

ADB does not fall under the scope of application of Directive 2014/65/EU (as amended, “MiFID II”) or Regulation (EU) No. 600/2014 as it forms part of domestic law by virtue of the European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018 (“U.K. MiFIR”). Additional Information

The Notes are denominated in ZAR. Since South Africa is not an ADB member country, ADB will not enjoy in South Africa its usual rights, immunities, privileges and exemptions which are conferred upon ADB by the Agreement Establishing the Asian Development Bank and by statutes, laws and regulations of member countries. Such privileges include immunity with respect to exchange controls and an exemption from withholding taxes with respect to payments on ADB’s debt securities.

While the South African exchange control regulations presently in effect do not impose restrictions on payments on the Notes, no assurance can be given that these regulations will not change in the future. If, due to the imposition of exchange controls or other circumstances beyond the control of ADB, South African rand are not expected to be available to ADB, ADB will be entitled to satisfy its obligations to holders of Notes in respect of such payment by making such payments in U.S. dollars on the basis of the Market Exchange Rate (as defined under “Terms and Conditions” above) on the date of such payment or, if the Market Exchange Rate is not available on such date, as of the most recent practicable date. Any payment made by ADB under such circumstances in U.S. dollars shall constitute valid payment and shall not constitute a default in respect of the Notes.

Under current South African law, withholding tax on interest, calculated at a rate of 15%, is applicable to interest payments on the Notes to investors where the interest is regarded as having been received by or accrued to any foreign person from a source within the Republic of South Africa. As the ADB is not a resident in South Africa and does not have a permanent establishment in South Africa for South African tax purposes and/or will not utilise or apply the proceeds from the Notes in South Africa, the interest would not be considered to be from a South African source and interest withholding tax should not be levied. No assurance can be given that these laws will not change in the future. The Notes do not require the ADB to compensate holders of the Notes in the event of a change in South African law that results in withholding taxes being deducted from payments on the Notes.

Taxation

Under existing South African law, all payments of principal and interest in respect of the Notes will be exempt from any taxes, levies, imposts, duties, deduction, withholdings or other charges, of whatsoever nature, imposed, levied, collected, withheld or assessed by the South African government or any political subdivision or taxing authority thereof or therein so long as the beneficial owner of the relevant Notes is not a “resident” for South African income tax purposes and the Notes are not attributable to a permanent establishment that the beneficial owner has in South Africa. A “resident” for South African income tax purpose would be:

- (1) a natural person who:
 - (i) is ordinarily resident in South Africa; or
 - (ii) is not ordinarily resident in South Africa, but has been physically present in South Africa for at least 91 days in aggregate during the relevant year of assessment and during each of the preceding 5 years of assessment and for at least 915 days in aggregate during such preceding 5 years; or
- (2) a person (other than a natural person):

- (i) which is incorporated, established or formed in South Africa; or
- (ii) which has its place of effective management in South Africa.

A "resident" for South African income tax purpose specifically excludes a person who is deemed to be exclusively a resident of another country for the purposes of the application of any agreement entered into between the governments of the Republic of South Africa and that other country for the avoidance of double taxation.

Listing Application

This Pricing Supplement comprises the details required to list the issue of Notes described herein pursuant to the listing of the Global Medium-Term Note Program of ADB.

Use of Proceeds

During the life of the Notes, ADB will use its best efforts to apply an amount equal to the net proceeds thereof for use in its ordinary operations to finance a pool of projects related to the health sector, directly or indirectly through governments or rural governments of ADB members or financial institutions or investments in private sector health projects. In case it would be unable to apply an amount equal to the proceeds as provided above, ADB will apply the remaining proceeds thereof to its ordinary operations in accordance with the Agreement Establishing the Asian Development Bank.

Payment of principal of and interest on the Notes will be based solely on the creditability of ADB, and not on the performance of investments and loans under ADB's projects in the health sector.

Material Adverse Change Statement

There has been no material adverse change in the financial position or prospects of ADB since the date of the financial statements included in the Information Statement of ADB, which was most recently published on 13 April 2021.

Recent Developments

On 3 January 2022, Roberta Casali succeeded Ingrid van Wees as Vice-President for Finance and Risk Management.

Responsibility

ADB accepts responsibility for the information contained in this Pricing Supplement which, when read together with the Prospectus referred to above, contains all information that is material in the context of the issue of the Notes.
