not assume any obligation or duty to, or any relationship of agency or trust for or with, the Securityholders. Any calculations or determinations in respect of the Securities made by the Calculation Agent shall (save in the case of manifest error) be final, conclusive and binding on the Securityholders.

The Calculation Agent may, with the consent of the Issuer, delegate any of its obligations and functions to a third party as it deems appropriate.

5.3 Settlement Agent

The Issuer reserves the right at any time to vary or terminate the appointment of the Settlement Agent and to appoint additional Settlement Agents, provided however that no termination of appointment of the Settlement Agent shall become effective until a replacement Settlement Agent with offices in Italy shall have been appointed.

Notice of any appointment, substitution or termination of any Settlement Agents will be given to the Securityholders in accordance with General Condition 4.

Each Settlement Agent acts solely as agent of the Issuer and does not assume any obligation or duty to, or any relationship of agency or trust for or with, the Securityholders.

5.4 Determinations by the Issuer

Any determination made by the Issuer pursuant to the Conditions shall (save in the case of manifest error) be final, conclusive and binding on the Securityholders.

5.5 Modifications

The Issuer may, to the extent permitted by applicable law, modify the Conditions without the consent of the Securityholders or any of them in any manner which the Issuer may deem reasonably necessary in order to maintain or preserve the intended commercial purpose of the Conditions if such modification does not materially adversely affect the interests of the Securityholders or is of a formal, minor or technical nature or intended to correct a manifest error or to cure, correct or supplement any defective provision contained therein. Notice of any such modification will be given to the Securityholders in accordance with General Condition 4 but failure to give, or non-receipt of, such notice will not affect the validity of any such modification.

6. Taxation

In relation to each Security the relevant Securityholder shall pay all Securityholder Expenses as provided in the Product Conditions. All payments or, as the case may be, deliveries in respect of the Securities will be subject in all cases to all applicable fiscal and other laws and regulations (including, where applicable, laws requiring the deduction or withholding for, or on account of, any tax, duty or other charge whatsoever). The Issuer shall not be liable for or otherwise obliged to pay, and the relevant Securityholder shall be liable for and/or pay, any tax, duty, charge, withholding or other payment whatsoever which may arise as a result of, or in connection with, the ownership, any transfer, any payment and/or any delivery in respect of the Securities held by such Securityholder. The Issuer shall have the right, but shall not be obliged, to withhold or deduct from any amount payable or, as the case may be, any delivery due to the Securityholder such amount or portion as shall be necessary to account for or to pay any such tax, duty, charge, withholding or other payment. Each Securityholder shall indemnify the Issuer against any loss, cost or other liability whatsoever sustained or incurred by the Issuer in respect of any such tax, duty, charge, withholding or other payment as referred to above in respect of the Securities of such holder.

7. Further Issues

The Issuer shall be at liberty from time to time without the consent of Securityholders or any of them to create and issue further securities so as to be consolidated and form a single series with the Securities.

8. Substitution

8.1 Substitution of Issuer

The Issuer, or any previous substituted company, may at any time, without the consent of the Securityholders substitute for itself as principal obligor under the Securities any company (the "Substitute"), being any subsidiary or affiliate of the Issuer, subject to:

(c) the Issuer shall have given at least 30 days' prior notice of the date of such substitution to the Securityholders in accordance with General Condition 4.

In the event of any substitution of the Issuer, any reference in the Conditions to the Issuer shall henceforth be construed as a reference to the Substitute.

The Issuer shall have the right upon notice to Securityholders in accordance with General Condition 4 to change the office through which it is acting for the purpose of the Securities, the date of such change to be specified in such notice provided that no change can take place prior to the giving of such notice.

9. Replacement of Securities

Should any Security be lost, stolen, mutilated, defaced or destroyed, it may be replaced at the specified office of the Principal Agent (or such other place of which notice shall have been given in accordance with General Condition 4) upon payment by the claimant of the expenses incurred in connection therewith and on such terms as to evidence and as to indemnity as the Issuer may reasonably require. Mutilated or defaced Securities must be surrendered before replacements will be issued

10. Adjustments for European Monetary Union

10.1 Redenomination

The Issuer may, without the consent of the Securityholders, on giving notice to the Securityholders in accordance with General Condition 4 elect that, with effect from the Adjustment Date specified in the notice, certain terms of the Securities shall be redenominated in euro;

The election will have effect as follows:

(b) where the Conditions contain a rate of exchange or any of the Conditions are expressed in a currency (the "Original Currency") of a country which is participating in the third stage of European Economic and Monetary Union, whether as from 1999 or after such date, such rate of exchange and/or any other terms of the Conditions shall be deemed to be expressed in or, in the case of a rate of exchange, converted for or, as the case may be into, euro at the Established Rate; and

(c) such other changes shall be made to the Conditions as the Issuer may decide to conform them to conventions then applicable to instruments expressed in euro.

10.2 Adjustment to Conditions

The Issuer may, without the consent of the Securityholders, on giving notice to the Securityholders in accordance with General Condition 4 make such adjustments to the Conditions as the Issuer may determine to be appropriate to account for the effect of the third stage of European Economic and Monetary Union pursuant to the Treaty on the Conditions.

10.3 Euro Conversion Costs, etc.

Notwithstanding Condition 10.1 and/or Condition 10.2, none of the Issuer, the Calculation Agent and any Agent shall be liable to any Securityholder or other person for any commissions, costs, losses or expenses in relation to or resulting from the transfer of euro or any currency conversion or rounding effected in connection therewith.
